NEW BEDFORD, MAY 18, 19, 20

THE JORDAN & MORE PRESS
BOSTON

NOTICES

All communications should be addressed to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, Room 611, 14 Beacon Street, Boston; except communications for the Registrar, Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, which should be addressed to 169 Crescent Road, Longmeadow.

All missionary contributions should be sent to Oliver D. Sewall, Treasurer, 14 Beacon Street, Boston.

According to the vote of the Conference, contributions for the year 1931 are divided as follows:

Foreign Missions (A. B. C. F. M.)	42½%
National Home Missions	43½%
State Work (M. C. C. & M. S.)	13 %
Boston Seaman's Friend Society	1 %

Checks should be made payable to Oliver D. Sewall, Treasurer.

Any church may exercise its inalienable right of independence and send its foreign contributions to Frederick A. Gaskins, Treasurer, 14 Beacon St., Boston.

It is recommended and earnestly requested that church treasurers remit quarterly in January, April, July and October such funds as are in hand, and that the final remittance for each calendar year be sent before January 10, if credit is desired in the next Year-Book.

Honorary Life Membership in the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society may be secured by a gift of thirty dollars, by a church or individual. Gifts made at different dates within the limits of any one fiscal year may be applied to Honorary Life Memberships, if the wish for such application is expressed when the gifts are made.

Copies of the Act of Incorporation may be had on application to 14 Beacon Street, Boston.

The expenses of the former "Conference" go on practically the same as heretofore, but with only one treasurer for all state finances. The churches are requested to contribute through the treasurers of their associations for the expenses of the Conference a sum equivalent to thirteen cents for each member, based upon the total membership of January 1, 1931, and the treasurers of the associations are requested to forward the amounts as soon as possible to Rev. Oliver D. Sewall, Treasurer, 14 Beacon St., Boston.

MONDAY AFTERNOON

The Conference opened at 2 o'clock with worship conducted by the Chaplain, Rev. Robert G. Armstrong, Pittsfield.

In the absence of the Moderator and Vice-Moderators, Rev. Frederick H. Page, President, was elected Moderator.

The address of welcome was given by Rev. Herbert M. Hainer, pastor of the entertaining church. Response was made by President Page.

Rev. Philo G. Noon, Centerville, presented a gavel made of wood from the church and parsonage at West Barnstable. In behalf of the Conference, President Page accepted the gift.

The report of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches was made by the Executive Secretary, Rev. Kenneth C. MacArthur, Boston.

Rev. Arthur J. Covell, Boston, presented the report of the Board of Pastoral Supply.

The report of the Boston Seaman's Friend Society was made by Rev. Charles N. Thorp, Lincoln.

A committee of three was appointed by President Page to bring in nominations for the Business Committee and the Credentials Committee: Rev. Edward U. Cowles, Westfield; Mrs. Lawrence R. Howard, West Medway; Rev. Henry L. Bailey, Longmeadow. They presented the following names:

Business Committee.—Rev. Arthur P. Pratt, Greenfield; Rev. Leslie H. Perdriau, Chelsea; Mrs. William B. Oliver, Lynn; Miss Marion Stibbs, Springfield; Dr. Oliver W. Cobb, Easthampton; Mr. Anson W. Belding, Watertown.

Credentials Committee.—Rev. Joseph B. Lyman, Sandwich; Herbert E. Davis, New Bedford; Mrs. Ralph M. Timberlake, Dalton.

President Page at this time called Rev. Clarence W. Dunham, Boston, to the chair to preside during the hearing of the reports.

The report of the Committee on Missions and Apportionment was presented by Rev. Ralph M. Timberlake, Dalton. The following recommendations made by the committee were adopted:

1. That the Educational Method, — with the use of Projects, Pastoral Presentation, Round Table Discussions, World Friendship Institutes, etc., — be more generally adopted by our churches in order that the mission of the church may become a matter of more vital personal concern.
2. That the churches be urged to give careful consideration to occasional, legitimate, special appeals for direct contributions and individual gifts, especially for the completion of apportionment goals.
3. That the churches be encouraged to adopt the highest possible apportionment quotas on the basis of the present State objective of $770,000, — unless a church is maintaining its ratio to the original goal of $1,087,500.
4. That the churches be asked to give very careful consideration to the selection and continuance in office of the Association Missionary Committees.

The recommendation that $500 be appropriated for the use of the committee was referred to the Budget Committee.

The report of the Committee on Religious Education was given by Rev. Edwin E. Aiken, Jr., Boston. The recommendation that the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society have a sympathetic interest in the suggestions for the engaging of a full-time secretary of Religious Education by the State Conference and encourage the Conference Religious Education Committee to continue with the matter, with the understanding that there are no funds available at present for that purpose, and with the added proviso that each Association report on the matter before a final decision is made, was adopted.

The report of the Committee on Worship was presented by Rev. Basil D. Hall, Florence. The following recommendations made by the committee were adopted:

1. That the Conference shall continue increasingly to foster times of vital religious experience during its sessions; and that it shall thus encourage among the churches of the state the growing interest in the dignity and reality of worship.
2. That ministers and lay delegates be urged to make thorough study of the forms of service which their own churches are now using, with regard to their worshipfulness and fitness to present-day needs, and in the light of the rich store of liturgical and devotional material easily available today in the service books of our own and other historic denominations, and elsewhere.
3. That the Committee be continued for another term of three years.
4. That this Committee shall hold itself in readiness to aid and advise churches desirous of improving their orders of worship, and that churches which are making valuable progress along these lines be requested to share their experience with the Committee.
5. That the value of retreats, quiet hours, and similar periods set apart for prayer and meditation be considered by association and local churches as of special importance in this generation.

6. That those of our people who use Sundays during a large portion of the year as a day for motoring be urged to attend some church along the way, thus honoring the practice of worship and promoting the fraternity of Christians.

The report of the Committee on Polity and Ministerial Standards was given by its chairman, Rev. Albert V. House, Somerset. The following recommendations made by the committee were adopted:

1. That the Conference instruct the Registrar to list pastors as "recognized" only in cases where a council of churches has been called for the purpose of recognition.
2. That the voting membership of Congregational councils be limited to representatives of invited Congregational churches.
3. That the churches invite associations to sit as councils and that associations, where necessary, amend their rules so as to enable them to serve in accordance with this recommendation.
4. That in an associational council representatives of churches outside the association be considered honorary members.
5. That when an association is sitting as a council the privilege of voting be confined to representatives of churches.
6. That we recommend that each association appoint a committee to be known as the "Advisory Committee," which shall endeavor to confer with the churches in matters of their conduct and administration which concern the denominational fellowship.
7. That the committee be continued.

The recommendation that $100 be appropriated for the use of the committee was referred to the Budget Committee.

The report of the National Council Commission on Standards for the Ministry was referred to the Business Committee.

It was voted that the President and the Registrar extend the sympathy of the Conference to the Moderator, George D. Chamberlain, Springfield, in his illness.

These three topics were discussed in each case from the floor.

2. The second group conference was on Religious Education.

"Principles of Teaching" was presented and discussion opened by Rev. Erwin L. Shaver, Waltham.

These topics were then discussed from the floor.

At 11 o'clock the business session of the State Conference was called to order by the Moderator.

The Business Committee reported the following resolution as adequately expressing the essential elements in the two resolutions submitted to it by Rev. Mr. Kimball's committee and by Rev. J. Burford Parry, Wellesley; and this was adopted by the Conference:

We heartily commend those employers and employees who are endeavoring to apply the Golden Rule more effectively in business; and we urge that the "profit motive" be so modified that it will conform more nearly to this ideal.

It was moved to reconsider the report of the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare. The motion was lost.

The Business Committee presented the following resolution in regard to motion pictures which had been adopted by the young people's conference and at the union service Tuesday evening and it was again endorsed as follows:

> Whereas, during recent years the motion pictures have given undue prominence to the physical aspects of sex in the most suggestive ways and to scenes involving the use of liquor,
> Whereas, the majority of films sent abroad have in the main reflected the least desirable phases of American life and have consequently created the world over a grossly distorted picture of America,
> And whereas, those in control of the motion picture industry have repeatedly violated their plighted word to make the films cleaner and more wholsesome,
> Be it resolved: that the Massachusetts Congregational Conference emphatically condemns the policies creating and distributing such films, and calls upon those responsible for them to set their house in order; and urges that, this failing, the Congress of the United States inaugurate a system of definite regulation of the entire industry.
> And, be it further resolved: that copies of this resolution be forwarded to Mr. Will Hays.

In accordance with the vote taken at the Annual Meeting in 1930, it was announced that the next annual meeting of the Conference will be held in the Bethany Church, Quincy.

The following report of the Committee on Credentials was then presented by Rev. Joseph B. Lyman, Sandwich:

Number of churches represented:
By pastor only	104
By pastor and one delegate	54
By pastor and two delegates	54
By one delegate only	22
By two delegates	11
(Total number of churches represented)	245
Number of individuals deducting duplicates	409
Officials and honorary members	27
Total net enrollment	436

The Business Committee presented the resolution expressing the gratitude and appreciation of the members and guests of the Massachusetts Conference to the pastor of this church, Rev. Herbert M. Hainer, the officials, the women, the choir and organist, the janitor of the church, to the Rochester-Lakeville Larger Parish Choral Society, and to all others who have helped to make this session of our State Conference so happy and profitable, and our sincere appreciation also to the city of New Bedford and the Chamber of Commerce for their contribution to the enjoyment of this meeting; and our appreciation also of the hospitality enjoyed in the homes of the parish and at the Y. W. C. A. We express our appreciation also of the splendid service rendered by the Moderator, Rev. Clarence W. Dunham, who was called to the chair without any expectation of this duty.

The Business Committee recommend that this resolution be adopted, placed on file and copies be handed to the entertaining churches and ministers.

The recommendation was adopted by a rising vote.

The reading of the minutes of the Conference was dispensed with at this time and the Trustees were authorized to consider and to approve the minutes on behalf of the Conference.

The service of worship was conducted by the Chaplain on the theme "Commission."

After the Moderator had pronounced the benediction the Annual Meeting was adjourned at 12.10 P.M.

ALFRED V. BLISS, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

The past year has been notable in several ways. The Tercentenary observances, while centering in and around Boston and Salem, were held in other localities also and continued to be a marked feature in our church life up to the great closing demonstration in the early fall. In connection with these observances the Tercentenary Offering was vigorously pressed and the results obtained enabled Massachusetts to attain a much better return from the national Plan of Advance Campaign than would otherwise have been possible. As it was, one-half of the total advance for the fiscal year 1930 over 1929 secured in the entire country was gained in Massachusetts. The amount of this gain in our state was not large — $31,000 — but this was gratifying when the severe financial stress is taken into account.

It is notable, also, that the Tercentenary Offering enlisted a co-operation in a great number of churches and a better participation by the local associations of churches with the State Conference officials than had hitherto been attained.

During the coming year two notable tercentenary anniversaries will be celebrated,— by the First Church of Lynn, and the First Church of Charlestown. These are the first of our Congregational churches to round out a three-hundred-year period of unbroken activity. Both churches are planning a worthy observance of the event. And from 1932 on there will be a succession of such anniversaries among our oldest churches. They should all, as in the planning of the two churches first to reach this goal, arrange for a celebration not limited to public exercises, but including a constructive program for which a year's advance preparation is not too long.

Beginning late in the fall and increasing steadily our churches have felt the effect of unemployment and of reduced incomes. This has manifested itself in lessened pledge receipts for current expenses and in decreased offerings for missions. The falling off in Massachusetts giving under the apportionment system from January 1, 1931, to May 1, 1931, was $18,000, with no immediate prospect of a change for the better. It is a time when financial loyalty to the church and its missionary commitments will count for a great deal. Every effort is being made by the missionary societies to avoid serious deficits. The faithfulness of those whose incomes have not suffered seriously is of the utmost value both to the churches and the missionaries.

The Conference has been relieved of the necessity of continuing aid to several churches during the year, due in part to successful federations, and in one instance to a memorial gift. But several new applications have received the approval of missionary committees and of the Conference trustees, so that the situation remains about the same. Increases in grants to aided churches cannot be expected and all applications for renewals need careful scrutiny. Particularly has it been necessary to make plain the long-time policy respecting the granting of aid, that it is to go towards the pastor's salary to secure the ministry of the Gospel where it could not otherwise be maintained, but is not to be sought because there happens to be a deficit in a church's current expense account. Extra effort by the people with sometimes a rearrangement of the budget items will usually meet the current deficit situation. The way in which our churches rise to difficult situations financially is deserving great commendation.

Steadiness of soul is a great virtue at such a time as this. First things must be esteemed to be first. There is good reason to believe that the financial strain will soon be lessened.

Massachusetts has for years borne a great weight in caring for the religious welfare of the people of foreign speech. It is still heavy, but it is a "weight of glory" which will be remarked in future years as a wonderful service to both church and commonwealth. The next generation will face a very different situation from that which we have inherited from our fathers. Immigration is a negligible factor in the religious life of your Commonwealth today, and unless the national policy in this respect undergoes an unlooked for change, it will be but a very few years before foreign speaking preaching ceases to be a prominent part of our missionary work. Many Swedish churches are now holding at least one English-speaking service.

A good deal of attention has been devoted in the past two years to the discussion of ministerial qualifications and to the composition and functions of ecclesiastical councils, with the result of a better understanding and practice from the Congregational standpoint. More than ten per cent of the churches of our Massachusetts Conference have pastors, many of whom are in student part-time service, who are from other denominations and are unfamiliar with our standards.

It is important to note that by action of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court, in April, Andover Theological Seminary has been freed from conformity to its ancient creed in a decree of the Court which virtually reestablishes this pioneer of all our Congregational seminaries. For five years last past Andover Seminary has been closed on account of the insuperable difficulties entailed by its creed, and our churches and mission fields have had no graduates coming from that quarter. In September of 1931, Andover will reopen in co-operation with Newton Theological Institution as the Newton Theological School, the resources of these two seminaries being affiliated to constitute a seminary of the highest standard of training and fullest opportunity for students. There has for years been a growing feeling that theological schools might federate to advantage as churches are increasingly doing in Massachusetts. Here, then, is an accomplishment of the highest significance. It is full of promise to the churches. It is a waymark which may prove to be memorable in the progress of denominational comity.

Perhaps it is unnecessary to say how ready the staff officers of the Conference are to assist the churches in any and every way that may be desired, since the churches are making so many and varied calls upon us. It is a pleasure to repeat, however, that we are always ready to respond whether the inquiry or need is concerning a personal situation, a missionary program, a church council, a church building enterprise or nay of the varied problems that are continually arising.

The Board of Trustees gives freely of its time, and with marked devotion, to the churches and to the wide interests of the denomination. Few realize how great are the concerns committed to them under the new Conference organization of all the churches of our order in the State. Grateful recognition is made of the services of those of the Trustees who retire at this time because of the expiration of their terms. They are Wilbur E. Rowell, Esq., Chairman of the Board during the past year; Rev. Enoch F. Bell, Rev. Clarence W. Dunham, Mrs. Clifton H. Mix, Mrs. Henry Francis Smith.

The members of the official staff have remained unchanged, and all have sought to develop their duties in personal and co-operative efficiency. We gratefully record that the Secretary Emeritus, Dr. Frederick E. Emrich, has been able to continue steadfastly in his special duties at the head of the Massachusetts Board of Ministerial Relief, being to us all in the office, and to an undiminished number of callers from the churches, a counsellor, guide and friend.

FREDERICK HARLAN PAGE.

REPORT OF THE
DEPARTMENT OF WOMAN'S WORK 1930–31

It might be considered that the Department of Woman's Work has now passed the experimental stage and has settled down to definite work. This work falls into three distinct lines as follows: —

I. Contact with local church.

The Woman's Department heads up the work of the women of the local churches. It is to this office that the women come for help in all lines of their work, and it is from this office that information is distributed to the women concerning our denominational plans and work.

This contact with the women of the churches is carried on in various ways.

1. Meetings.

   A two-day meeting with state-wide representation in the autumn at the Old South Church jointly with the Presidents Conference.

   Monthly meetings in Pilgrim Hall, giving an opportunity for women to hear the most recently returned missionaries and other speakers of note.

   Two or three meetings a year by each of the fourteen district groups in the state.

   Speakers have been suggested and 415 appointments made for local women's meetings.

2. Literature.

   A Bulletin containing news of the work, reports, and plans has been prepared and sent monthly to a list of 2,200 women.

   200 orders for literature of different kinds have been received by this office and turned over to the Literature Department.

   Twelve circular letters and questionnaires have been sent out to the leaders of women's work in our 464 local women's societies, on Plan of Advance, Thank Offering, and different phases of our educational and inspirational work.

   A year-book was compiled and distributed, giving lists of officers, annual report, and suggestive programs for the year's work.

3. Personal contacts.

   The secretary of the department has written 2,000 personal letters during the year, and held countless interviews at her desk. Any one who has sat in the office for an hour or two realizes what an important part of our work this unrecorded personal contact has become, help being constantly asked and given on innumerable matters, big and little.

4. Speaking.

   The president, secretary, and other members of the executive committee have brought the work before the women personally. They have spoken to the women in 63 churches of the state, and to the men and women together in 8 churches. In addition they spoke at 10 District Meetings, and at Round Table Conferences of leading women of 11 Districts. Mrs. Harvey gave addresses at two Association Meetings; at the Spring Meeting of the Presidents Conference; and at the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Women's Organization in Portsmouth in October.

5. Handwork.

   The Department serves as the liaison office between families, hospitals, schools on the fields, both home and foreign, desiring boxes and handwork, and the societies in the churches willing to send them out. 103 home missionary families have been provided with boxes through our office. Applications for supplies, scrap books, etc., have been handled from 20 schools and 5 hospitals in this country and from 63 stations and missionaries in foreign work.

II. Cooperation in general promotional and educational work of State Conference.

Two joint meetings held with State Missionary Committee — the District Presidents and Chairmen of Association Missionary Committee.

Plan of Advance promoted through work with Association Committees.

Since the merger of the National Boards it has become increasingly desirous that the promotion of our missionary interests should be the concern of the entire church and not of the women alone. With this in view the women are co-operating in the State and Associations by being represented on the Committees and making and working on common plans. The women have had long training in this type of work, are filled with enthusiasm for the cause, and are eager to be of real help. The Associations might well use them more and more.

III. Forming the point of contact between the Congregational women of Massachusetts and state and national organizations of all kinds, denominational and interdenominational.

In this representative capacity Mrs. Badger or Mrs. Harvey were present at the State Conference, the Annual Meeting of the Home Boards in Brooklyn in May, of the American Board in Madison in October, and the meeting of the national state presidents in connection with the Commission on Missions meeting in Evanston in January.

Since the discontinuation of the Woman's Board of Missions and the Woman's Home Missionary Union this is the only method by which the women of our churches can have representation at such meetings. Massachusetts plays such an important part in the history and influence of Congregationalism that it is vital to the well-being of the denomination that such contacts should be made. Not only do other parts of the country look to Massachusetts for co-operation and valuable assistance (20% of total giving) but it is extremely important that Massachusetts should have these all too fleeting glimpses of vital and inspiring work being done by the vigorous women of other parts of the country.

These contacts should be sought after jealously for the benefit of the work in Massachusetts. And as the years progress will, of necessity, broaden their scope as the women of our churches become increasingly interested in such work as is done by groups organized to promote peace and better race and industrial relations. The women of our churches can have no means of contact with such groups for information except through the Woman's Department of the State Conference. Such contact is handicapped by limitation of funds for travel to important meetings.

Since the organization of the Woman's Department of the State Conference it has been the constant aim of its leaders to make the women of the churches a greater factor in the life of the church itself and in the Community. Before this could be done it was urged that the women should deepen their own spiritual life. By study, meditation, and prayer, individually and in groups and classes, it was hoped we might become more conversant with the mind of Christ and so be better able to find answers to the problems confronting the world today. Secondarily, it has been urged as necessary that the women of the churches should know the problems as well, be enlightened and up-to-date, in fact to pray again the old prayer of Solomon's, that the Lord would give us understanding hearts.

LUCILE S. HARVEY,
Chairman of Department of Woman's Work.

REPORT OF THE REGISTRAR

It was in 1823 that New Bedford first played host to this body, which was then a ministers' meeting only. Again in '38 and '62 we met here, and since then, by a curious coincidence we have met at 23-year intervals, in 1885 and 1908 before today. By another coincidence this is your Registrar's twenty-third annual report. No other town in the former Old Colony territory has been the scene of our meetings, but in the Taunton Association district recently merged in the Old Colony we have met five times in Fall River, three times in Taunton and once in North Middleboro.

The Year Book will show 607 churches on our roll, but as Memorial of Worcester has disbanded since January 1, we number today 606 churches, the same as last year and the same as in 1908, yet not the same, because since the last New Bedford convention 39 churches have dropped from our roll and 39 new ones have taken their places. Our churches have grown steadily in membership, for in 1908 they averaged 196 members each and now they have 281. The total increase this year is the smallest but two that I have ever reported. The chief reason will be found in roll revision. A large number of churches synchronized last year in this healthful sport, and more than 3,600 names were erased or put on retired lists to escape the tax assessor. This wholesale decapitation was full 20 per cent more than in any previous year. But we failed at the other end also. There were 108 churches without a single accession, and 28 received one new member each. It is eleven years since our total additions on confession were as few as 5,169, or additions by letter were as few as 3,546. On the other hand death has touched us less often than usual, and transfers out by letter have been fewer than in any year but two since 1886.

We may get a grim bit of local satisfaction from the figures of the last two years. Other states also have suffered from roll revision and other losses, so that outside of Massachusetts the denomination last year reported a net loss of 1,105 members which the Massachusetts gain of 2,777 turned into a gain of 1,672. This year the rest of the country has gained 19, and our own gain of 734 boosts the total to 753. We must go back 10 years to find a smaller number of infant baptisms and 19 years in the adult column. Not since 1887 has so small a Sunday School enrollment been reported as 112,606, and that in spite of the fact that our church membership of 170,501 is nearly double that of 1887. With two exceptions, however, the membership in young people's organizations is the largest in over 20 years.

A cheerful reversal of form appears in the financial columns. For some years there has been noted a mounting up of home expenses and a shrinkage in figures of benevolence. Modern Congregational poems in stone with their commodious parish house adjuncts cost a lot of money, and administration costs would stagger our forebears. But this year, so far as reported, home expenses have dropped $210,000 and apportionment giving has increased. A new system of classifying gifts has been used for the forthcoming Year Book, making comparisons a bit difficult; but in general one may say that the three familiar columns of state work, foreign and home boards, show together a gain of $13,000; and a new column of other items, unbudgeted but allowed to count on apportionment, shows $53,000, thus making our denominational loyalty look some $66,000 better than a year ago.

There is only one other column to gather up all other gifts that hitherto were separated into Congregational and undenominational charities. Charity here often covered a multitude of sins of inaccuracy, and your Registrar is morally certain that many clerks have skipped these two questions because of uncertainty. They are asked not to report any apportionment contributions, but often they are not clear as to the distinction. Often it seems that the total benevolence of the church is reported in this miscellaneous column, so that the church gets double credit for its apportionment giving. Your registrar has therefore made this recommendation to the Year Book editor, that next year's questionnaire make the simple request for the total amount of each church's benevolence. The apportionment reports are handed down from the Commission on Missions, and their totals, subtracted from the totals furnished by the churches will furnish the final column with figures presumably more accurate in many cases and with a tendency to arrive at a larger total. This one-man recommendation is shared with you in hope that its wisdom may be confirmed or its unwisdom pointed out for the benefit of denominational statisticians.

As usual, the sensational features of large accessions, long pastorates, generous giving, and the like, have been put into charts appended to this report.

NECROLOGY

Our backward glance at comrades who have fallen out of the ranks concerns three classes of men. There are those primarily who up to now have been marching with us shoulder to shoulder, in the Conference by virtue of pastoral relation or associational standing. A second class includes those who in years past have ministered in our pulpits and moved on into other official relations. And there is a third class whom I introduce tonight, native sons of Massachusetts who found their fields of service elsewhere. In Scripture phrasing the last shall be first.

Except for men whom death has taken from my roll within the Conference year, from May to May, my list is mostly taken from the forthcoming Congregational Year Book, covering the calendar year of 1930. Fred M. Abbott, 76, was born in Millbury but served a half century in Illinois and Washington as pastor and home missionary. Samuel Watson Chapin, 81, born in the adjoining town of Grafton, found his fields in Vermont and Maine. Albert Worcester Howes, 64, and Henry Thomas Perry, 92, were Ashfield boys. Howes had a life long pastorate in Fitzwilliam, N. H., 37 years, and Perry was in Turkey under the American Board 46 years. Charles Daniel Tenney, born in Boston 74 years ago, went to China as a missionary. David Stone Wheeler, 55, from Merrimac, was a pastor in three Connecticut and Rhode Island parishes. Warren Eli Wheeler, 77, born in Westminster, gave most of his life to the A. M. A. Schools in Talladega, Williamsburg and especially Pleasant Hill.

Twenty-one former pastors have also been promoted to higher service. Millidge Trenholm Anderson, 64, beginning as a Methodist, joined us in 1903 for service at Hanover, Chesterfield, Ludlow and Hubbardston. Cyril Bernard Appleton, 37, of English Salvation Army antecedents, ministered two years to the Union Church in Amesbury. After much lay service he was ordained to our ministry a few months before his death. Frederic Alberto Balcolm, 77, had 14 New England pastorates, those in Holden, North Leominster, Rockland and East Douglas covering a dozen years before 1896, with a two year service at Edgartown more recently. Stephen Goodyear Barnes, 77, teacher, poet, mystic, was for nine years my predecessor at Longmeadow. William Eleazer Barton, 68, Safed the Sage, Lincoln expert, expounder of Congregationalism, graced the Shawmut pulpit in Boston six years before going to his long ministry at Oak Park. Harris Charles Beebe, 45, was six years in the First Church of Greenfield. Jason Henry Bliss, 85, was two years at South Hadley. Gardner Smith Butler, 81, migrating from Vermont and New Hampshire to the South, paused for three years at Ballard Vale and seven at Three Rivers.

Willis Howard Butler, 57, was five years at Williamstown, nine at Northampton and seven at the Old South in Boston. William Eugene Cadmus, 63, was two years at North Dennis and three at Hingham. Ozora Stearns Davis was in the state only four years, at Newtonville, as against 60 elsewhere on his triumphal way from grace to glory. Francis Asbury Fate, trained as a Methodist, as his name suggests, was a Congregationalist from ordination on for 36 years. Manchester and Taunton Trinitarian were his local fields for 11 years. Joseph Sherman Gove also 64, specialized in New Hampshire parishes, but was 16 years with our churches at South Dennis, Harvard, Lynnfield Center and Marshfield. Out of 90 years Joseph Hammond spent nine at Harwich, Truro and Carlisle in the ratio of 1–3–5. Chauncey Jeddie Hawkins came to Danvers in 1900, moved to Spencer, then to Jamaica Plain for 13 years and three at Lowell before the Pacific Coast lured him thither 10 years ago. Frank William Hazen was a Vermonter, but he spent two of his 61 years in Connecticut and six in Falmouth, ministering also to Waquoit. John Emil Victor Johnson, 56, was over our Swedish churches at Pigeon Cove and North Easton for eight and three years. Nathan Round Nichols in his 90 years was pastor at Westford for a year after his course at Andover. Warren Laurence Noyes lived 88 years. Only one of his pastorates was in this state, at West Peabody for four years. John Lewis Scudder lived almost 88 years, and he also had one pastorate here, his first, at Shrewsbury for five years. Franklin Gates Webster also practised first on a Massachusetts parish, a double field at Cummington and Plainfield 1886–88, before moving into New York for the remainder of his three score and ten.

The list of Conference members is short, only 13. Eight of them were born in this state and nine died here. Their ages ranged from 44 to 96, averaging 73, but only one was under 59. Ordained at various ages from 24 to 50 but averaging 31, they had ostensibly a professional career of 42 years each. Two had no seminary training and three no collegiate. Amherst and Dartmouth cared for five and Andover for six. Three were in the pastorate and one had an emeritus office. Two had been foreign missionaries, two prison chaplains, and all but one had been on our roll of pastors.

William James Batt, 96, lived to celebrate his 75th anniversary of graduation from Brown University and thereupon was made a doctor of divinity. Let other aspirants take notice! He was scribe 24 years of the Middlesex Union Association of Ministers and 20 years of Woburn, until four years ago, holding both offices simultaneously for a dozen years. He divided a half century equally between the pulpit and Concord reformatory, retiring 19 years ago with emeritus title from each. He had two pastorates at Stoneham with Bedford and Leominster between. George Henry Ewing was born in the Enfield parsonage in 1868. Seven years he served in China until the Boxer troubles forced his return. His ministry here was briefly in three of our churches, Yarmouth, Revere and Lynnfield, with longer pastorates in Connecticut and Maine. Parris Thaxter Farwell, 73, was three years at South Egremont, nine at Stockbridge and 17 at Wellesley Hills. He was associate pastor later for three years at Shawmut in Boston, and for a dozen years was literary editor of The Congregationalist. Edward Torrey Ford, 68, was a Massachusetts pastor only 12 years, at Harwich Port, East Weymouth and North Abington, these pastorates being punctuated by service in Washington and Vermont. James Langdon Hill was almost three years past four score when his call came. He came from Iowa to Andover Seminary nearly 60 years ago and stayed with us. He was 11 years with North Church in Lynn and seven with Mystic in Medford. He was one of the pioneer prophets and patron saints of the new Christian Endeavor movement. From his later home in Salem he fared forth as a popular lecturer and his untiring pen produced more than a score of volumes.

Fred Alan MacDonald dropped in his pulpit in the Old South of Worcester on the day of rededication of the altered sanctuary. Only 44, he had been fighting for his life for many months, handsome, hopeful, helpful. Like Ewing and Ford he had first a brief pastorate in this state, at Chester, and then went to Rhode Island, coming back nine years ago to Worcester. He was a Trustee of the Conference and a team worker. It is one of my own happiest memories that to me was assigned the prayer of ordination when we launched this young minister upon his career in 1914. John McFarlane McLaren was the other of our active pastors who has left us. He was 13 years in the state before a New Hampshire interval, and had been at Dudley but a month. Ordained at 50, his ministerial career was a month and two days longer than MacDonald's. He served the churches at Sandisfield, South Williamstown and Sutton. Frank Eugene Mills, 83, was pastor at Ashby, Reading, Dighton and Hubbardston. He made two pastoral excursions into New Hampshire, one of them including a Presbyterian experience. For more than 20 years he had been in professional retirement. Harlan Page retired at 60 for 16 years of serenity in Boston, dying at last in the house where he was born. He had virtually two double pastorates in 32 years, six at Beechwood with Scituate as a side issue two years, a year or so at Ashburnham, and 23 at Hardwick with 21 also at Dana.

William Redfield Stocking was born in a missionary home in Persia in 1844 and was himself a missionary there in the '70's. Health conditions later kept him here and he was pastor at White Oaks in Williamstown three years. He served in the Union army through the Civil War. In 1886 he became Superintendent of the Workhouse on Blackwell's Island, New York, touching thousands of lives helpfully. In three years 6,000 inmates signed the pledge and many of them kept it. For 40 years before his death he lived quietly and usefully at Williamstown. George Morgan Ward, was ordained in Lowell in 1896 and was a member of Andover Association. He had no pastorate here, but had a winter parish in Palm Beach for 30 years. He was president of Wells College eight years and of Rollins another eight with a brief second incumbency, and acquired almost as many honorary degrees as William E. Barton and Ozora Davis. William Henry Watson, born in England in 1848, came to us from pastorates in three Canadian states and Vermont, and left us for New Hampshire. He was pastor of our Rockdale church in Northbridge nine years and was first pastor at Medford Hillside. Death overtook both him and Ozora Davis as passengers on railroad trains. Benjamin Clark Wood, born in Upton in 1861, went to Ohio to College, to Maine for theology, to southwestern

New York for his first parish, and for his second spent two years in Wayland. Since 1901 he had been in Rochester, N. Y., and vicinity, a lawyer and later a farmer. His death occurred in June, 1929.

Some scientists are said to have the ability, given a single bone, to reconstruct an entire animal. I have tried, in spite of program demands for brevity, to offer you more than a single clue to these widely different men. And we may justly misquote Shakespeare as we say "The good that men do lives after them."

President Frederick Harlan, Page D.D.,

Massachusetts Congregational Conference, and Missionary Society,

Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir:

I have caused the books and records of the Treasurer of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society for the year ending March 31, 1931, to be examined by Messrs. Patterson, Teele & Dennis, Certified Public Accountants, for the purpose of verifying the transactions of that period involving both the general funds of the Conference and Society and the funds held by it in trust.

The accountants report that income receivable from invested funds and deposits with banks has been duly accounted for; that all other income shown by the books of the Society has been duly accounted for; that all payments have been properly vouched; that the securities representing the invested funds have been produced to them; that the cash in banks has been verified, and that the accompanying financial statements correctly exhibit the condition of the funds in the hands of the Society as at the close of business on March 31, 1931, and the Treasurer's transactions during the year ending at that date. To the best of my knowledge and belief this statement is correct.

The various securities held have been exhibited to me by the Treasurer. This corresponds to the total of such securities as given me by the auditors.

Very truly yours,

EDWARD B. MILES, Auditor.

BEQUESTS

Bequests to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society are used to aid weak churches and to promote the work and interests of the Conference in the State. The practice of the Conference is to divide unrestricted legacies into three equal parts. One part is used for current work; one part is added to the Permanent Legacy Fund, the income only of which is used for general purposes; and the third part is added to a Contingent Fund, the principal of which may be drawn upon to care for special undertakings or to avoid a deficit. Bequests may be made permanent funds by the donor, and the Conference restricted to use only of income.

Bequests to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society pay no Massachusetts inheritance tax.

FORM OF BEQUEST

I give to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the sum of........................Dollars.

TRUST FUNDS

The Conference is glad to receive bequests to be held in trust for the benefit of churches. No charge is made for administering such trusts.

Legacies are frequently made by large-hearted men and women to churches. It is not an easy matter for parish committees, some of which have had no experience in handling trust funds, to make wise and safe investments. The Conference feels that it has a legitimate concern in seeing that the principal and income of these funds are properly safeguarded. It therefore strongly urges churches to place such funds in its care. The Conference has exceptional facilities for keeping funds safely and investing them profitably and wisely. The Board of Trustees of the Conference, which has charge of all its funds, contains men of large ability and experience in such matters. The churches may avail themselves of the service of this ability and experience without expense.

CONDITIONAL GIFTS

The Conference receives conditional gifts, subject to annuity agreements with the donors, and encourages this method for those who wish any part of their property to be applied to our work after their death, and desire an assured income from this property for themselves, or for others whom they may designate as beneficiaries, so long as they live. Correspondence with the Treasurer concerning such annuity agreements is invited.

THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF SPRINGFIELD

PRESIDENT, REV. GARRETT V. STRYKER

CLERK, REV. JOHN B. LEWIS TREASURER, JOHN A. DALE

In coöperation with the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, the Congregational Union of Springfield supervises the home missionary work in Springfield.

All contributions for home missionary work in Massachusetts by the churches of Springfield should be made to the Congregational Union, and will be credited on the apportionment. In accordance with the mutual agreement between the two organizations, ten per cent, of the contributions for current work received by the Union is paid over to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

The Congregational Union of Springfield is incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts and may receive bequests and hold property.

THE WORCESTER CITY MISSIONARY SOCIETY

RECORDING SECRETARY AND TREASURER, REV. ELLSWORTH W. PHILLIPS

The Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, by agreement with the Worcester City Missionary Society, is responsible for the financial assistance and the supervision of home missionary churches in Worcester in their current work, while the Worcester City Missionary Society represents the fellowship of the Congregational churches of the city in aid to churches in the matter of their property, contributing toward the purchase and maintenance of property and the payment of building debts.

Contributions for home missions from the churches in Worcester, to be credited on the apportionment, should be sent to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society. Contributions for the local work, given in addition to the apportionment and not to be credited as a part of it, should be sent to the treasurer of the Worcester City Missionary Society.

GRANTS FROM THE MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY

1. Wherever a community is too distant from a church to benefit from its privileges, the Conference encourages the establishment of regular religious services, and, if possible, the organization of a church, or a branch of a neighboring church.

2. Applications by any church for financial aid should be made by the vote of the church, and upon forms furnished by the Conference, and should have the approval of the Advisory or Missionary Committee of the local Association of Churches.

3. Churches applying for aid must show that they have met in full all financial obligations to their ministers and are doing their utmost toward self-support.

4. In granting aid the Conference will appropriate different amounts according to the necessity, importance, and prospects of each field.

5. Every church aided by the Conference must consult the President or Secretary before making arrangements for pastoral service.

6. Whenever the service of the minister or other worker, for whose support an appropriation is made, shall terminate, the appropriation shall lapse, except for special reasons satisfactory to the President.

7. The Conference advocates adequate compensation for every minister and worker.

8. The Conference favors hearty coöperation with other denominations the avoidance of overlapping and competing work, and the consolidation or federation of churches of different denominations in over-churched communities.

It has been voted to omit from this volume the Reports of Boards and Committees which were printed in the Advance Reports and distributed before the meeting in New Bedford. STATISTICAL TABLES

EXPLANATORY

The tables which follow comprise:

1. The statistics of the churches, giving the ministers, church membership, additions, removals, Sunday schools, and the amount of benevolences and expenses. These tables, in accordance with the vote of the Conference, in 1887, are made to conform to those in the Year Book; but names in the pastoral column are changed according to the latest information before going to press.
2. The Associations of the churches, with the names of officers and the times of meeting.
3. The Ministerial Standing, giving the date of ordination of each minister, the date of membership, the residence and his "employment." "P. C." means pastor by council; "P.," pastor otherwise; "W. C." means without church; other abbreviations are self-evident. "W. C.," however, includes many who have retired from active service, and some who are in business.
4. The Ministerial Record containing lists of ordinations, installations, dismissals, and deaths.

The tables of the first part contain the names of all the Congregational churches in Massachusetts, the towns and cities being arranged alphabetically; churches in each town according to age. If the post office name of the church and the town name differ, a footnote on the page where the post office name would naturally be found will direct the reader to the town name.

Church members and families are reported as numbered January 1, 1931. Admissions and removals cover the year 1930. "Absent" are not additional to "males," "females" and "total," but included in them. "Sunday school" includes total membership of officers, teachers and scholars, January 1, 1931, or when the school is in operation (if not at that date), covering "branch schools," "mission schools" and "home departments," so far as maintained by the reporting church.

The months and days in the dates of the organization of churches are omitted. They will be found in the publications of 1873, those of churches since organized being given in the "Minutes" of each year. Also the months and days in the dates of ordination and installation of ministers are omitted. The former may be found in the lists of the local Associations which follow the tables.

"Ordained" denotes the date on which the person was originally set apart to the ministry by the "laying-on of hands." "Commenced" denotes the date of the beginning of his present pastorate.

In accordance with the recommendation of the National Council, in the Statistical Tables pastors installed are marked "i."; pastors recognized by a council called for that purpose are marked "r."; pastors duly called by their churches, but not installed or recognized by council, are not marked; "y" before a pastor's name indicates that he has a yoked (double or triple) field.

Blanks in any column of figures are never equivalent to "none," but mean "no report"; but blanks in the column of ministers do mean that the church has no pastor or acting pastor, and the blank is left for the convenience of those who note changes.

Under Sunday Schools, "c" denotes cradle roll, "h" home department, "e" both cradle roll and home department, and "b" a mission or branch school.

In the final column, under valuation of church property, an asterisk * indicates that the church has a parsonage (value included), or in a very few cases that house rent for the minister is paid in addition to the stated salary.

The condensed form in which the Year Book tables are published this year offers the reader an opportunity for personal computation, as, for example, to find the number of female members, subtract the number of male members from the total.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF MINISTERS

This list gives the names of pastors, or acting pastors, and of all Congregational ministers who are members of the Associations or Conferences that guard ministerial standing.

Ministers who are not reported as having ministerial standing in this state, and who have not been installed by council, are designated by a star (*). This does NOT mean that the man has no ministerial standing.

The first column of figures gives the page on which names may be found of all in pastoral service. A blank in the first column signifies that the person is not reported as being in pastoral service in this state.

The second column of figures gives the page on which ministerial standing is recorded.

The post-office addresses as given below often differ from the places named in the tables, and are supposed to be correct in this list.

An alphabetical list of licentiates follows this list.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—IF your name is not correctly printed in the preceding tables, IF one Christian name is not given in full, IF your ordination is not correct or is not in its proper place, IF your post-office is wrong, or IF before you receive the next Year-Book your post-office is changed, or IF your name is omitted from this list, the needed change or correction should be reported at once to the Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass., Registrar of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

BY-LAWS OF THE MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY

ARTICLE I

Terminology

Whenever in these by-laws the word "Conference" is used it shall be held to refer to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

ARTICLE II

Denominational Basis

Following Congregational principles, this Conference shall under no circumstances exercise authority over churches or individuals or interfere with the government or discipline of the churches. It shall advise and counsel the churches when requested, but it is recognized that each church has the power of self-determination in all matters.

ARTICLE III

Doctrinal Basis

This Conference declares its steadfast allegiance to the faith which our fathers confessed, which, from age to age, has found its expression in the historic creeds of the Church Universal and of this Communion.

ARTICLE IV

Membership

1. Each evangelical Congregational church in this Commonwealth may annually choose two delegates (of whom, it is suggested, one shall be a layman and the other a lay-woman) and these delegates, together with the pastor or pastors of each church (who shall be members ex officio), the officers of the Conference (including the members of the Board of Trustees), the committee members of the Conference, and those persons who prior to May 22, 1923, became life members of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, shall constitute the voting membership of the Conference.

2. Delegates from corresponding bodies and persons appointed to speak before the Conference, together with all persons heretofore constituted honorary members of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, such persons as may be made honorary members by a vote of the Board of Trustees, and such other persons as the Conference may from time to time vote to admit, shall be honorary members of the Conference, with the privilege of speaking, but without vote.

ARTICLE V

Officers

1. There shall be a moderator, one or more vice-moderators, a president, a secretary, a recording secretary, a secretary of Missionary Promotion, a project secretary, a secretary of the Department of Woman's Work, a registrar, a treasurer, and an auditor, all of whom shall be elected by ballot at the annual meeting of the Conference and shall hold office for one year and until their respective successors are chosen and qualified. The chairman and vice-chairman of the Department of Woman's Work shall also be elected by ballot at the annual meeting of the Conference from among the women members of the Board of Trustees and shall in like manner hold office for one year and until their respective successors are chosen and qualified.

2. There shall be a Board of Trustees consisting of twenty-four members (at least one third of whom shall be women) together with the moderator of the Conference ex officio. The trustees in office at the date of the adoption of these by-laws shall serve for the full terms for which they were respectively elected. At the annual meeting of 1928, two trustees to serve for one year, two to serve for two years, two to serve for three years, and two to serve for four years, shall be elected by ballot. At the annual meeting of 1929 and at each annual meeting thereafter six trustees, each to serve for four years, shall be so elected. No trustee after serving a full term of four years shall be eligible for re-election until after one year. Eight members of the board shall constitute a quorum. At its first meeting after each annual meeting of the Conference the Board shall choose one of its members to serve as chairman for the ensuing year. Except as otherwise provided in the charter of the Conference or in these by-laws, the Board shall administer and dispose of the property of the Conference and shall manage all its business and affairs, and all officers and agents of the Conference shall act under its direction. Without restricting the generality of the foregoing, the Board shall in particular have the following powers: —

(a) To choose a clerk, to appoint its own meetings and form its own rules of business, to appoint sub-committees and to delegate any of its powers to such committees.

(b) To appoint and, at pleasure, remove all agents of the Conference and to define their duties.

(c) To fill any vacancy in any office of the Conference (including vacancies in the membership of the Board) until the vacancy shall be filled at a succeeding meeting of the Conference.

(d) To remove any officer of the Conference (other than members of the Board) who may be guilty of disregard of his duties or of such conduct as shall be seriously prejudicial to the interests of the Conference.

(e) To direct efforts to promote missionary interest and giving among the Congregational churches of the Commonwealth.

(f) To report before the close of each annual meeting on the amount of money needed for the ensuing year from the churches connected with this Conference on a per capita basis of membership to meet such percentages of the expenses of the National Council, the Board of Pastoral Supply and the Massachusetts Federation of Churches as may be allocable to these churches and miscellaneous expenses and ways and means for meeting the need.

3. The terms of all officers, save when chosen to fill vacancies, shall begin at the close of the meeting at which they are elected.

ARTICLE VI

Duties of Officers

1. The moderator, or in his absence, one of the vice-moderators, shall preside over all meetings of the Conference.

2. The president shall be the chief executive officer of the Conference and shall, subject to the direction of the Conference and of its Board of Trustees, have general charge of its missionary and benevolent work and of its other activities. He shall be a member ex officio of all standing committees named in the by-laws with the exception of the nominating committee. He shall be the representative of the Conference and of its Board of Trustees among all the churches (both those financially independent and those aided by the funds of the Conference) and in all denominational and interdenominational gatherings (including meetings of state superintendents) unless representation is otherwise provided. He shall, when requested, assist a pastor or church with fraternal counsel. He shall keep informed as to opportunities for extension work through founding new churches or strengthening old ones and shall recommend to the Conference and to the Board of Trustees measures for meeting such opportunities.

3. The secretary shall keep the records of the Conference and shall assist in its general work under the direction of the president. He shall devote himself, in particular, to the care and oversight of churches financially aided by the Conference and shall perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Board of Trustees. He shall have the custody of the records and of all bonds given by the treasurer as hereinafter provided.

He shall furnish copies of the record certified under the seal of the Conference (which shall be in his keeping) to such persons as may be entitled thereto.

4. The recording secretary shall assist the secretary in keeping the records of the Conference and shall take his place at meetings of the Conference in his absence. The Board of Trustees may, in their discretion, appoint a deputy to assist in the keeping of the records under the direction of the recording secretary.

5. The secretary of missionary promotion, with the help and advice of the Committee on Missions and Apportionment hereinafter provided, shall have the duty of advancing the interest of the churches in the work of missions at home and abroad. He shall, under the direction of the president, assist, so far as he may be able, in the general work of the Conference.

6. The project secretary shall be concerned with the assignment of missionary projects, both home and foreign, and shall perform such other duties as may be assigned to her by the Board of Trustees. She shall, under the direction of the president, assist, so far as she may be able, in the general work of the Conference.

7. The secretary of the Department of Woman's Work shall have special charge of promoting missionary interests and all other activities among the women of the Congregational churches of the Commonwealth. She shall, under the direction of the president, assist, so far as she may be able, in the general work of the Conference.

8. The registrar shall collect and publish in connection with the annual Report of the Conference the statistics of ministers and churches and make up the official roll of the ministers and churches in accordance with the usages of the denomination. He shall present to the Conference at its annual meeting a general statistical statement of the progress of religion in the churches for the past calendar year. He shall give suitable notice to the churches of the time and place of each annual meeting, notify officers and committees of their election or appointment and fulfill such other functions as the Conference or the Board of Trustees may from time to time direct.

9. The treasurer shall receive and hold the property of the Conference subject to the direction of the Board of Trustees and shall keep particular accounts of the Conference's funds and of the disposal thereof. He shall, under the direction of the president, assist, so far as he may be able, in the general work of the Conference and shall perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Board of Trustees. He shall make a report at each annual meeting of the Conference and shall make such other reports as the Conference or the Board of Trustees may from time to time require. He shall receive all contributions for benevolences sent to him by the churches and by individuals and shall disburse the same in accordance with the instructions of the donors. He shall give such bonds for the faithful performance of his duties as may from time to time be required by the Board of Trustees.

10. The auditor shall cause the accounts of the treasurer to be carefully audited at least once each year and shall make a report at each annual meeting of the Conference. He shall at such times as directed by the Board of Trustees examine the securities in the keeping of the treasurer.

ARTICLE VII

Department of Woman's Work

1. There shall be a Department of Woman's Work of the Conference. The object of this department shall be to enlist the earnest and systematic coöperation of Christian women in the cause of missions, to support the special work committed by the national Home and Foreign Boards of the denomination to this Commonwealth, to help to promote the entire work of the local church and to further in every way possible the cause of Christ. The voting members of this department shall be the women members of the Conference, together with such other women as may be determined by the rules of the department. The women members of the Board of Trustees of the Conference, together with an equal number of members to be elected by the department, shall constitute the Executive Committee of the department. This Executive Committee shall organize the membership of the department in whatever manner it may deem needful for the effective carrying on of the department's work.

2. The department shall provide by its rules for the appointment of a nominating committee, which shall propose to the nominating committee of the Conference the names of women members of the Board of Trustees and shall propose to the department the additional members of its executive committees. This nominating committee shall annually propose to the nominating committee of the Conference from among the women members of the Board of Trustees a chairman and a vice-chairman of the department.

ARTICLE VIII

Meetings

1. The Conference shall hold its regular annual meeting for the choice of officers, the hearing of reports, the discussion of matters of general interest and the transaction of other business at the appointed place on the third Monday of May at 2 P.M., or at such other time in the month of May as the Board of Trustees may deem expedient.

2. Special meetings of the Conference shall be convened at such times and places as may be determined by the Board of Trustees, provided, however, that notice of any special meeting so convened shall, at least one week before the date of the meeting, be sent by mail to each of the churches connected with the Conference, posted in the general office of the Conference and published in newspapers in Boston, Worcester and Springfield respectively.

3. The moderator or, in his absence, one of the vice-moderators or, in the absence of all of them, some member of the Board of Trustees shall call the Conference to order.

ARTICLE IX

Committees

1. Immediately after the opening of the annual meeting the moderator shall appoint:—

(a) A Committee on Credentials, to which all credentials shall be referred.

(b) A Business Committee, the duty of which shall be to prepare and present at each session all matters of business not presented through some other committee of the Conference.

2. The following standing committees shall be elected by viva voce vote:

(a) A Program Committee, of which the registrar of the Conference and the pastor of the church which is to entertain the next annual meeting shall be members ex officio. At the annual meeting of 1928, two members of this committee shall be elected to serve for one year, two to serve for two years and two to serve for three years. At each annual meeting thereafter two members shall be elected to serve for three years. This committee shall prepare the program for the next annual meeting and shall select the preacher of the annual sermon and the various speakers at each session.

(b) A Nominating Committee of seven, consisting of the retiring moderator of each annual meeting together with six other members, at least two of whom shall be women. This committee shall make all nominations required by these by-laws or by vote of the Conference. At the annual meeting of 1928, three members shall be elected to serve for one year and three to serve for two years. At each annual meeting thereafter three members shall be elected to serve for two years. The retiring members shall not be eligible for re-election for at least one year. The names of women proposed as provided in Article VII by the nominating committee of the Department of Woman's Work as candidates for election to the Board of Trustees and as chairman and vice-chairman of the department shall, if approved by the nominating committee of the Conference, be included in its report to the Conference.

(c) A Committee on Missions and Apportionment of which the members of the Committee on Missions and Apportionment of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference as heretofore constituted shall be members for the terms for which they were respectively chosen. At the annual meeting of 1928 the Conference shall elect from the Board of Trustees one member to serve for one year and from the churches at large two members to serve for three years. At the annual meeting of 1929 the Conference shall elect from the Board of Trustees two members to serve for one year and from the churches at large two members to serve for three years. At each annual meeting thereafter the Conference shall elect from the Board of Trustees three members to serve for one year and from the churches at large two members to serve for three years. The Committee shall represent the Conference in its relations with the national Commission on Missions, particularly in the following respects:

(i) In bringing before the Conference the amount proposed by the Commission on Missions as the total objective under the apportionment plan with a recommendation as to the fair share to be assumed by the Massachusetts churches.

(ii) In approving percentages for the distribution of Massachusetts contributions among the national societies and for work within the state.

(iii) In subdividing the total amounts recommended by the Massachusetts State Conference to be raised for the designated purposes and referring the amounts to the local associations and the individual churches for their acceptance.

(d) A committee on Religious Education, of which the members of the Committee on Religious Education of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference as heretofore constituted shall be members for the terms for which they were respectively chosen, together with such members of the executive staff of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference, not to exceed three members, as are related to educational activities, and as may be designated as ex officio members. At each annual meeting four members shall be elected to serve for three years. The duty of the committee shall be to foster in all the churches religious education, including education in matters concerning missions. This committee (or such other committee as the Conference may designate) shall supervise the State Committee of Congregational Young People (provision for which was made by vote of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference in 1927 and which shall be continued as contemplated by that vote until otherwise determined) such supervision to be exercised in the following ways:—

(i) The character and representative basis of membership of the State Committee of Congregational Young People to be subject to the approval of the supervising committee of the Conference;

(ii) Two members of the supervising committee of the Conference to serve ex officio as members of the State Committee of Congregational Young People;

(iii) Any action taken by the State Committee of Congregational Young People to be subject to the review and approval of the supervising committee of the Conference, which committee shall be authorized to pay out of the amount voted to it by the Conference such a sum as it may deem advisable toward the necessary expenses of the State Committee of Congregational Young People.

3. Such other committees as the Conference may vote to constitute shall be elected by viva voce vote at each annual meeting for such terms as the Conference shall determine. The Board of Trustees shall present at each annual meeting a list of the committees the appointment of which it recommends.

4. It shall be the general practice of the Conference, without making it an arbitrary rule, that at least one-third of its Committee members be women.

5. The reports of all committees that are to be presented to the Conference shall be furnished to the registrar on or before April 1 of each year, and shall be printed and distributed to the churches not less than two weeks before the annual meeting. These reports shall not be read to the Conference save by special order, but the Program Committee may arrange for the adequate discussion of any or all of the topics presented in the reports.

ARTICLE X

Board of Ministerial Aid

The Board of Ministerial Aid shall be the agent of the Conference in the work of aiding needy ministers and their families and shall make an annual report to the Conference. Either of Articles II, III and IV may be amended by a two-thirds vote, but only after the proposed amendment has been submitted to the Conference in writing at the previous annual meeting and notice has been sent to the several churches connected with the Conference at least three months prior to the meeting at which action is to be taken.

> Resolved: That the Massachusetts State Conference of Congregational and Christian churches appoint a committee of appraisal of the existing organization, its departments, methods of work and the present allocation of its funds to different branches of the work with the purpose of suggesting such changes and possible combinations of existing departments and conservation of its resources as its investigation may show to be advisable. This committee shall consist of the committee already appointed by the Trustees of the Conference for this purpose together with four members to be elected at this meeting upon nomination of the Nominating Committee. This committee is hereby instructed to make a report before the next Annual Conference which report shall be printed and sent to the churches with the other printed reports and which shall include any recommendations of the committee. A resolution in regard to the placing of Congregational and Christian ministers in Congregational and Christian pulpits was referred to the Business Committee.

By unanimous consent it was voted that Rev. Frederick E. Emrich be continued as Secretary Emeritus for the ensuing year.

The Business Committee reported the following recommendations which were adopted:

1. Recognizing the inherent rightness and the moral challenge to the church of Jesus Christ involved in the keynote address of Rev. Russell H. Stafford: Be it hereby resolved, that the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society adopt the address as a platform representing the mind and heart of the delegates here assembled. Be it further resolved that the Conference officials be instructed to request the publication of the address in The Congregationalist as a public expression of the desire of the Congregationalists and Christians of Massachusetts to face courageously the vital issues of a new day.

2. That no action be taken in regard to the resolution from the Southern California Conference regarding the pardoning of the murderers in the Massie case.

3. Whereas TRAINING MANUAL 2000–25 (pages 91–92), "CITIZENSHIP", issued by the WAR DEPARTMENT, November 30, 1928, for use in Military Training Camps, defines "DEMOCRACY" as "A Government of the masses", "communistic, negating property rights", which "results in demagogism, license, agitation, discontent, anarchy" and "has been repeatedly tried without success,"

And Whereas the said MANUAL (page 113) also pronounces on social issues still under discussion, e.g., asserting that "an impractical and destructive idealism called internationalism is being propagated by certain foreign agitators" and that "pacifism is destructive of patriotism,"

Therefore Resolved that the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society respectfully protests against such misrepresentation of popular government in an official document of the United States; and Resolved that it also protests against this misrepresentation of the movement to end war by international organization; and Resolved that a copy of these resolutions adopted by the Conference at its annual session

May 16–18, 1932, be forwarded to the President of the United States, the War Department and to the two United States Senators from Massachusetts.

4. That the Conference accept the invitation of the Congregational church in North Adams to hold its 1933 sessions at that church.

5. We stand in abhorrence at recent violations of law in our country and we as members of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society in its annual session May 16–18, 1932, place on record our determination to stand with our government in every effort to enforce the law and punish all criminals.

6. Our attention having been called by various organizations to the importance of temperance education, and realizing the fact that this phase of temperance work has been sorely neglected since the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, therefore be it Resolved that we strongly urge the churches of our Conference to emphasize the importance of educating our young people to realize that any use of alcohol for beverage purposes however moderate is anti-social, harmful to themselves and to the best interests of the community.

Rev. Albert V. House presented the following recommendations regarding amendments to the constitution which were referred to the next annual session:

That Article 4, section 1, be amended to read "each evangelical Congregational church in this Commonwealth or Christian church that is a member of a Congregational-Christian Association of churches in Massachusetts may annually choose," etc. And to Article 4, section 1, be added "it is provided, however, that pastors of churches to qualify for the voting privilege shall be Congregational or Christian ministers having membership in Congregational or Congregational-Christian Associations regularly holding ministerial standing."

It was requested that the Business Committee bring in a resolution expressing sympathy to Central Church, Newburyport, for the disaster which recently occurred at that church.

It was voted that the matter regarding the Eighteenth Amendment be referred back to the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare to report at a later session.

The following officers were elected by ballot for the ensuing year: Moderator, Mr. John C. Hull, Leominster; Vice-Moderator, Rev. J. Harold Dale, Billerica; Second Vice-Moderator, Mrs. Elbert A. Timberlake, Dalton; the welcome to Africa by Rev. John S. Marsh, Mt. Silinda, East Africa. The commissioning of Miss Scott to her work was made by Rev. D. A Conference of Young People was held at the Wollaston Congregational Church at 4.30, followed by a banquet. Addresses were made by Rev. Dwight Bradley, Newton Center, and Rev. Boynton Merrill, West Newton.

John A. Hawley, Amherst; Mrs. Chester M. Grover, Cambridge; Mr. J. Howard Leman, Boston; Mr. Willard C. Hill, Lexington; Rev. Charles C. Merrill, New York; Rev. Carl H. Kopf, Salem; Rev. Clarence W. Dunham, Dorchester; Mrs. John Calder, Springfield; and Miss Rachel Snow, Falmouth.

It was voted that the Committee on Church Attendance be continued, consisting of the following: Rev. Winfield S. Randall, East Weymouth; Rev. George W. Hylton, Medford; Rev. Egbert W. A. Jenkinson, Methuen; Rev. Eber E. Craig, Attleboro Falls; Rev. George K. Carter, Greenfield; Mr. L. C. Reynolds, Holyoke; Mr. Rolfe Cobleigh, Boston.

The following resolution was adopted:

We place on record our appreciation of the fact that the commissioning of Miss Lavinia Scott this afternoon as a missionary under the American Board, demonstrates the mutual relations between our churches and the work of our societies. We regret that the present drop in gifts to the Board has brought great suffering to our missionaries, our fellow Christians overseas, and has checked the progress of the work abroad. Be it resolved as the sentiment of this annual meeting that the tide shall turn, and the drop shall be stopped. The moment may well be now and the place might well be here. Massachusetts shall take the lead toward a new sacrifice and a new stewardship.

The following resolution was voted:

Whereas a calamity of unforeseen nature and unprecedented severity has visited our sister church, the Central Church in Newburyport, and whereas the disaster presents a situation fraught with distress and difficulty to the minister and members, be it resolved that we, the members of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society do hereby express our deep concern and our earnest hope that our brethren may find the courage and the resources to restore their edifice to be once more a house of prayer.

It was voted that the Missionary and Apportionment Committee be given first place in the order of business for Wednesday morning.

The work of Northland College was presented by Rev. Charles R. Sine, following which recess was taken until Wednesday morning.

WEDNESDAY MORNING

At 9 o'clock there was a second session of the Seminars of Tuesday.

At 10.30 the Conference was called to order by the Moderator.

Prayer was offered by Secretary Bliss.

It was voted that the reading of the minutes be dispensed with and the Secretary be authorized to complete the minutes subject to the approval of the Board of Trustees.

It was voted that the recommendation of the Board of Trustees that paragraph (f), section 2, Article 5, of the By-laws, be deleted, be adopted.

The report of the Committee on Missions and Apportionment was presented by Secretary Parker. The following recommendations of the committee were adopted and the report accepted:

1. That the immediate goal for apportionment giving in Massachusetts be continued at $770,000, and that the churches be urged to keep their accepted goals at the highest figure possible, unless already they are keeping their goals on the basis of the full State apportionment of $1,087,500.

2. That gifts not designated by the donors for specific objects be divided on the following basis: American Board 42½%, National Home Boards 43½%, State 14%, including 1% for the Boston Seaman's Friend Society.

3. That the Conference appropriate the sum of $450 for the expenses of the Committee on Missions and Apportionment, to be used if needed.

The report of the Promotional Secretary, Rev. Asa M. Parker, was then given, and the report was accepted.

The following resolutions were presented by the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare and were adopted:

1. Resolved: That we heartily reaffirm our faith in our national policy of Prohibition in dealing with the age-old menace of the liquor traffic. While we are aware that enforcement has not been perfect, we deny that it has been a failure and still believe that Prohibition at its worst is better than any previous policy at its best.

2. Resolved: That we utterly oppose any attempt to bring about a resubmission of the Prohibition question to the people under the formula of "Continuance vs. Repeal" as expressing only disgruntlement and leading nowhere; but that we cheerfully accede to the test of resubmission as between Prohibition and any substitute measure which its opponents may name.

3. Resolved: That in contrast with its traditional contribution of leadership we deplore the present apathy and confusion of the Christian church people who through personal indulgence and connivance with the bootlegger are bringing reproach on the Christian church, adding to the difficulties of law enforcement, and contributing to the disintegrating influence of lawlessness.

The following recommendations of the Business Committee were presented and adopted:

1. Whereas the laymen of one of our leading churches have recommended that more thought be given to placing Congregational and Christian ministers in the pulpits of Congregational and Christian churches, and Whereas there is a large and increasing number of Congregational ministers in our state without pastorates,

Resolved: (a) that we feel that it is the duty of our churches to think first of our Congregational and Christian ministers in calling their pastors;

(b) That it is the judgment of the Conference that every effort should be made to place Congregational and Christian ministers in the pulpits of our aided churches and that the Trustees of the Conference would be justified whenever they deem it wise to withhold aid from churches which call to their pastorates other than Congregational or Christian ministers;

(c) That we deprecate the system in vogue among the smaller churches of securing the service of students over week-ends only, even though the cost be less, feeling confident that in the end the churches suffer and lose in every way from not having older, more experienced and regular pastors continuously with them.

2. Inasmuch as misunderstandings and honest differences of conviction are common to humankind, and inasmuch as these must arise between the nations in the present chaotic and imperfect condition of civilization, chiefly because of the intense competitive struggle for existence, and inasmuch as such issues, both in cases of equity and of "criminal aggression" must be either fought out on battlefields or settled by judicial methods — either continued war or an international court, be it Resolved: That this Massachusetts Conference of Congregational and Christian Churches heartily desires America's entrance into the World Court as her contribution to world stability and her acceptance of world responsibility, and we desire her warm support for every measure tending to substitute international judiciaries for war. Also that a copy of these resolutions be given to the daily press, published in The Congregationalist and Herald of Gospel Liberty, and sent to President Hoover and to the senators from Massachusetts.

The Nominating Committee presented the following list of delegates to the General Council of Congregational and Christian Churches, who were elected:

For two years: Rev. Frank H. Gardner, Pottersville; Rev. T. W. Kidd, Fall River; Miss Mary Arnold, Touisett; Mr. Harry Adams, Fall River.

For four years: Rev. J. William L. Graham, Newburyport; Mrs. Elizabeth P. Graham, Newburyport; Rev. Harry W. Kimball, Needham; Rev. William W. Rock, North Adams; Mrs. George L. Thurlow, Concord; Rev. Ralph M. Timberlake, Dalton; Mr. Roger W. Babson, Wellesley; Mrs. Arthur H. Merritt, Dorchester; Mrs. Claude A. McKay, Springfield; Mrs. Eric I. Lindh, Quincy; Mrs. S. E. Plimpton, Walpole; Mrs. Charles N. Thorp, Lincoln; Mr. E. G. Preston, Lexington; Rev. Edwin E. Aiken, Jr., Boston.

The following resolution of appreciation was adopted:

We, the members of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, at this one hundred and thirty-third annual meeting, mindful of the high quality of the work done by this Conference and its value to the spiritual life of the churches, express our sincere appreciation to the Bethany Congregational Church for its cordial hospitality and for the use of the facilities of this beautiful church plant; to the Rev. Eric I. Lindh, the minister of this church, for his painstaking efforts in taking care of the many details which have made this Conference such a notable success; to the women of this church and other assisting churches, for the bountiful provisions which they have provided for our comforts, both at this church and in their homes; to the members of the choir for their contribution to the spirit of worship; to the men and women who gave so generously of their time to present the Historical Pageant; to the Honorable Thomas McGrath, the Mayor of Quincy, for his cordial welcome; to the Moderator, Rev. Edwin B. Robinson, for his wise, prompt, efficient and good-natured direction of the Conference; to the officers and committees for their cooperation in carrying on the work in hand; to Rev. Percy E. Thomas, the chaplain, for the dignity, the brevity and the spiritual tone of the devotional periods; and to the Program Committee for giving us one of the most instructive, deeply spiritual and comprehensive programs ever presented in the history of the Conference.

We would also include in these resolutions our appreciation of the hospitality extended by the Wollaston Church of Quincy for the sessions of the Young People's Conference.

We leave this Conference and return to our homes and churches thankful that the spirit of unity and brotherly love has permeated our deliberations and for the vision that we have seen which will make us all more willing to be captured by Christ.

It was voted that the Conference express its hearty thanks to the Pilgrim Press for the programs used in the meetings.

The following resolution regarding the Lord's Day League was adopted:

Resolved: That our Conference unqualifiedly approve the work and purpose of the Lord's Day League of New England and commend its work to the pastors and churches of our Conference and urge them to cooperate in every way with its general secretary, Rev. Robert Watson, in securing a proper recognition of the sacredness of the Lord's Day and in the education of the public in a clearer view of the obligation of all to preserve the day from commercialization, and to protect every individual in his right to one day in seven free from worldly cares and avocations.

The pastor of the Central Church in Newburyport, Rev. Harry Grimes, expressed appreciation for the resolution of sympathy extended by the Conference to his church.

Mrs. Ellouise T. Graves was given two minutes to present the work of the Boston Seaman's Friend Society.

The seminar on church attendance was reported by Rev. Silas W. Anthony, Brighton. The following resolution was presented by Rev. Winfield S. Randall, East Weymouth, and it was adopted:

Resolved: That it is the conviction of this Conference that the matter of Church Attendance is of such vital importance that the Program Committee of the General Council of Congregational and Christian Churches to be held at Cleveland be requested to give it a major place in its program.

It was voted that the findings of these seminars be printed, copies be mailed to the churches, and it be made absolutely plain that they are adopted by the seminars and not by the Conference.

It was voted that the findings of the seminar on "The Place of the Church in Social and Economic Progress" be referred to the Business Committee, to be reported later in the day.

Rev. John L. Lobingier reported the findings of the seminar on religious education.

At 12.15 the service of worship was conducted by the Chaplain.

After the service of worship the Conference attended to several matters of business.

The report of the Committee on Credentials was presented by Rev. Theodore Bacheler of South Hadley Falls as follows:

Number of churches represented:
By pastor only	108
By pastor and one delegate	68
By pastor and two delegates	90
By one delegate only	17
By two delegates	28
Total number of churches represented	311
Number of individuals, deducting duplicates	588
Official and honorary members	35
Total net enrollment	623

The report of the seminar on world-mindedness was presented by Mrs. George E. Seabury, Jamaica Plain. It was voted to receive this report.

The Utica (Mississippi) Normal School singers favored the Conference with several vocal selections.

The Business Committee reported the findings made by the seminar on social questions and the following resolutions were adopted:

1. We believe that the economic system should be based on social and human values directly rather than depending upon private self-interest as its basis. To that end, we approve of the general principle of economic planning, looking toward a considered and organized social system.

2. Inasmuch as we believe in "the infinite worth of the downmost man," that personality should be given opportunity of development, and that justice demands that the cost of social progress should not be levied on chance individuals, we insist that human values should be primary in any social system. We therefore approve the restriction of child labor. We approve of an organized system of old age pensions. We approve of compulsory unemployment insurance. We approve of the representation of the worker in industry.

3. We believe that the ethic of Jesus recognizes no political boundaries and that principles of sympathy, cooperation, and sacrifice should govern our international attitudes. We do not believe that these principles can be expressed by competitive armaments.

4. We recognize the most pressing need of the moment to be the preservation of social and individual morale. The burden of the depression is resting most heavily on the unemployed who are not primarily responsible for their present state. While the Christian principle of sharing, operating largely through private agencies, has undoubtedly relieved a vast amount of suffering, we believe that society as an organized whole must accept responsibility for the situation. We therefore approve the principle of federal aid and urge Congress to make provision for relief where other assistance is no longer available.

Prayer was then offered by the Moderator and the benediction given, and the Conference stood adjourned.

ALFRED V. BLISS, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

The year under review has been marked by steady continuance of that increase in the sum total of the work of all the departments of the Conference which had its beginning in 1928, at which time the Home Missionary Society and the State Associations were merged in one incorporated body. No new departments of work have been established this year, but the increased calls from the churches have affected every branch of service.

The keen interest of the Moderator of the Conference in his duties as a member of the Board of Trustees ex officio for the year, has been a helpful factor, particularly along the line of the duties of the General Conference Committee. Rev. E. B. Robinson has served this committee as its chairman during the year with great devotion.

The members of the Executive Staff have worked together effectively, which means very much, because their duties necessarily require a close cooperation at many points. No one of the staff is engaged exclusively in his or her own task, and all of the secretaries, women as well as men, have had many speaking appointments in the churches.

It is gratifying to us of the staff, as to his large circle of friends in our churches, that the Secretary Emeritus, Dr. Emrich, has had the health and strength to fulfill many speaking and office appointments, and to continue in full oversight of the Board of Ministerial Relief. This is a happy statement to make respecting one who is in his eighty-fourth year.

For some time it has been apparent that since the Conference now embraces all the churches, not only the aided churches but those not aided, any distinctions continuing from the Home Missionary Society should be done away; therefore beginning at this time, the re-payment of travel expenses for attendance upon the Annual Meeting, and to summer conferences, is to be made upon the basis of salary for all the churches. The rule which has been adopted by the Trustees, and which is now to be put to the test of its fair and practical working is that such re-payments shall be made, if requested, both ways, to Congregational pastors of churches receiving total salary of less than $1,400 a year; and the travel one way to Congregational pastors of churches receiving a total salary of $1,400 or more, but less than $1,700. The free use of a parsonage shall be considered a part of salary and shall be figured as a 15% addition to cash salary.

Owing to very unfortunate experiences of some churches with their endowments and where serious financial losses have resulted, the Conference has endeavored, with no little degree of success, to interest the churches in entrusting their endowments to the care of the Conference. Our charter specifically authorizes us to hold such funds in trust for the churches, and many thousand dollars have been committed to us in this way. The churches, many of whom may happen not to have people skilled in investments and re-investments, may thus secure the advantage of the special training and continuous oversight of the Finance Committee of the Conference, and receive regularly the interest from their investments without being burdened with the care of them. It is of great value, of course, that the entire safety of their funds is guaranteed in this way. From the correspondence drawn out by this offer on the part of the Conference it is good to know that the invested funds of many churches are being handled wisely and well by their own treasurers or finance committees. Any assistance which can be rendered to the churches in this general direction, and in these exceedingly difficult days, will be gladly given.

One of the most important events of the year has been the holding of the general Convocation of the Trustees and official staff of the Conference with three representatives of each of the twenty-two local Associations. The entire day was devoted to this gathering, and the whole field of mutual and conjoined interests of the State Conference and the local Associations was carefully scrutinized. The Convocation appointed a committee of three, consisting of Mrs. Elbert A. Harvey, Brookline, Mr. W. D. Parkinson, Fitchburg, and Rev. Edwin U. Cowles of Westfield, to join with a committee of three of the Trustees to further consider the way in which the State Conference and the local bodies may more efficiently work together.

It is within the knowledge of everyone what great difficulties beset all who are concerned in raising missionary funds this year. The average decrease in the amount raised by all Congregational churches in the United States was 16% for 1931, the sum total of the decrease being close to a half million dollars. The decrease in Massachusetts was almost exactly 16%. While it would have been gratifying to report that Massachusetts had made a better record, yet it is to be noted with satisfaction that the state which is expected to raise 20% of the entire amount was able to hold up to the average.

Some of the states having a very much lesser amount to raise were able to show a smaller falling off than the general average, as might naturally be the case.

Massachusetts has entered with full faith and fervor into the promotion of the Extra Dollar Plan to check the decline in missionary giving. Over seventy thousand coin cards have been sent out to our churches upon request, and a working organization has been effected to promote this simple but fine and effective movement among our churches. If we can have anything like the general participation which the plan merits the returns from the more than one hundred thousand adult church members in Massachusetts will be important in the amount received and will be of great importance psychologically. Christian people need to do something together in great numbers and with some manifestation of feeling at a time like this. We are the generation holding in trust great enterprises established by our fathers to promote the gospel at home and abroad. We must be true to this trust. Because times are hard does not relinquish this sacred obligation. The extent of our giving may be lessened, but not the spirit in which we hold true to that which comes to us from the past and which calls to us in a genuine emergency. We must set an example in such days as these which will affect those who follow after us. In order that so far as possible the request of every church desiring a speaker to promote the Extra Dollar giving shall be granted, not only are all the members of the staff prepared to answer to their utmost extent calls for Sunday and weekdays during May and June, but there has also been assembled an additional force of speakers, including missionaries and ministers, upon whom the churches may call for this especial service. There are still many churches not awake to this fine opportunity. It is earnestly hoped that the old Commonwealth will manifest her faithfulness to our great Congregational missions.

Although the foregoing matters have been esteemed of prime importance, there remains one other equally important consideration. Massachusetts Congregationalists do not yet understand what has taken place in the merger of 1928. Perhaps four years is too short a time to have the far-reaching effects of the merger appreciated. It is not from impatience that this matter is pressed upon the attention of all. It is a source of some embarrassment and of some misrepresentation also that so many do not seem to realize that anything has happened. The Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society is still referred to very frequently as the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society. That the old and honorable name so full of achievements should still persist is not surprising, but in the organization which Massachusetts Congregationalists now have, the former work of the Home Missionary Society is only one of the major departments. The Woman's Department, which not long ago was a separate organization, is now merged in the Conference. The missionary promotional work, which up to within a very few years was conducted by the missionary societies exclusively, is now one of the great departments of the Conference doing its work in closest cooperation with the Commission on Missions and its Promotional Council, and with the national societies. The Conference takes as one of its great responsibilities a large share in raising the apportionment for missions from all the churches in Massachusetts. Increasingly, and now to a very large annual amount, the funds of the 600 Congregational churches of Massachusetts are sent to the Conference to be dispersed to the national societies. This is not a task which the Conference has reached out to perform, but one which has been brought to us through the changes made by the National Council, beginning in 1925, by which direct and heavy burdens in missionary promotion were laid upon the state organizations.

All the work of the former Massachusetts State Conference is being carried on by the Conference, including an increasing service in religious education and among the young people. As a part of the general promotional work, the Conference maintains a speakers' bureau for Massachusetts, sending out nearly two thousand speakers to our Massachusetts churches in a single year, while the project department reaches from every missionary society into every church with increasing effectiveness.

It must not be thought for a moment that the work formerly done by the Home Missionary Society in aiding churches and keeping in touch with the pastors and church leaders of such churches has been in any way lessened. Not only is one secretary charged with this work, but the President and the Treasurer are greatly concerned with the care of certain churches in addition to their own particular functions. The amount of service rendered by the Conference to all the churches in ways which cannot be enumerated by departments has become surprisingly great. It touches churches at every point of their life, and nothing affords greater satisfaction than to feel that the Conference is meeting a great need which was vaguely felt before 1928 but had by no means been estimated as to its extent. There is still a great deal that ought to be done, especially respecting the small churches which are not aided, many of whose ministers are not Congregationalists and whose relation to our general Conference life and work is little more than nominal. They are really the weakest churches in the whole sisterhood and they come less freely to us than the other churches. We are moving constructively to be of aid to them as freely and in all such ways as to the churches generally.

Because some criticism has not unnaturally arisen from the misunderstanding which has been referred to, concerning the costs and efficiency of the work of the staff, the Board of Trustees has voted to make what is in effect an appraisal of the efficiency and costs of the work done. And because such criticism as has been made involves the Board of Trustees as well as the staff, the Board has authorized a committee of nine, consisting of three laymen, three ministers and three women, who shall make a thorough appraisal and report to the Board. In this respect, the Board of Trustees followed closely a precedent set by the executive committee of the Commission on Missions recently which appointed a similar committee of appraisal. To this committee of nine there were added at the Annual Meeting at Quincy four, making the committee thirteen in number, only four of whom are members of the Board of Trustees. The fact that in these days it is well for all organizations to look carefully to their costs has its bearing, and it is to be noted in this connection that the Trustees have made a reduction in salaries of all the members of the office staff in line with other reductions which have been made by national and state bodies. It is high time that such a general appraisal should be made because of the rapid growth and extraordinary development of the functions of the Conference.

FREDERICK HARLAN PAGE.

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF WOMAN'S WORK OF THE MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY

In previous years the report of the Woman's Department has stated clearly the aims of our Congregational Church body and how our Massachusetts organizations serve the local church and community and the larger areas of state and country. This year this report will state simply and briefly what the past year has meant.

And first, we may confidently affirm that the Woman's Department now realizes the fact of the merger. Through its share in the Trustees' meeting, its membership on the General Conference, Missionary and Apportionment, Special Aid and Religious Education committees, it enters into the deliberations which shape the policy and activities of our governing state body. Associated, as it is, with the New England Regional Committee of the Commission on Missions, with the more recently organized Regional Committee on Social Relations, and with the Massachusetts Federation of Churches, it is constantly enlarging its horizon and its scope of action. The New England Presidents of Women's Work (so-called) have met three times informally to exchange data of experience, and have found the comparison of methods most stimulating. Of the larger gatherings in which our department has been represented by the secretary and chairman should be listed:

Promotional Council at Cedar Hill
Northfield Missionary Institute in September
New England Regional Meeting in Portland in October
Convocation of Conference and Associations at Cambridge.

And the chairman was chosen to attend the mid-winter meeting in New York.

Through these larger contacts the department is kept constantly aware of the growing concreteness into which the aims and methods of missionary work are being developed and the widening interpretation of our faith in social action.

The Woman's Department has had a crowded year of rich and varied activity. It has held executive board meetings in June, September, November, January and March of the current season, at which it has been the aim of the chairman to make opportunities for exchange of ideas and experience as well as for transaction of necessary business. It has held the monthly Pilgrim Hall meetings with such outstanding speakers as Dr. D. D. T. Jabavu of South Africa and Prof. Lucius C. Porter of China, to mention only two. And our women are becoming increasingly aware that these occasions furnish too valuable material for them to miss.

The Districts, fifteen in number, carrying out as they do the state program in their localities, are an increasingly vital link in our organization. They are in closer touch with the individual woman's association than the department can hope to be, and serve as a clearing house for the information and duties which belong to the women of our denomination.

The Executive Secretary, Mrs. Mabel S. Badger, has sent out 110 communications, questionnaires programs, etc., several of these going to the 450 women's societies in Massachusetts so that thousands of communications are handled by this department yearly. She has also edited the increasingly valuable Bulletin; promoted the Red Cross work; and arranged for 435 speaking appointments in addition to 125 taken by herself and the chairman. Besides this, her less spectacular, but perhaps most helpful, work lies in being consultant-in-chief to scores of our women who have come to look upon the office at 14 Beacon Street as a Mecca.

The Dollar Plan has been actively promoted by the department through its secretary, executive committee, and District presidents, and through participation of our women members in the various Associations.

Ten years ago a group of local presidents of women's church organizations was called together to discuss their common administrative problems and the benefits from these conferences were so valuable that the meetings grew to be an annual affair. Under the merger of 1928 it became apparent that the need for such a separate organization no longer existed and its executive committee has been now organized as a council for executives under the Woman's Department, being charged with the duty of studying and promoting the responsibility of local executives to the department.

In conclusion the department has attempted to convert into experience its oneness with the Conference by its relation to the Board of Trustees, its participation in the Association affairs and its entrance through individual women into all the administrative committee work of the local church. It has tried through the utterances of its officers and other speakers to emphasize its sense of the importance of the state organization as a powerful unifying factor in welding our common faith into a working social and spiritual force. It sees one task only for its women as they fearlessly face the world today: that of intelligent, kindly service in the name of Christ. It recognizes no forbidden areas for its usefulness, and in so doing, offers opportunity for the full play of the interest and ability of every Congregational woman in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

FLORENCE W. GROVER,
Chairman of the Department of Woman's Work.

REPORT OF FINDINGS OF SEMINAR ON CHURCH ATTENDANCE

The deep interest in the matter of church attendance — or non attendance — was manifested in the unusually large number present at the various sessions of the Seminar.

The vital importance of the subject is so well stated by Roger Babson, Chairman of the National Commission on Church Attendance, in a letter to Secretary Burton, that we quote from it as follows:

"The first step in developing any industry, commerce, or art is to get people interested therein. The first task of every merchant is to get people into his store. This principle must be accepted by the churches in connection with their work. The spiritual life of the church is very dependent upon the members hearing each Sunday the Christ message; the moral life of the community is directly related to church attendance; gifts to missions come almost exclusively from the church-going people; while contributions for maintenance of the church, the minister and other local activities, are almost directly proportional to church attendance. I am sure that statistics will show that it is very difficult to arouse interest in missions among those who do not attend church.

The Commission on Church Attendance therefore is not interested in church attendance per se; but rather because, in practice, church attendance seems fundamental to developing spiritual life, inspiring a moral community, creating an interest in missions, and collecting a good working budget. The Commission knows that church attendance might be large without any of the above results; but experience shows that the above results do not occur without church attendance, which is the first step. This is why Mr. Rugg says 'It is much more important to count the people than to count the money.'"

In other words it is impossible to go on propagating the things of the Kingdon of God generation after generation without that faith which grounds itself in worship of the Eternal Father through the Lord Jesus Christ.

Much of the time of the Seminar was spent in emphasizing and reaffirming this truth of the necessity of worship which is largely a matter of the church, since men will not worship anywhere except as they learn to worship somewhere. We recognize the Gospel is a social Gospel that redeems institutions. But the apostles of Jesus have as their first duty the redemption of individuals, that afterward institutions may be redeemed through their life. We might as well attempt to alter decimals as to try to remake society without this remake of men. If we had a brand new social system tomorrow with the old selfishness, we should be back to the old conditions the day after. No man can be a good collectivist without being a good individualist and we cannot get a perfect whole out of imperfect parts. Nothing but the new life in Christ can radically change character and nothing but radically changed character can give us a changed and better world. Hence the importance of attendance at church, the place where man meets man solely as man and hears the mandate of the eternal God for human life and finds the inspiration for every form of human institution that makes for the common good and builds the city of our God.

The report of Mr. Charles J. McCullough, statistician of the National Commission on Church Attendance, who gave an interesting summary compiled from the answers to questionnaires sent by Mr. Babson to about a thousand churches in different parts of the country, showed a slight trend upward in the average attendance in these churches, which is presumably true as a whole; but the gain is so slight as to be almost negligible and the attendance is alarmingly small in view of the importance of worship.

The seminar suggested that this year particular stress be laid on this matter of church attendance and that the responsibility rests in the last analysis on the minister. It was requested that all the churches secure the blanks furnished freely by the Commission on Church Attendance, Babson Park, Massachusetts, for keeping accurate records of the Sunday church attendance.

The Seminar recommends that in view of the importance of this matter and the deep concern, the subject be brought to the attention of the proper committee and be given a place on the program of the forthcoming National Council at Cleveland.

Respectfully submitted,
WINFIELD S. RANDALL,
Leader of Seminar.

REPORT OF THE FINDINGS OF THE SEMINAR ON RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The following statement does not represent findings voted by the Seminar or proposed to the Conference for approval; it is simply a statement of major emphases. Two main themes were considered:

1. Is Religious Education Doing Its Job?

Religious Education is not doing its job when it is satisfied with mere knowledge. Tests indicate that there is little or no correlation between Biblical knowledge and ethical behavior. Our emphases must be on attitudes, behavior, conduct and ideals and not simply on knowledge. Clearly defined objectives should be kept in mind and there should be a definite plan of work toward their realization.

To do its job, Religious Education must be specific in that it reaches into the present problems of our social order, such as contacts with other racial groups, friendship tours, the present industrial and international social order, a careful study of Christianity and economic questions, the peace and war problem and group thinking on other equally vital themes.

If Religious Education is to do its job, it must include loyalty to the church, local and universal, and to the tasks that the church ought to carry on. Loyalty to the local church and the denomination becomes merely the means toward larger ends.

We must not separate the church school from the church. We must give the church financial responsibility for its school and the school a sense of responsibility for its church.

2. The Religion of the Church School Teacher

It must include sincerity, unselfishness, self-control. Sincerity includes co-operation, preparation and promptness. There must be discipline in the school and this includes silence as, for example, in worship. The inquiring mind is more important than any particular amount of education that a leader has.

The religion of the church school teacher must include a satisfying idea of God. Recognizing that there will be many and varying ideas of God, we have a right to assume that one's ideas shall be (a) Christian; (b) a God for present-day life; (c) a purposeful God; (d) a personal God; (e) a growing conception of God. More time should be spent in group discussion of these ideas under competent leadership than in spending so much time on questions of method.

The chief aim of the church school teacher should be to "make people." He should know the Bible and people. He should have a knowledge of people rather than a knowledge of card catalogs about people. The work of the church school is often so unsatisfactory as to make many wonder as to its usefulness. It has justified itself, however, to the extent to which leaders seriously care about people.

SEMINAR ON THE PLACE OF THE CHURCH IN SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC PROGRESS

The findings of this Seminar were adopted by the Conference with minor changes and are reported on page 31 of these Minutes.

SEMINAR ON WORLD-MINDEDNESS

Owing to the absence of the leaders of this Seminar it has been impossible to secure the findings.

REPORT OF SECRETARY OF MISSIONARY PROMOTION

Missionary Promotion as a responsibility of the State Conference for the keeping up of the State proportion of total apportionment support is an educational process. The main emphasis is not only cooperation in the regular and special financial efforts for all the Boards, Home and Foreign, but the helping of the churches to a better self-realization of spiritual capacity through wider intelligence of human world problems in terms of their projects, and the sharing not only of money but devotion in the common objective of our fellowship.

Twenty-nine Sunday morning addresses were given during the season between May, 1931, and May, 1932, interpreting to churches the aims and motives of modern missions through the projects of the church addressed, nine Sunday evening addresses as well as teaching a class for six Sunday evenings in the fall, twenty-five week-day addresses to women's, men's, or young people's groups, twenty addresses to Associations and Conferences.

"The Challenge of Change" was taught in four Missionary Institutes, a total of twenty class periods.

A training class on Missionary Education Methods was taught at Salem for twelve Monday nights.

The Leadership Institute was held at Northfield in late September for the purpose of better coordination of the religious education and missionary promotion aims and methods. This was very successful and was followed by five similar institutes in local Associations.

Three Laymen's Luncheons were set up in the late fall in Boston, Worcester and Springfield to discuss the church and missionary financial situation.

Special preaching missions were conducted for a week each in the churches at East Springfield, Harvard and Millers Falls, in which the deepening of spiritual life was accompanied by conferences with church leaders on their missionary and educational problems.

The Promotional Secretary had the privilege of a three-weeks' trip south during the weeks just before and after Easter, with the cooperation of the American Missionary Association, the Extension Boards, and the State Conference. Eight A. M. A. schools and colleges were visited and nine other institutions. Eleven areas under the Extension Boards' work with white and colored churches in rural and city fields were seen, in which five addresses were given to churches and seven conferences with pastors and church workers were held. The sense of partnership in our relations between Massachusetts churches and our Projects in these fields is greatly stimulated by such a visit, and the Promotional Secretary is glad to pass on his impressions and findings to any churches interested.

The Dollar Plan appeal, initiated by the Commission on Missions early in the year to meet the serious situation caused by the nearly $500,000 loss in 1931 givings, has met with hearty cooperation by the Trustees and the Committee on Missions and Apportionment. Members of both bodies have taken personal assignments for interviewing pastors with effective results. Association Missionary Committees have canvassed their churches. Regional Secretary Judson L. Cross and Miss Ruth Seabury of the American Board have been of very great assistance around the Boston area.

312 of our 607 churches have taken 65,000 Dollar coin cards. Cash returns are just coming in totalling at present about $3,385. Many churches could not undertake a special appeal until late in the spring on account of financial canvasses. The heavy returns will come in after the Conference Meeting.

This promotional service is only part of the total rendered by the staff of the State Conference. Mrs. Carver, the Project Secretary, Mrs. Badger of the Woman's Department, Mrs. Allbright, the Young People's Secretary, as well as President Page, Treasurer Sewall, and Secretary Bliss, all are answering demands from the churches for assistance through speaking and conference. The office has also made approximately 1,400 speaking appointments for foreign and home missionaries in the churches of the State. With the staff appointments the total is 2,000.

More than half of the 607 churches have been visited by the Promotional Secretary in the last six years, several of them more than once for speaking and teaching. The demand for help is constant. Appointments run weeks ahead. What the result would be if this constant and continuous service to the churches should be let up can only be a conjecture. The fact remains that in spite of the inevitable decrease in missionary support, 28 per cent of our churches met their full apportionments, 22 per cent increased their giving over 1930, and 5 per cent kept their usual level.

The sympathetic and intelligent cooperation of a large proportion of our pastors is a great asset. The Association Missionary Committees have been of great assistance in several of their areas. The State Conference Committee on Missions and Apportionment is an invaluable clearing house for intelligent planning of the approach to our missionary promotional problems, and has been of very definite assistance to the Commission on Missions.

Underneath all the maze of present difficulties in the administration and maintaining of our world-wide missionary service, lies the necessity for a deeper and stronger spiritual realization of what Christ means to the world because of what He should mean to us as individuals. It is not so much the sharing of money as the sharing of a Spirit that is demanded. The devotional consciousness of God's purpose and power for our needs internationally, inter-racially, and in our communities must result in a rebirth of prayer and personal consecration if there is to be a marked change for the better. This is the moving evangel of our purpose in promoting the mission of the church to the world today among our Massachusetts churches.

ASA M. PARKER,
Secretary of Missionary Promotion.

REPORT OF THE REGISTRAR

For the first time in our 133 years the Conference meets in Quincy. Only once before since 1883 have we met in the Suffolk South Association territory, and only once in this century have we met within the limits of the old Norfolk Association to which Quincy formerly belonged. It is a new and happy experience therefore to find ourselves here.

The merger of Congregational and Christian churches has now progressed so far statistically that the new Year Book shows one roll instead of two in each state. Nineteen Christian organizations have therefore been distributed alphabetically among 606 Congregational names making our roll number 625. One of these Christian churches appears by courtesy only, as the church is said to have gone out of existence. Its building is in use by our Armenian mission in Haverhill. Memorial Church of Worcester has disbanded. The Central Congregational Church of Boston has merged with the First Presbyterian Church to form an independent organization, the Church of the Covenant. Presumably it will drop out of the Suffolk West Association and disappear from the state roll. A new member will be on next year's roll, Essex North Association having reported fellowshiping the North Parish Community Church of Haverhill.

For the first time in my experience I have to report a loss in Congregational membership. Thanks to the inclusion of 1,700 Christian church members our state total shows a net gain of 553, but the Congregational part of us is 1,147 smaller than last year. Roll revision is responsible. Last year the total fatalities of this nature jumped from 3,000 to 3,600. This year that figure looks conservative, for more than 4,800 names have been erased or in some instances reported as frozen assets. Twelve churches alone report a drastic shrinkage of over 2,500 members. We must go back 12 or 13 years to find smaller totals of accessions either by confession or by letter, or of removals by letter, while death has removed an average number. We have a total membership of 171,054, of whom 62,453 are men, 36.5 per cent of the whole, and 108,601 are women. There were 5,010 additions on confession and 3,088 by letter, totaling 8,098. Losses numbered 9,212 including 2,046 deaths and 2,305 letters. Sunday school enrolment is 114,968, showing an increase of 992 in addition to the Christian re-inforcements; and we must go back 26 years to find so large a total of young people listed in their various organizations, 29,337. This year's figures of baptisms are slightly in excess of last year's, but otherwise are the lowest in recent reports, 1,768 adults and 3,665 infants. An infant, one has occasionally to tell inquiring church clerks, is any child baptized but not into full membership; while any child old enough to join the church is counted an adult.

Were it possible, one would gladly omit comment on the charities of the churches. Our total benevolence shows a drop of exactly one-sixth. The budgeted apportionment is down 15.6 per cent, the unbudgeted 26 per cent, and miscellaneous benevolence 17 per cent. The respective totals are $66,151 for state work, $264,124 for foreign, $201,053 for the home boards, $39,743 for unbudgeted apportionment, making the apportionment total $571,071; miscellaneous gifts of $171,172 bringing the grand total up to $742,243, the smallest in a dozen years.

As to local finances the reporting varies from year to year. A downtown church on a costly site may report an estimated valuation one year and omit it the next. Some churches decline to make any exhibit of local finance in the columns of home expenses, salary and valuation. But as the figures stand we have spent $3,762,795 in parish administration, $67,000 more than last year, and we hold buildings and real estate worth a trifle over $36,000,000, a gain of a little more than a half million. In making this gain we have added $95,000 to our indebtedness, but we have increased endowments $650,000 to a total of $6,073,065. In a year of financial strain the churches have not cut the ministers' salaries appreciably. Last year the Congregational ministers averaged $2,294 and two-thirds of house rent; this year the salary is $4 smaller. Comparative statistics for the Christian churches are lacking, but this year the average salary is $1,409.

There are 782 ministers whose professional standing is held in the district associations of Massachusetts. Of these, 453 are pastors, though not all in this state, and there are 329 others scattered through Massachusetts and in 25 other states, three Canadian states and 10 other countries including Burma, South Africa and other regions less remote. The duty of keeping track of all these brethren rests primarily upon the local scribe, and if he happen to be a recent accession, fresh from the seminary, he will hardly be able to visualize a Baptist missionary in Burma or an A. M. A. teacher in Louisiana or a pastor emeritus in California as belonging intimately in his fold. In fact, some veteran scribes have no telescopes to use on distant members, and the conference registrar has in many cases the task of revising associational data. He also saves the local scribes the work of compiling the statistics of their respective associations, and his sheets of such reports are annually borrowed by scribes statistically inclined.

In thus preparing his own working copy of Massachusetts schedules for the Year Book, and printer's copy of the same, and associational copies for the local scribes, the registrar estimates that in his 24 years of service he has written into these schedules nearly 70,000 names of churches and officials and well on toward 2,000,000 figures. After the statistics were made up this year one church requested additional credit for a gift of $117 on apportionment and it necessitated the change of 63 figures on the registrar's sheets.

Eighteen ministers who held their standing in the Conference by virtue of associational membership, or in one case through pastoral service, have been removed by death. All but one had been Massachusetts pastors. All but one died in this state. Five were in the active pastorate: Walter T. Aiken of Mittineague, West Springfield; William A. Bacon of Mystic Side, Everett; Charles E. Beals of East Taunton; John J. Lockett of Oldtown, North Attleboro; and Charles H. Washburn of Burlington. Albert D. Smith was pastor emeritus at Milton. Elmer T. Blake and William W. McLane had very recently retired from active pastorates. George F. Moore and Henry M. Tyler were faculty members of Harvard and Smith, and John D. Willard had a visiting professorship at Columbia. Ellsworth W. Phillips was an official of the Worcester City Missionary Society. Robert W. Beers, Avery K. Gleason, William T. Jordan, David Allen Reed, Edward A. Tuck and George M. Whyte had all passed three score and ten, and were resting from careers that involved respectively three, five, one, one, one and two pastorates in this state besides experiences elsewhere in home and foreign missionary service and business.

MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY

TREASURER'S STATEMENT

For the year ending March 31, 1932

The Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society is no longer simply a missionary society for carrying on home missionary work in Massachusetts, such as it was when it bore the name of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society. It is now engaged in a number of other activities.

In order to get some idea of the costs of the various kinds of services performed, some re-arrangement of the statement as made by the auditor in the succeeding pages needs to be made.

A considerable part of the services of the office staff is direct home missionary service rendered in home missionary fields and churches. We estimate the cost of such service to be about $4,000. This amount should be subtracted from the total office expenditures, $48,548.36, and added to missionary aid.

Our analysis of expenditures is as follows:

Aid to Massachusetts Home Missionary Churches and fields	$124,857.74
Administration of Home Missionary work (less than 10%) .	15,752.36
Promotion (including missionary education) collecting, accounting of missionary contributions for all our missionary societies, the American Board, the Congregational Home Boards, the M. C. C. & M. S., and the Boston Seaman's Friend Society	22,596.00
(13% of the cost is chargeable to expense of contributions to M. C. C. & M. S. — 87% to work for the Commission on Missions, American Board, Congregational Home Boards and Boston Seaman's Friend Society).
Care and administration of Trust Funds for churches . . .	1,200.00
Administration of Massachusetts Conference matters and assistance to independent churches	5,000.00
Total missionary aid and office expenditures	$169,406.10

Frederick Harlan Page, Esq., D.D., President,

Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society,

Boston, Mass.

Sir:

We have audited the accounts of the Treasurer of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society and of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, Trustee, for the year ending March 31, 1932, and we hereby certify that income receiveable from invested funds and deposits with banks has been duly accounted for; that all other income shown by the books of the Society has been duly accounted for; that all payments have been properly vouched; that the securities representing the invested funds have been produced to us; that the cash in banks has been verified, and that the accompanying financial statements correctly exhibit the condition of the funds in the hands of the Society as at the close of business on March 31, 1932, and the Treasurer's transactions during the year ending at that date.

Respectfully submitted,

PATTERSON, TEELE & DENNIS.

BEQUESTS

Bequests to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society are used to aid weak churches and to promote the work and interests of the Conference in the State. The practice of the Conference is to divide unrestricted legacies into three equal parts. One part is used for current work; one part is added to the Permanent Legacy Fund, the income only of which is used for general purposes; and the third part is added to a Contingent Fund, the principal of which may be drawn upon to care for special undertakings or to avoid a deficit. Bequests may be made permanent funds by the donor, and the Conference restricted to use only of income.

Bequests to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society pay no Massachusetts inheritance tax.

FORM OF BEQUEST

I give to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the sum of........................Dollars.

TRUST FUNDS

The Conference is glad to receive bequests to be held in trust for the benefit of churches. No charge is made for administering such trusts.

Bequests are frequently made by devoted, generous men and women to our churches. It is not an easy matter for parish committees, some of which have had no experience in handling trust funds, to make wise and safe investments. The Conference feels that it has a legitimate concern in seeing that the principal and income of these funds are properly safeguarded. It therefore strongly urges churches to place such funds in its care. The Conference has exceptional facilities for keeping funds safely and investing them profitably and wisely. The Board of Trustees of the Conference, which has charge of all its funds, contains men of large ability and experience in such matters. The churches may avail themselves of the service of this ability and experience without expense.

CONDITIONAL GIFTS

The Conference receives conditional gifts, subject to annuity agreements with the donors, and encourages this method for those who wish any part of their property to be applied to our work after their death, and desire an assured income from this property for themselves, or for others whom they may designate as beneficiaries, so long as they live. Correspondence with the Treasurer concerning such annuity agreements is invited.

THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF SPRINGFIELD

PRESIDENT, REV. GARRETT V. STRYKER

CLERK, REV. JOHN B. LEWIS TREASURER, JOHN A. DALE

In coöperation with the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, the Congregational Union of Springfield supervises the home missionary work in Springfield.

All contributions for home missionary work in Massachusetts by the churches of Springfield should be made to the Congregational Union, and will be credited on the apportionment. In accordance with the mutual agreement between the two organizations, ten per cent, of the contributions for current work received by the Union is paid over to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

The Congregational Union of Springfield is incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts and may receive bequests and hold property.

THE WORCESTER CITY MISSIONARY SOCIETY

PRESIDENT, EDWIN G. NORMAN, ESQ.
RECORDING SECRETARY REV. HARRISON L. PACKARD
TREASURER, EBENEZER G. SEAL

The Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society by agreement with the Worcester City Missionary Society, is responsible for the financial assistance and the supervision of home missionary churches in Worcester in their current work, while the Worcester City Missionary Society represents the fellowship of the Congregational churches of the city in aid to churches in the matter of their property, contributing toward the purchase and maintenance of property and the payment of building debts.

Contributions for home missions from the churches in Worcester, to be credited on the apportionment, should be sent to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society. Contributions for the local work, given in addition to the apportionment and not to be credited as a part of it, should be sent to the treasurer of the Worcester City Missionary Society.

GRANTS FROM THE MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY

1. Wherever a community is too distant from a church to benefit from its privileges, the Conference encourages the establishment of regular religious services, and, if possible, the organization of a church, or a branch of a neighboring church.

2. Applications by any church for financial aid should be made by the vote of the church, and upon forms furnished by the Conference, and should have the approval of the Advisory or Missionary Committee of the local Association of Churches.

3. Churches applying for aid must show that they have met in full all financial obligations to their ministers and are doing their utmost toward self-support.

4. In granting aid the Conference will appropriate different amounts according to the necessity, importance, and prospects of each field.

5. Every church aided by the Conference must consult the President or Secretary before making arrangements for pastoral service.

6. Whenever the service of the minister or other worker, for whose support an appropriation is made, shall terminate, the appropriation shall lapse, except for special reasons satisfactory to the President.

7. The Conference advocates adequate compensation for every minister and worker.

8. The Conference favors hearty coöperation with other denominations the avoidance of overlapping and completing work, and the consolidation or federation of churches of different denominations in over-churched communities.

It has been voted to omit from this volume the Reports of Boards and Committees which were printed in the Advance Reports and distributed before the meeting in Quincy. STATISTICAL TABLES

EXPLANATORY

The tables which follow comprise:

1. The statistics of the churches, giving the ministers, church membership, additions, removals, Sunday schools, and the amount of benevolences and expenses. These tables, in accordance with the vote of the Conference, in 1887, are made to conform to those in the Year Book; but names in the pastoral column are changed according to the latest information before going to press.

2. The Associations of the churches, with the names of officers and the times of meeting.

3. The Ministerial Standing, giving the date of ordination of each minister, the date of membership, the residence and his "employment." "P. C." means pastor by council; "P.," pastor otherwise; "W. C." means without church; other abbreviations are self-evident. "W. C.," however, includes many who have retired from active service, and some who are in business.

4. The Ministerial Record containing lists of ordinations, installations, dismissals, and deaths.

The tables of the first part contain the names of all the Congregational churches in Massachusetts, the towns and cities being arranged alphabetically; churches in each town according to age. If the post office name of the church and the town name differ, a footnote on the page where the post office name would naturally be found will direct the reader to the town name.

Church members and families are reported as numbered January 1, 1932. Admissions and removals cover the year 1931. "Absent" are not additional to "males," "females" and "total," but included in them. "Sunday school" includes total membership of officers, teachers and scholars, January 1, 1932, or when the school is in operation (if not at that date), covering "branch schools," "mission schools" and "home departments," so far as maintained by the reporting church.

The months and days in the dates of the organization of churches are omitted. They will be found in the publications of 1873, those of churches since organized being given in the "Minutes" of each year. Also the months and days in the dates of ordination and installation of ministers are omitted. The former may be found in the lists of the local Associations which follow the tables.

"Ordained" denotes the date on which the person was originally set apart to the ministry by the "laying-on of hands." "Commenced" denotes the date of the beginning of his present pastorate.

In accordance with the recommendation of the National Council, in the Statistical Tables pastors installed are marked "i."; pastors recognized by a council called for that purpose are marked "r."; pastors duly called by their churches, but not installed or recognized by council, are not marked; "y" before a pastor's name indicates that he has a yoked (double or triple) field.

Blanks in any column of figures are never equivalent to "none," but mean "no report"; but blanks in the column of ministers do mean that the church has no pastor or acting pastor, and the blank is left for the convenience of those who note changes.

Under Sunday Schools, "c" denotes cradle roll, "h" home department, "e" both cradle roll and home department, and "b" a mission or branch school.

In the final column, under valuation of church property, an asterisk * indicates that the church has a parsonage (value included), or in a very few cases that house rent for the minister is paid in addition to the stated salary.

The condensed form in which the Year Book tables are published this year offers the reader an opportunity for personal computation, as, for example, to find the number of female members, subtract the number of male members from the total.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF MINISTERS

This list gives the names of pastors, or acting pastors, and of all Congregational ministers who are members of the Associations or Conferences that guard ministerial standing.

Ministers who are not reported as having ministerial standing in this state, and who have not been installed by council, are designated by a star (*). This does NOT mean that the man has no ministerial standing.

The first column of figures gives the page on which names may be found of all in pastoral service. A blank in the first column signifies that the person is not reported as being in pastoral service in this state.

The second column of figures gives the page on which ministerial standing is recorded.

The post-office addresses as given below often differ from the places named in the tables, and are supposed to be correct in this list.

An alphabetical list of licentiates follows this list.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—IF your name is not correctly printed in the preceding tables, IF one Christian name is not given in full, IF your ordination is not correct or is not in its proper place, IF your post-office is wrong, or IF before you receive the next Year-Book your post-office is changed, or IF your name is omitted from this list, the needed change or correction should be reported at once to the Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass., Registrar of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

BY-LAWS OF THE MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY

ARTICLE I

Terminology

Whenever in these by-laws the word "Conference" is used it shall be held to refer to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

ARTICLE II

Denominational Basis

Following Congregational principles, this Conference shall under no circumstances exercise authority over churches or individuals or interfere with the government or discipline of the churches. It shall advise and counsel the churches when requested, but it is recognized that each church has the power of self-determination in all matters.

ARTICLE III

Doctrinal Basis

This Conference declares its steadfast allegiance to the faith which our fathers confessed, which, from age to age, has found its expression in the historic creeds of the Church Universal and of this Communion.

ARTICLE IV

Membership

1. Each evangelical Congregational church in this Commonwealth may annually choose two delegates (of whom, it is suggested, one shall be a layman and the other a lay-woman) and these delegates, together with the pastor or pastors of each church (who shall be members ex officio), the officers of the Conference (including the members of the Board of Trustees), the committee members of the Conference, and those persons who prior to May 22, 1923, became life members of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, shall constitute the voting membership of the Conference.

2. Delegates from corresponding bodies and persons appointed to speak before the Conference, together with all persons heretofore constituted honorary members of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, such persons as may be made honorary members by a vote of the Board of Trustees, and such other persons as the Conference may from time to time vote to admit, shall be honorary members of the Conference, with the privilege of speaking, but without vote.

ARTICLE V

Officers

1. There shall be a moderator, one or more vice-moderators, a president, a secretary, a recording secretary, a secretary of Missionary Promotion, a project secretary, a secretary of the Department of Woman's Work, a registrar, a treasurer, and an auditor, all of whom shall be elected by ballot at the annual meeting of the Conference and shall hold office for one year and until their respective successors are chosen and qualified. The chairman and vice-chairman of the Department of Woman's Work shall also be elected by ballot at the annual meeting of the Conference from among the women members of the Board of Trustees and shall in like manner hold office for one year and until their respective successors are chosen and qualified.

2. There shall be a Board of Trustees consisting of twenty-four members (at least one third of whom shall be women) together with the moderator of the Conference ex officio. The trustees in office at the date of the adoption of these by-laws shall serve for the full terms for which they were respectively elected. At the annual meeting of 1928, two trustees to serve for one year, two to serve for two years, two to serve for three years, and two to serve for four years, shall be elected by ballot. At the annual meeting of 1929 and at each annual meeting thereafter six trustees, each to serve for four years, shall be so elected. No trustee after serving a full term of four years shall be eligible for re-election until after one year. Eight members of the board shall constitute a quorum. At its first meeting after each annual meeting of the Conference the Board shall choose one of its members to serve as chairman for the ensuing year. Except as otherwise provided in the charter of the Conference or in these by-laws, the Board shall administer and dispose of the property of the Conference and shall manage all its business and affairs, and all officers and agents of the Conference shall act under its direction. Without restricting the generality of the foregoing, the Board shall in particular have the following powers: —

(a) To choose a clerk, to appoint its own meetings and form its own rules of business, to appoint sub-committees and to delegate any of its powers to such committees.

(b) To appoint and, at pleasure, remove all agents of the Conference and to define their duties.

(c) To fill any vacancy in any office of the Conference (including vacancies in the membership of the Board) until the vacancy shall be filled at a succeeding meeting of the Conference.

(d) To remove any officer of the Conference (other than members of the Board) who may be guilty of disregard of his duties or of such conduct as shall be seriously prejudicial to the interests of the Conference.

(e) To direct efforts to promote missionary interest and giving among the Congregational churches of the Commonwealth.

3. The terms of all officers, save when chosen to fill vacancies, shall begin at the close of the meeting at which they are elected.

ARTICLE VI

Duties of Officers

1. The moderator, or in his absence, one of the vice-moderators, shall preside over all meetings of the Conference.

2. The president shall be the chief executive officer of the Conference and shall, subject to the direction of the Conference and of its Board of Trustees, have general charge of its missionary and benevolent work and of its other activities. He shall be a member ex officio of all standing committees named in the by-laws with the exception of the nominating committee. He shall be the representative of the Conference and of its Board of Trustees among all the churches (both those financially independent and those aided by the funds of the Conference) and in all denominational and interdenominational gatherings (including meetings of state superintendents) unless representation is otherwise provided. He shall, when requested, assist a pastor or church with fraternal counsel. He shall keep informed as to opportunities for extension work through founding new churches or strengthening old ones and shall recommend to the Conference and to the Board of Trustees measures for meeting such opportunities.

3. The secretary shall keep the records of the Conference and shall assist in its general work under the direction of the president. He shall devote himself, in particular, to the care and oversight of churches financially aided by the Conference and shall perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Board of Trustees. He shall have the custody of the records and of all bonds given by the treasurer as hereinafter provided. He shall furnish copies of the record certified under the seal of the Conference (which shall be in his keeping) to such persons as may be entitled thereto.

4. The recording secretary shall assist the secretary in keeping the records of the Conference and shall take his place at meetings of the Conference in his absence. The Board of Trustees may, in their discretion, appoint a deputy to assist in the keeping of the records under the direction of the recording secretary.

5. The secretary of missionary promotion, with the help and advice of the Committee on Missions and Apportionment hereinafter provided, shall have the duty of advancing the interest of the churches in the work of missions at home and abroad. He shall, under the direction of the president, assist, so far as he may be able, in the general work of the Conference.

6. The project secretary shall be concerned with the assignment of missionary projects, both home and foreign, and shall perform such other duties as may be assigned to her by the Board of Trustees. She shall, under the direction of the president, assist, so far as she may be able, in the general work of the Conference.

7. The secretary of the Department of Woman's Work shall have special charge of promoting missionary interests and all other activities among the women of the Congregational churches of the Commonwealth. She shall, under the direction of the president, assist, so far as she may be able, in the general work of the Conference.

8. The registrar shall collect and publish in connection with the annual Report of the Conference the statistics of ministers and churches and make up the official roll of the ministers and churches in accordance with the usages of the denomination. He shall present to the Conference at its annual meeting a general statistical statement of the progress of religion in the churches for the past calendar year. He shall give suitable notice to the churches of the time and place of each annual meeting, notify officers and committees of their election or appointment and fulfill such other functions as the Conference or the Board of Trustees may from time to time direct.

9. The treasurer shall receive and hold the property of the Conference subject to the direction of the Board of Trustees and shall keep particular accounts of the Conference's funds and of the disposal thereof. He shall, under the direction of the president, assist, so far as he may be able, in the general work of the Conference and shall perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Board of Trustees. He shall make a report at each annual meeting of the Conference and shall make such other reports as the Conference or the Board of Trustees may from time to time require. He shall receive all contributions for benevolences sent to him by the churches and by individuals and shall disburse the same in accordance with the instructions of the donors. He shall give such bonds for the faithful performance of his duties as may from time to time be required by the Board of Trustees.

10. The auditor shall cause the accounts of the treasurer to be carefully audited at least once each year and shall make a report at each annual meeting of the Conference. He shall at such times as directed by the Board of Trustees examine the securities in the keeping of the treasurer.

ARTICLE VII

Department of Woman's Work

1. There shall be a Department of Woman's Work of the Conference. The object of this department shall be to enlist the earnest and systematic coöperation of Christian women in the cause of missions, to support the special work committed by the national Home and Foreign Boards of the denomination to this Commonwealth, to help to promote the entire work of the local church and to further in every way possible the cause of Christ. The voting members of this department shall be the women members of the Conference, together with such other women as may be determined by the rules of the department. The women members of the Board of Trustees of the Conference, together with an equal number of members to be elected by the department, shall constitute the Executive Committee of the department. This Executive Committee shall organize the membership of the department in whatever manner it may deem needful for the effective carrying on of the department's work.

2. The department shall provide by its rules for the appointment of a nominating committee, which shall propose to the nominating committee of the Conference the names of women members of the Board of Trustees and shall propose to the department the additional members of its executive committees. This nominating committee shall annually propose to the nominating committee of the Conference from among the women members of the Board of Trustees a chairman and a vice-chairman of the department.

ARTICLE VIII

Meetings

1. The Conference shall hold its regular annual meeting for the choice of officers, the hearing of reports, the discussion of matters of general interest and the transaction of other business at the appointed place on the third Monday of May at 2 P.M., or at such other time in the month of May as the Board of Trustees may deem expedient.

2. Special meetings of the Conference shall be convened at such times and places as may be determined by the Board of Trustees, provided, however, that notice of any special meeting so convened shall, at least one week before the date of the meeting, be sent by mail to each of the churches connected with the Conference, posted in the general office of the Conference and published in newspapers in Boston, Worcester and Springfield respectively.

3. The moderator or, in his absence, one of the vice-moderators or, in the absence of all of them, some member of the Board of Trustees shall call the Conference to order.

ARTICLE IX

Committees

1. Immediately after the opening of the annual meeting the moderator shall appoint:—

(a) A Committee on Credentials, to which all credentials shall be referred.

(b) A Business Committee, the duty of which shall be to prepare and present at each session all matters of business not presented through some other committee of the Conference.

2. The following standing committees shall be elected by viva voce vote:

(a) A Program Committee, of which the registrar of the Conference and the pastor of the church which is to entertain the next annual meeting shall be members ex officio. At the annual meeting of 1928, two members of this committee shall be elected to serve for one year, two to serve for two years and two to serve for three years. At each annual meeting thereafter two members shall be elected to serve for three years. This committee shall prepare the program for the next annual meeting and shall select the preacher of the annual sermon and the various speakers at each session.

(b) A Nominating Committee of seven, consisting of the retiring moderator of each annual meeting together with six other members, at least two of whom shall be women. This committee shall make all nominations required by these by-laws or by vote of the Conference. At the annual meeting of 1928, three members shall be elected to serve for one year and three to serve for two years. At each annual meeting thereafter three members shall be elected to serve for two years. The retiring members shall not be eligible for re-election for at least one year. The names of women proposed as provided in Article VII by the nominating committee of the Department of Woman's Work as candidates for election to the Board of Trustees and as chairman and vice-chairman of the department shall, if approved by the nominating committee of the Conference, be included in its report to the Conference.

(c) A Committee on Missions and Apportionment of which the members of the Committee on Missions and Apportionment of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference as heretofore constituted shall be members for the terms for which they were respectively chosen. At the annual meeting of 1928 the Conference shall elect from the Board of Trustees one member to serve for one year and from the churches at large two members to serve for three years. At the annual meeting of 1929 the Conference shall elect from the Board of Trustees two members to serve for one year and from the churches at large two members to serve for three years. At each annual meeting thereafter the Conference shall elect from the Board of Trustees three members to serve for one year and from the churches at large two members to serve for three years. The Committee shall represent the Conference in its relations with the national Commission on Missions, particularly in the following respects:

(i) In bringing before the Conference the amount proposed by the Commission on Missions as the total objective under the apportionment plan with a recommendation as to the fair share to be assumed by the Massachusetts churches.

(ii) In approving percentages for the distribution of Massachusetts contributions among the national societies and for work within the state.

(iii) In subdividing the total amounts recommended by the Massachusetts State Conference to be raised for the designated purposes and referring the amounts to the local associations and the individual churches for their acceptance.

(d) A committee on Religious Education, of which the members of the Committee on Religious Education of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference as heretofore constituted shall be members for the terms for which they were respectively chosen, together with such members of the executive staff of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference, not to exceed three members, as are related to educational activities, and as may be designated as ex officio members. At each annual meeting four members shall be elected to serve for three years. The duty of the committee shall be to foster in all the churches religious education, including education in matters concerning missions. This committee (or such other committee as the Conference may designate) shall supervise the State Committee of Congregational Young People (provision for which was made by vote of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference in 1927 and which shall be continued as contemplated by that vote until otherwise determined) such supervision to be exercised in the following ways:—

(i) The character and representative basis of membership of the State Committee of Congregational Young People to be subject to the approval of the supervising committee of the Conference;

(ii) Two members of the supervising committee of the Conference to serve ex officio as members of the State Committee of Congregational Young People;

(iii) Any action taken by the State Committee of Congregational Young People to be subject to the review and approval of the supervising committee of the Conference, which committee shall be authorized to pay out of the amount voted to it by the Conference such a sum as it may deem advisable toward the necessary expenses of the State Committee of Congregational Young People.

3. Such other committees as the Conference may vote to constitute shall be elected by viva voce vote at each annual meeting for such terms as the Conference shall determine. The Board of Trustees shall present at each annual meeting a list of the committees the appointment of which it recommends.

4. It shall be the general practice of the Conference, without making it an arbitrary rule, that at least one-third of its Committee members be women.

5. The reports of all committees that are to be presented to the Conference shall be furnished to the registrar on or before April 1 of each year, and shall be printed and distributed to the churches not less than two weeks before the annual meeting. These reports shall not be read to the Conference save by special order, but the Program Committee may arrange for the adequate discussion of any or all of the topics presented in the reports.

ARTICLE X

Board of Ministerial Aid

6. All matters of business referred to any committee shall be reported for action before the final adjournment of the annual meeting.

7. As far as possible, all business of the Conference shall be completed by noon of the second day of the annual meeting.

ARTICLE XV

Rules of Order

The Rules of Order shall be those of common parliamentary usage subject to the following specifications:

(a) No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without leave of the Conference.

(b) When a question is before the Conference the Moderator shall entertain motions only as follows:— to adjourn, to table, for the previous question, to postpone to a fixed time, to commit, to amend or to postpone indefinitely; these several motions shall have precedence in the foregoing order.

(c) No vote not essential to the conduct of the business of the Conference shall be passed except by a two-thirds vote, nor shall any such vote be passed, except by unanimous consent, until at least fifteen minutes shall have been allowed for debate.

2. Either of Articles II, III and IV may be amended by a two-thirds vote, but only after the proposed amendment has been submitted to the Conference in writing at the previous annual meeting and notice has been sent to the several churches connected with the Conference at least three months prior to the meeting at which action is to be taken.

Consideration of the Appraisal Committee's report was continued.

It was Voted: That the Project Plan be modified to the extent that each church be encouraged to take two or three projects which will absorb the larger part of its missionary interest and giving; but that no attempt be made to assign to projects all of a church's apportionment contributions. We are confident that this modification will conserve all of the values and advantages of the Project Plan and will at the same time be more economical for the Conference and much more satisfactory for the churches.

Voted: That the pastors be urged to seek reasonably frequent presentation of missionary interests in their churches, either by officers or secretaries of the Board or by missionaries themselves. The traveling expenses, unless otherwise arranged for, should be met by the Board.

Voted: That those responsible for the appointment of missionary speakers should, whenever practicable, arrange for itineraries so as to reduce the cost of travel expenses. In visits of secretaries or missionaries arrangements should be made for informal meetings with small groups with full opportunity for questions and discussion.

The Appraisal Committee proposed the following substitute recommendation for 15b, which was adopted: That the Conference at this meeting make no selection for the position of Secretary of Missionary Education and Promotion and that the filling of this position as to person and time be left to the Board of Trustees.

The Appraisal Committee then presented the proposed By-laws with modifications to correspond to the former votes and amendments.

BY-LAWS OF THE MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY

ARTICLE I

Terminology

Whenever in these by-laws the word "Conference" is used it shall be held to refer to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

ARTICLE II

Denominational Basis

Following Congregational principles, this Conference shall under no circumstances exercise authority over churches or individuals or interfere with the government or discipline of the churches. It shall advise and counsel the churches when requested, but it is recognized that each church has the power of self-determination in all matters.

ARTICLE III

Doctrinal Basis

This Conference declares its steadfast allegiance to the faith which our fathers confessed, which, from age to age, has found its expression in the historic creeds of the Church Universal and of this Communion.

ARTICLE IV

Membership

Voting Members. Each evangelical Congregational church in this Commonwealth may annually choose two delegates (of whom, it is suggested, one shall be a layman and the other a laywoman) and these delegates, together with the pastor or pastors of each church (who shall be members ex officio), the officers of the Conference (including the members of the Board of Trustees), the committee members of the Conference, and those persons who prior to May 22, 1923, became life members of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, shall constitute the voting membership of the Conference.

Honorary Members. Delegates from corresponding bodies and persons appointed to speak before the Conference, together with all persons heretofore constituted honorary members of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, such persons as may be made honorary members by a vote of the Board of Trustees, and such other persons as the Conference may from time to time vote to admit, shall be honorary members of the Conference, with the privilege of speaking, but without vote.

VIII, sec. 2), all of whom shall be nominated by the nominating committee hereinafter provided for, and elected by ballot at each annual meeting of the Conference for a term of one year and until their respective successors are chosen.

2. The executive officers of the Conference shall be a President, a Secretary, a Treasurer, a Secretary of Missionary Education and Promotion, a Secretary of the Department of Woman's Work, a Young People's Secretary, and a Registrar. These officers shall constitute the Executive Staff. They shall be nominated by the Board of Trustees meeting in executive session, and elected by ballot at each annual meeting of the Conference for a term of one year and until their respective successors are chosen.

years, and no member having served a full term shall be eligible for re-election until after one year. The present Trustee shall remain in office until the expiration of their terms.

The Conference shall from time to time designate the Associations from which Trustees are to be chosen in the successive years and determine whether the Trustee to be chosen from a particular Association in any year shall be a minister, a layman, or a laywoman.

Each Association shall be notified by the secretary of the Conference on or before September 15 when it is its turn to propose to the nominating committee a candidate for membership upon the Board, and whether such candidate should be a minister, a layman or a laywoman, and the names of such candidates shall be reported to the secretary before April 1, of each year. He shall present to the Conference at its annual meeting a general statistical statement of the progress of religion in the churches for the past calendar year. He shall give suitable notice to the churches of the time and place of each annual meeting, notify officers and committees of their election or appointment and fulfill such other functions as the Conference or the Board of Trustees may from time to time direct.

9. The Recording Secretary shall record the complete minutes of each annual meeting and shall transcribe and deliver the same to the Secretary. The Board of Trustees may, in their discretion, appoint a deputy to assist in the keeping of the records under the direction of the Recording Secretary.

(This provision shall not apply to the President now in office, until 1934, nor to the Treasurer now in office, until 1938.) The retirement age for all Conference employees shall be seventy years.

2. The Conference shall pay its part to enable its staff officers to participate in the Annuity Fund for Congregational Ministers or in the Retirement Fund for Lay Workers to the same extent as if they were pastors or employees of churches. With respect to such officers as are eligible to participate in these funds such participation shall be deemed a sufficient economic safeguard.

This nominating committee shall annually propose to the nominating committee of the Conference from among its membership a chairman and a vice-chairman of the department, who shall be ex officiis members of the Board of Trustees of the Conference.

ARTICLE IX

Meetings

1. The Conference shall hold its regular annual meeting for the choice of officers, the hearing of reports, the discussion of matters of general interest and the transaction of other business at the appointed place on the third Monday of May at 2 p.m., or at such other time in the month of May as the Board of Trustees may deem expedient.

3. The Moderator or, in his absence, one of the vice-Moderators or, in the absence of all of them, some member of the Board of Trustees shall call the Conference to order.

ARTICLE X

1. Immediately after the opening of the annual meeting the Moderator shall appoint:

1. These by-laws, except Articles II, III and IV, may be amended at any regularly called meeting of the Conference by a two-thirds vote, provided the amendment was proposed at the preceding annual meeting of the Conference or is recommended by the Board of Trustees.

Upon recommendation by the Board of Trustees, it was voted by the Conference that these by-laws be adopted.

The report of President Page was accepted as printed.

The report of the Board of Ministerial Aid was accepted as printed.

The report of the Boston Seaman's Friend Society was accepted as printed.

The report of the Committee on Religious Education was accepted, and the following recommendation was adopted:

Whereas: The continued exhibition in otherwise worthy entertainment programs of unrestrained drinking in motion pictures and the radio advertising of beverages of increased alcoholic content are contrary to the desire for true temperance as expressed by all persons seeking the highest public welfare, and are offensive to both good taste and the cultivation of the ideals of young people, therefore be it

Resolved, that the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society representing six hundred and twenty-four Congregational and Christian churches, records itself as definitely opposed to such episodes in motion pictures and in radio broadcasts, and memorializes the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America emphatically to seek elimination of these undesirable features through the controlling authorities in motion pictures and radio.

The report of the Committee on Missions and Apportionment was accepted, and the following recommendations were adopted:

I. That the immediate goal for apportionment giving in Massachusetts be continued at $770,000, and that the churches be urged to keep their accepted goals at the highest figure possible.

Upon recommendation of the Business Committee, it was

The report of the Committee on Worship was accepted as printed.

The report of the Committee on Relation of Churches and Colleges was accepted as printed.

The report of the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare was accepted and the following recommendations were adopted:

We believe that our churches have entertained a false sense of security since the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment. This has brought about a very serious let-down of necessary educational work to build and maintain adequate public sentiment. We earnestly recommend that our churches do their full part in developing a sound spirit of temperance among the people.

Confronting a condition of international chaos, we declare our conviction that the settlement of disputes by the resort to arms is unchristian. We therefore urge all our churches to go on record whenever possible in support of a strict adherence to the letter and the spirit of the Kellogg-Briand Pact outlawing war.

In the interest of world peace we submit the following resolutions for consideration by the Conference;

Resolved, that the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society petition Congress to pass legislation that will place the manufacture and sale of war materials under the control of the federal government with a view to eliminating private profit as an incentive to military action.

Resolved, that the State Conference express to the Commission on International Relations of the General Council of Congregational and Christian Churches its support of the action already being taken toward the same end.

Resolved, that the General Council be requested to petition the Congress of the United States to enact such legislation as will bring the Naturalization Act into harmony with the spirit of the Kellogg-Briand Pact.

Resolved, that the State Conference declare its judgment that it is entirely consistent with the historic principles of the Congregational-Christian faith for members of our churches to refuse on conscientious grounds to participate in any warfare.

In this period of pent-up resentments and righteous indignation against social maladjustment and injustice, we believe that the church should continue to stand for the recognition and maintenance of the rights and responsibilities of free speech, free assembly, and a free press, and the encouragement of free communication of mind with mind as essential to the discovery of truth. To this end we advocate the development of church-conducted forums in which the moral and social issues that confront our times may be fully and freely discussed in the light of Christ's message to the world.

The report of the Committee on Federation was accepted as printed.

The Committee on Moral and Social Welfare presented the following resolutions which were adopted:

Resolved: That the Conference register its conviction that permanent relief from economic chaos can come only through social planning and control of the economic processes and that the churches should do all within their power to achieve this purpose in the interest of human need.

2.

Resolved: That the Conference urge every local church to elect a committee on social relations, the duty of which shall be to promote study and application of the Christian ideal of social justice in the local community.

3.

Resolved: That the Conference urge committees on social relations in local churches to expose sweatshop conditions in the local communities with a view to the enforcement through public opinion of the state minimum wage law.

4.

Resolved: That the Conference favors conservation of the right of collective bargaining and commends the present movement toward a nation-wide child labor law, social insurance against unemployment, a nation-wide minimum wage and maximum hour law in industry, and a nation-wide standardization of industrial conditions, so that unfair methods of competition resulting in lower standards of labor and business conditions be eliminated.

5.

Resolved: That the Conference register its profound appreciation of those industrial leaders and other employers in the commonwealth who have valiantly done all in their power to maintain high wages and humane labor conditions during the recent years of unemployment and distress.

6.

Resolved: That the Conference urge upon all church people the Christian duty of renouncing luxurious living as far as possible in order that every follower of Christ may contribute as generously as feasible to the relief of human suffering.

7.

Resolved: That the Conference urge all members of Congregational and Christian churches throughout the Commonwealth to rally their full strength to the support of candidates opposed to the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment in the election of June 13.

8.

Resolved: That the Conference express its abhorrence of the persecution of Jews in Germany and that this protest be presented to the National Conference of Jews and Christians in New York.

9.

Resolved: That the Conference express its deep concern over the miscarriage of justice in the Scottsboro case, and present an appeal to the governor of Alabama for a fair trial for these eight Negro boys.

The Moderator then presented the President, Rev. Frederick Harlan Page, who addressed the Conference.

The moderator-elect, Rev. J. Harold Dale, Billerica, was also presented and responded briefly.

The Committee on Credentials presented its report which was accepted subject to later revision. The report when completed showed:

Number of churches represented:

Resolved: That we gratefully acknowledge and will long remember the abounding Christian hospitality of the First Congregational Church of North Adams, shown by the pastor and its homes to the Conference members these delightful spring days.

The Baptist, Methodist and Universalist churches opened their doors in a warm, substantial welcome. The unfailing courtesy and kindness of the ladies, ushers, and staff of boys smoothed the path and ministered to our needs, making our stay delightful in "the city of hills." We commend the inspiration and uplift of spirit our chaplain has given us as leader of our seasons of worship. The choir, visiting singers, and organist warmed our hearts with their melody — it has been a singing Conference, praising God with the united voices of our people. We recall our debt to our honored moderator for the fairness, courtesy and ability with which he has guided our deliberations.

We thank all the officers and committees of the Conference for their labors, for all retiring members for devoted service. We thank the press and the police department for many courtesies, and the citizens for their unfailing friendliness. We say good-bye with regret, cherishing happy memories of our delightful stay in North Adams.

We hereby express our deep appreciation to Superintendent Soule for his discerning and beautiful address on Dr. Emrich. We recommend that the Trustees publish it in some suitable and permanent form.

A service of worship was conducted by the chaplain, Rev. David N. Beach, following which the Conference adjourned.

MEMORIAL ADDRESS

Commemorative of

1848 FREDERICK ERNEST EMRICH, D.D. 1933

By Rev. Sherrod Soule, Superintendent of the Missionary Society of Connecticut

> "Nothing is here for tears,
> Nothing to wail or knock the breast, . . .
> Nothing but well and fair
> And what may quiet us in a death so noble."—Milton

To bear testimony and pay tribute to Frederick Ernest Emrich is not difficult. To pay tribute appropriately and adequately is by no means easy. His personality was too vital and versatile to submit to stereotyped delineation. The matrix of the common run of men is too contracted to contain the greatness of his character. Language becomes painfully circumscribed in the effort to portray the man. The better part of this address is between rather than in these lines. We feel more than we can express. A few salient facts and features of his early life lend themselves to our understanding and appreciation. Some of these came from his own statements or in the speech of goodly fellowship.

He was born in New York City nearly four score and five years ago. Even then the environment seemed far from conducive to the development of marked individuality and the growth and grounding of religious conviction. Both parents were immigrants from Germany, with only a slight and formal interest in religion. Church attendance and affiliation were well-nigh negligible. The home was not lacking in plentiful comfort. Poverty and privation never fell to his early lot. The impressions of childhood are indelible. The first divine services he remembered attending were Roman Catholic — not the faith of his parents — but of a devoted and devout domestic, beloved of the family. Sunday afternoons, the little boy in blouses and led by her hand wended his way to the services of her church. Doubtless she explained the meaning and teaching of ceremony and symbol. The spectacular and stately worship of the Romish Church appealed to the sensitive imagination of the child. I tremble to think how we might have lost him. Never to his latest years would he allow unrebuked an ignorant criticism of or bigoted aspersion upon the Papal Church. He was Protestant to the core but he generously and gladly recognized the debt owed to the Church of Rome in keeping alive the truths of Christianity, often perverted in practice and polity, through the long dark centuries of the Middle Ages.

Furthermore, there was always a priestly element in his ministry. He loved the liturgies of the fathers, though far from dependent on the same.

His conduct of worship was ever reverent and dignified but always suffused with the earnest of the spirit. He was not a little meticulous in wearing the gown of a teacher, even when preaching in the remotest rural parish and in the humblest meeting-house.

Thus influenced by his early Roman Catholic relation, he went as a lad to a Presbyterian Sunday-School as part and parcel of his parents' strict system of training. He was granted the privilege of being an eclectic in ecclesiastical means of grace with one exception — he must not mix and mingle with the Methodists.

On week days he first attended a private German school, later the public school. Thus, both by heredity and environment he became easily and expertly bilingual. At the age of thirteen he matriculated with what is now the College of the City of New York. The father did not favor further pursuit of a liberal education and found him a situation in a lawyer's office.

At the age of fifteen he was received into the membership of the 7th Presbyterian Church. The step was taken without any marked emotional or ecstatic epoch in religious experience. His radiant personality and earnest faith led him into Christian activity and opened to him the liberty of prophesying in Rescue Missions, Newsboys Homes and Sailor lodgings.

The life work in the ministry came to him as an heavenly vision and he was not disobedient thereunto. When he was twenty years old, through the recommendation of a friend, he was sent to Maine as a Christian summer worker, and in spite of previous parental protest, he was to serve under Methodist auspices and authority. The next year, with the daring of youth, he married a wife who was a Methodist and further increased his insurgency by uniting with a church of that order. At once he applied for admission to the Methodist Maine Conference, was accepted as a probationer and appointed to a field about four miles from the Capitol to care for three preaching stations. This he carried on for two years with a combined salary of $400 and a manse.

But all the time he was growing in grace and knowledge. The vista of future service opened his understanding. At that time and in that region the attitude and atmosphere of the Methodist denomination failed to satisfy his growing powers and aspirations. He resigned from this order and united with a Congregational Church and entered Bangor Theological Seminary. With his rare native gifts of intellect he realized the worth and need of fuller, further, systematic training. After a year in the Seminary he felt the imperative for a collegiate education and after the usual order. So, with wife and two children, as hostages to fortune, he bravely entered Bates College, a Free-Will Baptist institution. He covered a four-years' course in three years, graduating second in scholarship in the class and caring for a church during the period. Then to complete his interrupted theological study he entered Cobb Divinity School, affiliated with Bates College, also Free-Will Baptist in letter and spirit. He compressed two years' study in one, graduating with his B.D., but as an antidote against apostasy, continued as pastor of a Congregational Church, one aided by the Congregational Missionary Society of Maine. In order to render Scriptural measure service, he cared regularly for two other preaching stations. The nine years from the time he went to Maine as a summer worker for the Methodists, at the age of twenty, to the completion of college and seminary training with high rank and never apart from a pastorate, thrill one in telling even in brief detail. The time was so crowded and kaleidoscopic with events and experiences, as to leave us dazed and dizzy. One needs smoked glasses to stand the glare.

Then to round out rural home missionary and varied denominational experiences, he made a pilgrimage to that great and growing city of Chicago, and was pastor of the Tabernacle (Congregational) Church for seven years. Here, round about him, were all sorts and conditions of men out of every tribe and tongue. He learned their languages and led them in the ways of righteousness and truth. He knew the heart of a stranger. He declined an assistant professorship in Hebrew of the Chicago School of the Prophets. Nothing could lure him from the pastorate or a cognate calling and therein he was wise.

Back again to New England he came rejoicing as a strong man to run a race and for fourteen years splendidly served the youthful but promising Congregational Church in South Framingham, Mass., now listed as Grace Church. Both church and minister grew in strength and influence. He soon revealed an ability for service as a pastor at large, a non-frocked Congregational bishop; and the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society elected him as its Executive head in 1903. Since then his manner of life is known to all. He held office for a score and a half years, and at the end of fifteen years a service of recognition was held at the State Conference in Worcester. I was given the honor of an address, no part of which can I recall and I trust no one else can remember.

For the past ten years he has been Secretary Emeritus, rendering a rare and distinctive service until he fell on sleep a few months ago, full of years of grace and good works.

However extended the outline of his life might have been it would of necessity be meagre. His days seem crowded with duties, his journeyings so many and wide, and so much coming and going, we marvel that he had any leisure so much as to eat. He never seemed hurried nor harassed in his work. Rarely did he hasten or rest. He was neither an executor nor administrator par excellence. He was an instructor and inspirer. The machinery and mechanism of organization offered no lure. He was never carried away by the big business boom methods for Congregationalism. He loathed high pressure salesmanship with its mass production and sounding special slogans. He wanted all things done decently and in order. He arranged his week's work by a system that avoided waste. His linguistic aptitude was nothing less than marvelous. In English and German he was letter perfect. His Chicago contact with the Swedish folk made him a lifelong lover. The Scandinavian languages and literature were speaking and reading acquaintances. He could think in those languages. There was some familiarity with Finnish, French and Italian. He could read the New Testament in the original with the ease of a native Athenian. The number of languages that he could speak trippingly on the tongue was well nigh legion. If he had been present at the time of the interrupted construction of the tower of Babel, he would have served as interpreter, checked the confusion of speech and defeated the dispersion. He was polyglottous to the nth power. No narrow Nationalism could crib, cabin or confine his large lofty spirit. No bounds nor barriers bailiwicked his brotherhood. God's children were never aliens save from the commonwealth of Israel, nor strangers save from the Covenants of promise. He was a Christian without guile, and whatever was Christian was never foreign to him.

Theologically speaking I should write him down as a Bushnellite, though Horace Bushnell always discouraged the formation and founding of a sect or system bearing his name. His disciples were to be learners and leaveners. "Talent," he said, as I remember, "is capacity for growth." When one assertively tells you what he thinks, it often discloses the time when he stopped thinking. The fruit on the tree of life is not the tied-on Christmas kind. Only abiding in the vine will bear much fruit and fruit that will remain. Dr. Emrich would have been a man after Bushnell's own heart. His early beliefs he began to exchange and enlarge, and in growing in grace and knowledge he was renewed in the inward man day by day till the very time of his translation. There were growing pains in his doctrinal development. By his own confession, he was not spared perplexities and doubts. Sincere doubt is always a precursor of spiritual advancement.

"Perplexed in faith but pure in deeds,
At last he beat his music out.
He fought his doubts and gathered strength,
He would not make his judgment blind
And came to find a stronger faith his own."—Tennyson

Few cared as to his creed who felt his religion. As one instructed in the Kingdom of Heaven, out of the treasure of sacred writ he brought forth deepest and divinest truths both new and old. No man was so little an iconoclast. He led his listeners along the new paths by his own constructive teaching. There was a glow in his mien and message as he faced a congregation, and none were "able to withstand the wisdom and the Spirit by which he spake." He jealously guarded his daily morning watch against omission, disturbance or lessened duration. It was an ascent to a mount of Transfiguration, where he was alone save Jesus only. When he came forth virtue proceeded from his person. In studying the New Testament in the original, seeking goodly pearls, he would find frequently a pearl of great price, and the rare root meaning, the striking metaphor and the penetrating perspective would serve as brilliant flashlights illuming his preaching. His journeying as a wandering friar left a trail of light in his wake.

"Wide was his parish, scattered far asunder,
Yet none did he neglect in rain or thunder.
Sorrow and sickness won his kindly care;
With staff in hand he traveled everywhere.
This good example to his sheep he brought,
That first he wrought and afterwards he taught.

. . . .

"To draw his flock to heaven with noble heart,
By good example was his holy art.
No less did he rebuke the obstinate,
Whether they were of high or low estate,
For pomp and worldly show he did not care,
No morbid conscience made his rule severe,
The love of Christ and his apostles twelve
He taught, but first he followed it himself."

Not a few ministers who served churches under his care came later to serve in Connecticut. Never did one say aught against him and all loved him. There was a David and Jonathan affection, a Paul and Timothy beloved relation. He stimulated studious habits and showed the worth of the unseen and eternal. He made due consideration for the limitations of pastor and parish and did not demand bricks without straw. He did demand faithful, systematic effort. A slothful mind and a self-seeking spirit he despised and denounced. His sympathy and service for those bereaved were of rare worth, wrought through his own experiences and the comfort wherewith he himself had been comforted of God. He was a man of sorrows, for he bade earthly farewell to his earlier wife and six of his seven children. Grief did not embitter him. Early in his ministry he found his Gibraltar of faith, and in his own words came "to believe in the unending, unfailing grace of God." This grace was sufficient for him.

His earnestness at all times was contagious. He never lost the enthusiasm of youth. He waited on the Lord and renewed his strength. He rejoiced in the Lord always. We can hail him as the Happy Warrior. His spirit was radiant and transfigured the flesh. In religious duty or devotion there was no "priming of the pump," no painful, prolonged labor to secure a stream. His religion was a well of water within, springing up into everlasting life. He gained a commanding position in this Congregational Commonwealth, but he never commanded because of his position. His reliance was upon what he was utterly unconscious of, — apostolic earnestness, simplicity, sincerity, the weight and worth of his own presence and character. He wist not that his face shone. His word, as was written of his Master, became flesh and dwelt among us, and communicated by spiritual contagion its grace and truth. He was a mystic, — realizing the mystery of Godliness, but he was never muddy in his thinking.

His rare and roomy capacity for friendship was his distinguishing asset. We loved him because he first loved us. Abou Ben Adhem who loved his fellow men cannot be listed above him and Dr. Emrich can be further appraised as one who loved the Lord his God, with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his strength and with all his mind. Only a few who leave this earthly life make the world seem a lonesome place — but he is one. I will not allow that the world is poorer, for he has left us a rich legacy of memory and influence, both abundant and abiding. He lived "after the power of an endless life." Anything that is done consecratedly has in it an element of the imperishable. Resting from his labors, his works do follow him. He laid hold on immortality and we require no argument for assurance. His service was always so sincere, so strong and so symmetrical that whenever or wherever he might have stopped there would have been no sense of incompletion. God gave him length of days and the joy of service unto the end. Times not a few we ponder as to occupations of the life beyond. Some of the ways suggested in Scripture fail of absorbing appeal and eternity is a long time. If personality endures, so must individuality. I like to think of Dr. Emrich among the multitude of the redeemed out of every kindred and tongue and people and nation. If there should be no common speech in heaven, he might find fulness of joy and pleasures forevermore as the interpreter of universal faith and leader in the unity of celestial worship.

His monument will be the cherished memory of the man in the hearts of those who knew him.

If I were to select a tribute to be chiseled on his stone in God's Acre, it would be this:

"They that be wise shall shine as the firmament, and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars forever and ever." — Daniel.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

The work of the Conference has gone steadily ahead in all its departments. The effect of the widespread financial difficulties has been to increase the duties of the Executive Staff except in one direction. There has been less call for the service of the Conference in church building enterprises, whether of new edifices or reconstruction and minor improvements; but a good deal of work already undertaken has been pushed to conclusion. With the return of normal conditions there will be much to be done.

In general the reaction from the depression has been an increase of the services which the Conference now undertakes with respect to all the churches. It was not until the late fall season, after the churches had well begun the active period, that New England felt the financial troubles which began to be serious in the rest of the country a year ago. The banking breakdown in the Middle West was almost immediately felt in the East. Our church treasurers and standing committees began to bring in their difficulties, with the result that a number of churches normally self-sustaining have needed and received financial assistance. Many churches, representing a large proportion of the whole number, have made reductions in their current expenses. We are glad to report that in almost all cases where the situation was normal the report was that the minister had voluntarily offered a reduction in his salary.

The advice most commonly sought of the Conference Staff was at the point of the missionary budget of the church. The proposal was not infrequently made that missionary pledges be given up altogether. A careful consideration of this proposition in all its bearings has in almost every instance led to the adoption of a policy in which all could join. Inevitably the giving for missions, and benevolences outside the local parish, has had to be reduced. But the principle that missions are a vital part of a church's life and not a secondary concern has been acknowledged where the stress of the times threatened a breakdown at this point. Disharmony and loss have been averted.

It is gratifying to report that the loss in giving under the apportionment for missions has probably not declined much more, if any, than in current expenses giving. This action of our Massachusetts churches, if it can be maintained, will prove a very encouraging and steadying force among our brethren in those parts of the country which have suffered so much more than we have. It is worthy of the generation which has inherited the burdens as well as the glories of our foreign missionary work.

The Missionary Committees of the Local Associations can assist the Conference greatly by giving very careful consideration to applications for aid. The practice of these committees varies widely.

The last in a series of highly desirable consolidations of churches in Greater Boston, which began several years ago, has been attained this year in the union of Maverick and Baker churches, East Boston. Present-day tendencies continue to call for such mergers and federations when they can attain both a reduction of financial aid required and a stronger church organization. Under our church polity time must be allowed for churches to grow together, and it is in all ways wise.

Our one "Larger Parish," in the Rochester-Lakeville neighborhood is flourishing and should receive careful attention from those having similar problems and constructive opportunities.

The Woman's Work of the Conference has been conducted with marked ability and in entire co-operation, as an integral part of the service of the Conference. A more particular statement is given in the report of the President of the Woman's Department.

The desire of the churches for the personal services of the members of the Executive Staff in their churches on Sundays, week days and special occasions increases constantly, and almost to the limit of time and strength. The expectations of those who anticipated such an outcome have been happily realized. We have no longer any distinction of aided and independent churches.

The Massachusetts "Christian Churches" are becoming more and more a part of us, and are much esteemed for their spirit and work, and the character of their leaders. Rev. Frank H. Gardner, pastor of the church at Pottersville, is a valued member of our Board of Trustees.

Other matters of significance are not discussed in this report because they figure prominently in the Report of the Appraisal Committee. It is gratifying to state respecting the findings of that report on the great general features of the work of the Conference as a whole and the costs of it, that they find the development of the functions warranted, and that the so-called "overhead costs" are low. The Executive Staff has been glad to co-operate with the Appraisal Committee at every point where its information and judgments were sought.

The death of the Secretary Emeritus, Feb. 5, 1933, is a bereavement to us all — to the Staff, to the Trustees, and to the churches of the Commonwealth. There have been several Memorial Services of a beautiful character. The official Memorial will be spoken at the Annual Meeting by his friend of many years, Superintendent Sherrod Soule of Connecticut. May Doctor Emrich's spiritual mantle — so pure and white and beautiful — be the portion of us all, as we may be able to receive it! May his spirit abide in our churches to bless them, and his memory long endure!

FREDERICK HARLAN PAGE.

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF WOMAN'S WORK

The relation of women to the church has probably suffered less from changing beliefs and decreased interests than that of any other group; for women in this changing world still believe in loyalty and steadfastness to those objects to which they have given their faith.

The aim of the Woman's Department may be expressed in a phrase from "Re-Thinking Missions" as "the desire for a deeper knowledge and love of God seeking with men (and women) everywhere a more adequate fulfillment of the divine possibilities of personal and social life."

We believe that work in our Congregational churches affords opportunity for sane social contacts, sound educational benefits throughout world-wide mission programs, broader civic service because of our better understanding of the implications of Christianity and for spiritual growth through individual effort, through small groups practicing meditation and prayer and through devotional uplift of our larger meetings.

Our organization is now familiar to all, working from a State Secretary and State Board, meeting four times a year, through District organizations down to the local church which is the unit and key to our whole structure. We have tried this year to contact the local women's organization in every possible way by District visitations and local representations on District Boards and by the personal contact of the State Secretary and Chairman. The Department has aimed to furnish every opportunity for the women of the local church through the help of District Presidents and their boards as well as through the State Secretary to provide means and methods of accomplishing its purposes. We have hoped, also, for a greater effort to include younger women in our groups, realizing our need of their vigor, their freshness of attack and courage and clearness of vision.

The Young People's Secretary, Mrs. Allbright, who is connected with our Department through the children's and young people's secretaries in our Districts, reports the following: "Through our young people and children's secretaries we have held many conferences for the young people and rallies for the children. More and more our secretaries are becoming a part of the Association Religious Education Committees, and are helpful in making this committee an effective medium in reaching the young people of our churches. Some of our secretaries have been responsible for leaders' conferences in their Districts. They all have promoted the summer conferences. We appreciate very much the time and thought that these secretaries have put into the work and the very many contacts which they have made with local leaders and with the young people and children themselves."

We have tried to see our work as a whole, to see it in its relation to the local community, to our national problems and to the far-reaching possibilities of our world-wide task. It has been our earnest desire that our women should realize their individual and group responsibility for achieving the apportionment.

One unusual feature of our year has been the assistance we have had from Miss Ruth I. Seabury of the American Board who has conducted seminars at conferences with leaders in local groups all over the state. "Re-Thinking Missions" has been the subject of many addresses and various discussions. Our women are pondering over its suggestions and realizing that it has a very deep meaning for us here at home.

"Time fails me to tell of" Quincy and the interest the women felt in the whole program, and of their share in the thrills of that reverberating Conference — of the fine work done by our committees: the Handwork Committee which provides an opportunity for many useful hours of sewing and of making first aid supplies for our hospitals, thus benefiting many grateful people both here and abroad; of the Education Committee which gets out our useful Blue Book and has compiled an unusually provocative reading list; of the newly organized Social Relations and Christian Citizenship Committee which has been making a careful study of the literature and problems belonging to it; of the Public Meetings Committee, responsible for our Pilgrim Hall Meetings so valuable a contribution to our knowledge of the personnel of our mission work.

The high spot of our year was the Worcester Meeting. Two churches made us welcome, to which came approximately 1,200 women to listen and take part in praise, prayer, seminars, addresses and sermon, and to go home filled to overflowing with the joy and need and the vast scope of the possibilities open to the Congregational women of this Commonwealth.

Because of our association with officers of other states we held a splendid meeting in Northfield last summer to which executives of nine states made fine contributions of thought and fellowship.

The Secretary, Mrs. Badger, electrified the state by becoming Mrs. Edward C. Camp, in September. She consented to remain at her position during the year and has performed her usual gracious service of guidance in program making, has made many addresses throughout the state and in every other way has successfully encouraged and aided the women to do their part in our work.

We women still have much to do. We must somehow get a new insight as to the opportunities at our door and a new technique for doing our work. We need to see the value of new material, the benefit that may come to us from the "other woman," and most of all we must have a more winsome and radiant faith if we are to have any share in bringing in the Kingdom.

FLORENCE W. GROVER,
Chairman, Department of Woman's Work.

FINDINGS OF THE SEMINAR ON RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Leader, Prof. Paul H. Vieth.

We are facing in our churches the problem of whether we are vitally and effectively guiding our young people in growth in Christian living. We are concerned primarily with life, not with doctrine only, but doctrine as an instrument to life, not interested in books only, but books as instrumental to life and Christian living. We cannot much longer separate Christian education into buildings, programs, such as the Church or Sunday School program over against the program of the Christian church. The Church School is more and more being swallowed up in the church as a unified, graded, educational program. More experimentation in the graded, unified church is a goal worth constantly striving for. Teaching is now increasingly interpreted to mean causing another to grow. This growth may be in the form of knowledge, but must be much more in the realm of attitudes and Christian living. Leaders in Christian teaching humbly reckon on the divine spirit's leadership in religious growth, but do not forget to develop the proper conditions for the Christian life.

Leadership training and supervision must recognize that churches and religious education cannot be conducted on a stereotyped plan. Local and personal conditions make a great difference. It is a great problem to bring the church and the school into a consciousness of unity. Children should be made to realize what the church service is all about. The family pew has value in bringing a sense of unity into worship. One of the difficulties is the matter of grading and promotion. No general rule is possible here, but it should be decided on the basis of local considerations, as should also the choosing of courses.

A program rises only as high as the leaders behind it. It is possible to lead others to become leaders. At the same time, materials and methods count, as the vehicle by which the leaders work. Getting leaders who are successful depends on taking work seriously. Consecration and installation services, and a system of annual appointments, aid in promoting the dignity of a teacher's work. The best training is given on the job, even at the necessity of starting untrained teachers. A good supervisor can guide teachers. Group conferences are also desirable to this end. An apprenticeship system has also its possibilities in some places.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF MISSIONARY PROMOTION

North Adams, Mass., May 16, 1933.

To the Members of the Massachusetts Congregational
Conference and Missionary Society:

Your Secretary of Missionary Promotion is completing the seventh year of service to the churches through the State Conference.

It seems to be assumed by many people that it is a thankless and difficult position. Naturally, there are aspects of the work that are difficult, partly because they are not wanted in some quarters and partly because they are misunderstood, but the fellowship with hundreds of the churches, pastors and active leaders in the field of missions and religious education, working out together the better approach to an understanding of what it is all about and undergirding the support of missions by deeper spiritual impulse and more intelligent appreciation of the values of the work done on the various fields at home and abroad, has been a rewarding and enriching experience.

The work of promoting missions through the State Conference must differ in method somewhat from the promotional work of the larger administrative Boards. They necessarily emphasize budget necessities and develop contacts that will bring immediate financial returns. They have to cover the entire country and cannot concentrate for persistent educational approach in local areas. This is even more difficult at present for them owing to the forced reduction of their secretarial staff.

Here the State Conference supplements their work. Your Promotional Secretary can spend much time with churches and Associations, particularly with many of the smaller churches which the Boards cannot personally cultivate but whose interest and loyalty are exceedingly important for the adequate support of the whole missionary program.

This is the first principle of our promotional work, that we are not primarily raising money from the churches, but raising in the churches a larger consciousness of their own mission to the world as churches of Christ. The experience of sharing in a Christ-minded way our resources for service to definite human needs internationally and interracially as a witness to our own communities of a Christ-like spirit and purpose, is much more than simply promoting financial apportionments and goals.

This leads to the second principle always remembered in our work, that the promotion of missions must be educational if we are to build permanent values and not temporary spasms of interest. To this end the project idea has been applied. The missionary project is an educational means to the practical end of larger support of the work on the field. The project plan inevitably fails if it is looked upon as an arbitrary allocation of church contributions to pieces of work under the budgets of the Home and Foreign Boards. Some churches of larger resources are able to undertake the support of a missionary as their own representative in some field at home or abroad or both. Most churches cannot do this, but if they will take out of the various project illustrations of the use of their apportionment giving some one or two fields and for a period of one year or more make an intensive study of that work as part of their religious education program for the whole church, they will discover not only quickened interest in what should be done about it, but new ideas and motives for a better approach to their own local problems in Christian service.

The right use of project education also involves education in the varieties of missionary service and in the proportion required for financial support by the Foreign, National and State work as well as the proportionate amounts assigned to evangelistic, educational, medical, industrial and other phases of work not so spectacular or interesting, but just as necessary. Some items at first included in project assignments to churches have been dropped and included under general work or undesignated giving and other adjustments are being constantly made according to experience in working out the plan for the best results.

We have good reason to believe that, without the interest cultivated during these past years in missionary projects, the decline in giving would have been even more serious in this state and that as soon as economic conditions improve the educational foundation established will surely bear increasing fruit.

The major factor in missionary education this past year has been the Laymen's Missionary Inquiry Report, "Re-thinking Missions." We have taken the attitude in this state that nothing was to be feared from the most open and frank discussion of the seemingly startling and drastic findings and recommendations which so disturbed many devoted missionary leaders and supporters. Associations and churches were encouraged to organize and conduct discussion meetings and groups. The American Board cordially cooperated by supplying secretaries and missionaries for each meeting in addition to the State Conference representative and practically every one of the twenty-two Associations in the state has considered this report in either special or regular meetings. Scores of churches have conducted study groups on the subject or have had it presented by pastor or missionaries. While apparently the major proportion of our lay people have little or no idea what it is all about, progress has been made and the facts opened up for discussion have revealed to them the new status of the missionary movement and the urgent problems of administration too little appreciated. Contrary to the fears of many that missionary interest would be retarded, we feel that it has been quickened and that we shall have a new intelligence regarding the problems and objectives of the Christian Church in the modern world. Next fall the Foreign Mission Council is planning a series of great interdenominational Missionary Conferences all over the country. Boston, Oct. 1-2.

Christ in the Modern World will be the general theme for missionary education all through the coming year for churches and young people's societies, thus following up the interest begun by the Laymen's report. This process of re-thinking missions is absolutely essential if our churches are to be in line with the actualities.

If there is any serious decline in missionary interest, your state office has not realized it except in the inevitable decrease of giving under the pressure mainly of the economic situation. This must be only temporary. The demands on the office through the Promotional Secretary, the Project Secretary, the Woman's Department and the Young People's Secretary for assistance in setting up educational programs, providing missionary speakers and rendering personal service in the churches all over the state, have been just as heavy as ever and even more so during the last few months. Again let it be emphasized that this service is freely given as far as possible to every church, no matter how small. The staff, like firemen, go on call as immediately as possible. The demand for missionary speakers from the fields exceeds the supply and one of the chief problems there is the matter of expenses. The Boards cannot afford to pay all the travel expense. Many churches are punctilious about meeting these slight charges, but too many still believe that even if they ask for the speaker they should be under no obligation to help on expenses. The effort is always made to group speaking appointments for a missionary for sake of economy but this is not always possible. There is also little conception of the amount of time and effort required in making and adjusting the over one thousand speaking appointments during a year. But the churches have come more and more to recognize the state office as the clearinghouse for all such speakers, both Foreign and Home, and the work is gladly done. According to the testimony of our Home and Foreign Boards there is no other state where it is so well done as in Massachusetts.

It has been a difficult year and next year offers increasing problems. Massachusetts is the state upon which the ongoing of the whole work depends. We must keep up our proportion of one-fifth of the total support and increase it if possible. Let us not forget that we are meeting only a few miles from the spot where in 1806, one hundred and twenty-seven years ago, a small group of Williams College boys began studying the moral and spiritual challenge of the non-Christian world of the day and while meeting in a meadow near the college, took refuge during a thunder storm under a convenient haystack where they consecrated themselves to the task of taking the news of Christ to the unreached millions. What spiritual audacity!

Today as we look at what remains to be done in penetrating the whole structure of modern life with the spirit and motive of Christ, we seem to have hardly touched the threshold of the problem. But as we look back upon what those boys started and the accomplishments of one hundred and twenty-seven years, the results are nothing short of amazing. One hundred years ago, an economic depression apparently wrecked much of the work then just begun in missionary fields. There is no reason to feel today that God is any less concerned with the ongoing and ultimate success of His high adventure with humanity. It is going on and our Massachusetts churches will continue to do their part and more than their part in the spirit of the boys who proclaimed to the astonished and disbelieving world and church of their day,

"WE CAN DO IT, IF WE WILL."

ASA M. PARKER,
Secretary of Missionary Promotion.

REPORT OF THE REGISTRAR

Only once before has our state body met in North Adams. That was in June, 1884, almost a half century ago. It was attended by 63 voting delegates from the associations of ministers and 47 lay delegates from the conferences of churches. The day of individual church representation was yet to come. We had then 532 churches in the state with a total membership of 90,350, and an average of 170. Today the average church has 273 members and there are 92 more churches with an aggregate membership of over 170,000. The urban and suburban growth in the state has been remarkable and has been shared by the churches; yet 49 years ago a conference speaker said on this platform: "Massachusetts may be called the most urban metropolitan of all the 38 commonwealths. Of places containing 4,000 or more inhabitants, Ohio has 46, Pennsylvania 59, and New York 59; but Massachusetts has no less than 85." Yet in that year we had but six churches with a membership of 600. Park Street in Boston was the largest, with 915, and Lowell First was next on the list with 777. We have today 44 churches larger than that.

There are a good many church clerks today who find it difficult to balance their membership figures, but even the state secretary was in trouble in 1884; for while additions exceeded removals by 1,164, the total membership showed a loss of 1,945, a discrepancy of over 3,100. For 1932 the figures balance showing a net loss of 537. The number of men is larger by 19; the women are fewer by 556. In fact, the men have been steadily gaining in the quarter century of my census taking, their percentage rising from 31.22 to 36.64. Our 18 Christian churches gained 36 members last year, but the 606 Congregational churches lost 573. One answer to this is that the Christians haven't long enough rolls to do wholesale pruning. Fifteen Congregational churches last year dropped 1,717 members, which is more than the whole Christian constituency; and our total roll revision of 4,142 is but a trifle less than deaths and transfers combined. Roll revision was not, however, as drastic as the previous year by a margin of 719, yet second only to that year. After the state schedules had gone to New York this year, one church requested the privilege of changing its report in view of roll revision accomplished in March. The registrar had to say that the matter had passed beyond his power to change; but he wishes to say to every pastor and clerk and official board that the time to revise membership rolls is before January 1 and not after. It is a situation like that of apportionment figures whose books close on January 10. Several churches will be disappointed this year because of delayed remittances of contributions.

One more suggestion the registrar desires to make out of a long experience emphasized by several unhappy incidents this year. It would tend to completeness and accuracy if pastor and clerk should collaborate in filling the Year Book blanks. It might also tend to an earlier reporting.

Three names disappear from the roll of churches and two are added, making the total 624. The Islington Church of Westwood has withdrawn, Maverick of East Boston has merged with Baker, under the name Baker-Maverick, and upon what seemed conclusive evidence the registrar has omitted the name of the supposedly defunct Christian church of Haverhill. On the other hand, we have welcomed the North Parish Community Church of Haverhill, and in East Boston the Italian constituents of Baker-Maverick have been recognized as a new and separate church. We may anticipate two items in next year's report by saying that the French Church of Boston has ceased to exist, and Union Church of Haverhill has voted to disband, its personnel and property being in process of liquidation. There has been within recent weeks another associational merger, the fourth in ten years. Mendon, never large, and weakened by withdrawals to three neighboring associations, has united with Middlesex South under the name Middlesex-Mendon.

I shall not weary you with an avalanche of statistics. There isn't much to shout about. Ministers' salaries, so far as reported, are down five per cent, home expenses 20 per cent, and benevolence one-sixth on apportionment and a trifle less in gross. Adult baptisms were the fewest in 21 years, but infant baptisms were above the average of the previous ten years. Sunday School enrolment continues to shrink. It used to be a good bit larger than church membership, but for 18 years it has been below and steadily going down while church membership has been going up, and is now 50 per cent larger than the Sunday School.

The Conference has lost 22 ministerial members by death. Seventeen had rendered pastoral service to 37 of our churches, and one other was virtually pastor to unorganized groups of his own nationality. Three pastors died in office, Ralph Andrews Barker at South Acton for 16 years; Frank Nixon Merriam, 10 years at Turners Falls, 17 at Belleville, Newburyport, four at Hardwick, and the last three at Sutton, and Frederick C. Rolls, five years at Belchertown. Joseph Hayes Chandler was also at Belchertown two years during the World War. Frederick Newman Rutan was scarcely out of his North Hadley pulpit with emeritus rank when final promotion came. He had served at Wrentham, Union Church, Boston, as associate, Maynard, and North Hadley for terms of four, two, seven and seven years. A. Karl Skinner also was but briefly removed from his nearly 10 years of service at the North Church in Haverhill when an automobile accident ended his career. Frederick Ernest Emrich, bishop of Massachusetts by divine endowment, had a 14-year pastorate at Framingham before being called to the secretary's office of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society. For 20 years he was a big brother to all his brethren, but even before his title was changed to secretary emeritus we were calling him "Father Emrich." The emeritus relation which he held 10 years was utilized as strength permitted up to fourscore and four in continued pastoral devotion to all our churches.

Ralph J. Haughton had four brief pastorates in this state, at Needham, Weymouth Heights, and the two Winthrop churches, Union and Point Shirley. The emphasis of his public service was with reform organizations. Thompson Archibald Howard cared for the First Church of Raynham eight years, retiring then in 1922. William Sylvester Kelsey was junior partner in three of his four pastorates, a year at Worcester Union, 18 years at Boston Berkeley Temple, six as sole pastor at the Clarendon Church in Hyde Park, and associate again at Wellesley for four years. Herbert William Lathe was at Northampton First for nine years half a century ago, and came back to spend the final decade of his life in retirement at Cambridge. Francis Jewett Marsh had pastorates of six and 10 years at Upton and Walpole before being drafted for service by the Sunday School and Publishing Society as New England superintendent for 13 years. For 39 years he served the Conference as recording secretary, then called registrar, up to the reorganization in 1928. Gostan Moomjian was pastor of an independent Armenian church in Newburyport, but was also our missionary to other Armenians in Boston, Haverhill, and finally Newburyport. Darius Bullock Scott was with the two Lynnfield churches two years long ago, later at Clinton for seven years, and served at Lancaster the first decade of this century. James T. Thomas, town official, was ordained at the age of 68 and served the church in Halifax six years. Charles Swan Walker, educator, had a year with Holyoke First in 1874 and two pastorates at South Amherst. Much later he cared for Hope Church in Amherst for a year. Bartlett Hardy Weston had reached the imaginary dead line of 50 when he was ordained, serving then for a score of years Dunstable, Centerville, West Newbury, and Dunstable again, after which he lived to the age of 92. Albert Edward Winship had but a single pastorate of nine years at Prospect Hill in Somerville, and then for almost a half century he exercised a nation-wide influence in educational matters as editor of the Journal of Education.

Four other men, never pastors in this state, held their ministerial standing with us after retiring from service elsewhere. Otis Cary gave almost a long lifetime to service under the American Board in Japan. Charles Langdon Mitchell was a member of Andover Association from 1884, with brief pastoral service previously in the West, and he slipped away so quietly in 1930 that his departure was not officially reported until this year. James Hardy Ropes gave his life to teaching New Testament Criticism and Interpretation in Harvard Divinity School. Frank Knight Sanders, after long service in Yale Divinity School as professor and dean, and as president of Washburn College, came to Massachusetts for a five-year evening of a busy life. He had been prominent in National Council and other denominational interests.

Respectfully submitted,

OLIVER D. SEWALL, Treasurer.

May 10, 1933.

Frederick Harlan Page, D.D., President,
Massachusetts Congregational Conference and
Missionary Society,
Boston, Massachusetts.

Sir: — I have audited the accounts of the Treasurer of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society and of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, Trustee, for the year ending March 31, 1933, and I hereby certify that income receivable from invested funds and deposits with banks has been duly accounted for; that all other income shown by the books of the Society has been duly accounted for; that all payments have been properly vouched; that the securities representing the invested funds have been produced to me; that the cash in banks has been verified, and that the accompanying financial statements correctly exhibit the condition of the funds in the hands of the Society as at the close of business on March 31, 1933, and the Treasurer's transactions during the year ending at that date.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES WILLING, Auditor.

There are a few matters to which your treasurer desires to call particular attention.

ALLOTMENT ACCOUNT

In 1928 the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society were united in a single corporation. Previous to that time, the National Council of Congregational Churches and the Conference had paid their expenses for meetings and administration by thirteen cents collected for each church member. It seems right that the Conference part of our organization should still pay its own charges and thirteen cents per member is still asked of the churches. Eight cents of the thirteen goes to the General Council (formerly The National Council) and five cents is kept by the Conference. The collection of the five cents per member is the attempt of the Conference part of our organization to pay its own expenses and not to become a charge upon missionary funds. The association treasurers are finding it difficult to collect the thirteen cents per member and some of our churches are refusing to pay at the rate of thirteen cents per member. It is not strange that this is so in this time of financial stringency. We closed the year, March 31, with a deficit of $1,537.50 in the Allotment Account. Seven Associations have paid in full: Barnstable, Hampshire, Middlesex South, Woburn, Worcester North, Worcester South, Middlesex Union. Ten Associations are owing comparatively small amounts. The following Associations are the chief delinquents: Essex South, $462.50, Hampden, $1,399.79, Pilgrim, $863.85, Worcester Central, $1,625.

Here is a statement of the way in which the thirteen cents per member collected from the churches is expended:

		Cents
General Council of Congregational and Christian Churches	Salaries of Officers	2.1
	Salaries, Clerical	1.1
	Commissions of Council	1.0
	Mileage Paid to Delegates	.8
	Office Expenses	.8
	Publishing Year Book	.8
	Rent	.4
	Council Meeting Expenses	.4
	Travel of Officers	.3
	Publicity and Advertising	.3
			8 cents
Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society	Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply	1.8
	Massachusetts Federation of Churches	1.0
	Expenses of Conference Committees	1.0
	Office and Administration Expenses	1.2
			5 cents
	Total		13 cents

If the churches are not to contribute 13 cents per member, then some part of the foregoing service should be cut off or lessened. Your attention is called to the fact that of the 5 cents assigned to the state, approximately 1.8 cents goes to the Board of Pastoral Supply and 1 cent to the Massachusetts Federation of Churches. This leaves only 2.2% (or about $5,000) for the expenses of carrying on the Conference part of our organization. May I point out that this is about as small an amount as could possibly be expended and maintain any kind of state organization of our Congregational churches. The amount ought to be very much more.

CONTRIBUTIONS

The amount, $49,351.17, was received the past year from the churches for missionary work within the state (M. C. C. & M. S. work in Massachusetts). To this is to be added the $5,712.45 received from the Massachusetts Woman's Home Missionary Union, making a total of $55,463.62.

Comparable with this amount, the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society received in the year 1922–1923, $74,000. This is a decrease of 25% in ten years. Much of this decrease is due to business depression but much of it occurred before the depression came. The past ten years has been marked by an increase of popular or democratic control of your state organization. Theoretically, this ought to have meant a deepening of interest in the Conference and Missionary Society and enlarged financial support. It is strange that the effect has been the opposite. Can we not convert popular direction and control into more popular and devoted financial support?

INCOME OF INVESTED FUNDS

The income of invested funds has decreased only slightly in the past year. This is remarkable and is a tribute to the ability and care shown by your Finance Committee. What the experience will be in the coming year, no one can tell, but it is to be feared that the income from invested funds may show a larger decrease than the last year.

CONTINGENT FUND

An amount somewhat over $12,000 had to be taken from the Contingent Fund in order to balance account March 31. The principal of the Contingent Fund shows a net decrease of some $6,000, and the fund is now $143,354.70. There was, however, an amount of $6,118 added to the principal of the Permanent Legacy Fund from unrestricted legacies, so that the principal of invested funds, as a whole, is about the same amount as one year ago. The large amount which had to be taken from the Contingent Fund was partly due to lessened receipts from the Allotment Account.

TRUST FUNDS

The depression has been a testing time of the trust funds held by our churches. Some of our churches have lost nearly all of their trust funds and with others trust funds have been sadly diminished. It would have been fortunate if our churches five years ago had put their trust funds in the care of the Conference.

The Conference is now administering trust funds for the churches to the amount of nearly $200,000. Of the investments made by the Finance Committee in the Trust Account none have defaulted their coupons — a remarkable record. The Conference has been able to pay 5% on the General Investment Account of trust funds. This is an increase from the amount paid one year ago. We hold that under the plan adopted by the Board of Trustees for the care of trust funds of the churches, such funds are safer in the care of the Conference than they can be under any form of investment open to the individual churches. One of the first principles of good church management would seem to be to guard carefully its permanent funds.

Respectfully submitted,
OLIVER D. SEWALL,
Treasurer.

ANALYSIS OF EXPENDITURES

The Appraisal Committee, which reported to the Conference at the North Adams meeting, presented an analysis of expenditures, prepared by that Committee. The Conference passed a resolution that a similar but briefer statement should be published with each annual financial report of the Conference. In accordance with this resolution the Treasurer presents the following statement for the year 1932–33.

The Income Account, page 00, shows expenditures of $188,588. Subtracting $117,383, the amount of missionary aid given to churches and missions, the other expenditures are $70,854. In accordance with the analysis of last year's disbursements presented by the Appraisal Committee at North Adams, I estimate this $70,854 should be distributed as follows:

		Per Cent
1. Conference Organization, Annual Meeting, Committees, Statistics	$7,043	1.4
2. Service to individual churches (General Council, Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply, Massachusetts Federation of Churches, Service of Executive Officers)	24,454	5.0
3. Service to Missions and Missionary Churches .	17,323	3.5
4. Care of Trust Funds for Churches	1,000	.2
5. Massachusetts Agents for Congregational Church Building Society	500	.1
6. Work of Missionary Education and Promotion for other Missionary Societies	18,822	3.8
7. Annuities paid on Conditional Gifts	1,712	.3
Total	$70,854	14.3%
Other Disbursements
8. Aid to Missions and Missionary Churches . .	$117,383	23.7
9. Collected for and paid to other Missionary Societies	307,037	62.0
Total Disbursements	$495,274	100.0%

It will be noticed that 85.7% of all moneys collected is expended in direct financial aid and in missionary apportionment disbursements. According to the analysis made last year by the Appraisal Committee, of the remaining per cent, 14.3%, one half or 7.15% is assigned to cost or overhead. The other half (7.15%) is accounted for as services, missionary or other, to the churches.

BEQUESTS

Bequests to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society are used to aid weak churches and to promote the work and interests of the Conference in the State. Bequests may be made permanent funds by the donor, and the Conference restricted to use only of income. The practice of the Conference is to divide unrestricted legacies into three equal parts. One part is used for current work, one part is added to the Permanent Legacy Fund, the income only of which is used for general purposes; and the third part is added to a Contingent Fund, the principal of which may be drawn upon to care for special undertakings or to avoid a deficit.

If, on the other hand, a testator specifies that his entire legacy is to be expended as current income and that he does not wish it invested in whole or in part, these directions will be carefully observed.

Bequests to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society pay no Massachusetts inheritance tax.

FORM OF BEQUEST

I give to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the sum of........................Dollars.

TRUST FUNDS

The Conference is glad to receive bequests to be held in trust for the benefit of churches. No charge is made for administering such trusts.

Bequests are frequently made by devoted, generous men and women to our churches. It is not an easy matter for parish committees, some of which have had no experience in handling trust funds, to make wise and safe investments. The Conference feels that it has a legitimate concern in seeing that the principal and income of these funds are properly safeguarded. It therefore strongly urges churches to place such funds in its care. The Conference has exceptional facilities for keeping funds safely and investing them profitably and wisely. The Board of Trustees of the Conference, which has charge of all its funds, contains men of large ability and experience in such matters. The churches may avail themselves of the service of this ability and experience without expense.

CONDITIONAL GIFTS

The Conference receives conditional gifts, subject to annuity agreements with the donors, and encourages this method for those who wish any part of their property to be applied to our work after their death, and desire an assured income from this property for themselves, or for others whom they may designate as beneficiaries, so long as they live. Correspondence with the Treasurer concerning such annuity agreements is invited.

THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF SPRINGFIELD

PRESIDENT, REV. GARRETT V. STRYKER

CLERK, REV. JOHN B. LEWIS TREASURER, JOHN A. DALE

In accordance with the mutual agreement between the two organizations, ten per cent of the contributions for current work received by the Union is paid over to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

The Congregational Union of Springfield is incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts and may receive bequests and hold property.

RECORDING SECRETARY, REV. HARRISON L. PACKARD
TREASURER, EBENEZER G. SEAL

The Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, by agreement with the Worcester City Missionary Society, is responsible for the financial assistance and the supervision of home missionary churches in Worcester in their current work, while the Worcester City Missionary Society represents the fellowship of the Congregational churches of the city and is responsible for aiding churches in property matters, contributing toward the purchase and maintenance of property and the payment of building debts.

Contributions for home missions from the churches in Worcester, to be credited on the apportionment, should be sent to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society. Contributions for the local work, given in addition to the apportionment and not to be credited as a part of it, should be sent to the treasurer of the Worcester City Missionary Society.

GRANTS FROM THE MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY

1. Wherever a community is too far from a church to benefit from its privileges, the Conference encourages the establishment of regular religious services, and, if possible, the organization of a church, or a branch of a neighboring church.

2. Applications by any church for financial aid should be made by the vote of the church, and upon forms furnished by the Conference, and should have the approval of the Advisory or Missionary Committee of the local Association of Churches.

3. Churches applying for aid must show that they have met in full all financial obligations to their ministers and are doing their utmost toward self-support.

4. In granting aid the Conference will appropriate different amounts according to the necessity, importance, and prospects of each field.

5. Every church aided by the Conference must consult the President or Secretary before making arrangements for pastoral service.

6. Whenever the service of the minister or other worker, for whose support an appropriation is made, shall terminate, the appropriation shall lapse, except for special reasons satisfactory to the President.

7. The Conference advocates adequate compensation for every minister and worker.

8. The Conference favors hearty cooperation with other denominations, the avoidance of overlapping and competing work, and the consolidation or federation of churches of different denominations in over-churched communities.

STATISTICAL TABLES

EXPLANATORY

The tables which follow comprise:

1. The statistics of the churches, giving the ministers, church membership, additions, removals, Sunday schools, and the amount of benevolences and expenses. These tables, in accordance with the vote of the Conference, in 1887, are made to conform to those in the Year Book; but names in the pastoral column are changed according to the latest information before going to press.
2. The Associations of the churches, with the names of officers and the times of meeting.
3. The Ministerial Standing, giving the date of ordination of each minister, the date of membership, the residence and his "employment." "P. C." means pastor by council; "P.," pastor otherwise; "W. C." means without church; other abbreviations are self-evident. "W. C.," however, includes many who have retired from active service, and some who are in business.
4. The Ministerial Record containing lists of ordinations, installations, dismissals, and deaths.

The tables of the first part contain the names of all the Congregational churches in Massachusetts, the towns and cities being arranged alphabetically; churches in each town according to age. If the post office name of the church and the town name differ, a footnote on the page where the post office name would naturally be found will direct the reader to the town name.

Church members and families are reported as numbered January 1, 1933. Admissions and removals cover the year 1932. "Absent" are not additional to "males," "females" and "total," but included in them. "Sunday school" includes total membership of officers, teachers and scholars, January 1, 1933, or when the school is in operation (if not at that date), covering "branch schools," "mission schools" and "home departments," so far as maintained by the reporting church.

The months and days in the dates of the organization of churches are omitted. They will be found in the publications of 1873, those of churches since organized being given in the "Minutes" of each year. Also the months and days in the dates of ordination and installation of ministers are omitted. The former may be found in the lists of the local Associations which follow the tables.

"Ordained" denotes the date on which the person was originally set apart to the ministry by the "laying-on of hands." "Commenced" denotes the date of the beginning of his present pastorate.

In accordance with the recommendation of the National Council, in the Statistical Tables pastors installed are marked "i."; pastors recognized by a council called for that purpose are marked "r."; pastors duly called by their churches, but not installed or recognized by council, are not marked; "y" before a pastor's name indicates that he has a yoked (double or triple) field.

Blanks in any column of figures are never equivalent to "none," but mean "no report"; but blanks in the column of ministers do mean that the church has no pastor or acting pastor, and the blank is left for the convenience of those who note changes.

Under Sunday Schools, "c" denotes cradle roll, "h" home department, "e" both cradle roll and home department, and "b" a mission or branch school.

In the final column, under valuation of church property, an asterisk * indicates that the church has a parsonage (value included), or in a very few cases that house rent for the minister is paid in addition to the stated salary.

The condensed form in which the Year Book tables are published this year offers the reader an opportunity for personal computation, as, for example, to find the number of female members, subtract the number of male members from the total.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF MINISTERS

This list gives the names of pastors, or acting pastors, and of all Congregational ministers who are members of the Associations or Conferences that guard ministerial standing.

Ministers who are not reported as having ministerial standing in this state, and who have not been installed by council, are designated by a star (*). This does NOT mean that the man has no ministerial standing.

The first column of figures gives the page on which names may be found of all in pastoral service. A blank in the first column signifies that the person is not reported as being in pastoral service in this state.

The second column of figures gives the page on which ministerial standing is recorded.

The post-office addresses as given below often differ from the places named in the tables, and are supposed to be correct in this list.

An alphabetical list of licentiates follows this list.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—IF your name is not correctly printed in the preceding tables, IF one Christian name is not given in full, IF your ordination is not correct or is not in its proper place, IF your post-office is wrong, or IF before you receive the next Year-Book your post-office is changed, or IF your name is omitted from this list, the needed change or correction should be reported at once to the Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass., Registrar of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

MASSACHUSETTS
CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY

1934

MINUTES OF THE 135th ANNUAL MEETING

WITH THE STATISTICS

BROOKLINE, MAY 21, 22, 23

THE JORDAN & MORE PRESS
BOSTON

NOTICES

All communications should be addressed to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, Room 611, 14 Beacon Street, Boston; except communications for the Registrar, Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, which should be addressed to 169 Crescent Road, Longmeadow.

All missionary contributions should be sent to Oliver D. Sewall, Treasurer, 14 Beacon Street, Boston.

According to the vote of the Conference, contributions for the year 1934 are divided as follows:

Foreign Missions (A. B. C. F. M.)	42½%
National Home Missions	43½%
State Work (M. C. C. & M. S.)	13 %
Boston Seaman's Friend Society	1 %

Checks should be made payable to Oliver D. Sewall, Treasurer.

It is recommended and earnestly requested that church treasurers remit quarterly in January, April, July and October such funds as are in hand, and that the final remittance for each calendar year be sent before January 10, if credit is desired in the next Year-Book.

Honorary Life Membership in the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society may be secured by a gift of thirty dollars, by a church or individual. Gifts made at different dates within the limits of any one fiscal year may be applied to Honorary Life Memberships, if the wish for such application is expressed when the gifts are made.

Copies of the Act of Incorporation may be had on application to 14 Beacon Street, Boston.

The churches are requested to contribute through the treasurers of their Associations for the expenses of the Conference a sum equivalent to thirteen cents for each member, based upon the total membership of January 1, 1934, and the treasurers of the Associations are requested to forward the amounts as soon as possible to Oliver D. Sewall, Treasurer, 14 Beacon St., Boston.

The "Minutes" are sent to the churches by direction of the Conference, with distribution of one copy to every minister, one to every church clerk, one to every Conference official or committee member, one to each local Association official named within, and one to every life member of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society. As long as the edition lasts, other copies may be secured by Massachusetts Congregationalists without charge, and by others for twenty-five cents, upon application to the Secretary, Rev. Alfred V. Bliss, 14 Beacon St., Boston, or the Registrar, Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass. It is suggested that every church preserve a copy of the "Minutes" with its other records.

1. That the apportionment goal for giving in Massachusetts for 1934–35 be $500,000 which is approximately 20 per cent of the current expenses reported by the churches in 1933.
2. That gifts not designated by the donors for specific objects be divided on the following basis: American Board 42½%, National Home Boards 43½%, State 14%, including 1% for the Boston Seaman's Friend Society.
3. That the churches continue the Project Plan for apportionment giving with educational emphasis, and with realization that under the stress of continued reduction of financial support, many of these projects are being eliminated or combined, and that patience must be exercised toward the Boards and the State Conference office in their efforts to administer the projects under rapidly changing conditions.

4. That the suggestion of the Commission on Missions for continuation of the Visitation Plan of Board Secretaries establishing contacts with local church officials for mutual conference be approved and encouraged in this state.

5. That the plan of the Cent-a-Meal boxes approved by the Boards for use in collecting new apportionment gifts in small amounts especially from families not already pledging for missions be approved and heartily promoted in this state among the churches.

3. That in this day of economic stress and strain when the coming of another child adds an almost impossible burden to many an overburdened home, the Conference go on record as favoring the repeal of those laws which forbid the dissemination amongst mothers by doctors, hospitals and clinics of scientific birth-control information.

Rev. George E. Cary, chairman of the Board of Trustees, offered the following resolutions which were adopted:

1. The Board of Trustees suggest that the Conference constitute Rev. Frederick H. Page, President Emeritus of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

2. The following resolution of the Trustees was read and adopted by the Conference:

For eight crucial years Asa M. Parker has brought to the office of Secretary of Missionary Promotion both a sound method and an undiminished zeal.

His method has been to share with our people the basic facts and purposes in our missionary enterprise, by institutes, round-table conferences and spiritual cultivation. He has wisely spent much time in regenerating the whole life of many of our churches.

His zeal born of the conviction, has been sorely tried lately. The mood of the present hour has little concern for the salvation of Christless peoples. Also, the past five years have seen a shrinking of personal incomes and a consequent shrinking of missionary support.

The Nominating Committee made its report by the chairman, Rev. Harry L. Oldfield, West Springfield. This report was supplemented by the Trustees' nominations for executive officers. These reports were accepted, the nominations for committees were adopted and the officers were elected by ballot.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The recommendation of the Trustees was adopted and the act accepted.

The Trustees recommend an amendment to the first sentence in the paragraph entitled "Voting Members," under Article IV of the By-laws, so that it will read as follows:

"Each evangelical Congregational church in this Commonwealth or Christian church that is a member of a Congregational-Christian Association of churches in Massachusetts may annually choose," etc.

And further to amend said Article IV by adding after the last sentence of the paragraph entitled "Voting Members," the following words:

"it is provided, however, that pastors of churches to qualify for the voting privilege shall be Congregational or Christian ministers having membership in Congregational or Congregational-Christian Associations regularly holding ministerial standing."

Article IV, paragraph entitled "Voting Members," thus amended, would read as follows:

"Each evangelical Congregational church in this Commonwealth or Christian church that is a member of a Congregational-Christian Association of churches in Massachusetts may annually choose two delegates (of whom it is suggested one shall be a layman and the other a lay-woman), and these delegates, together with the pastor or pastors of each church (who shall be members ex officio) the officers of the Conference (including the members of the Board of Trustees), the committee members of the Conference and those persons who, prior to May 22, 1923 became life members of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, shall constitute the voting membership of the Conference; it is provided, however, that pastors of churches to qualify for the voting privilege shall be Congregational or Christian ministers having membership in Congregational or Congregational-Christian Associations regularly holding ministerial standing."

It was voted

That these amendments to the By-laws recommended by the Board of Trustees be laid on the table to be acted on at the next annual meeting and that in accordance with section 2 of Article XVII, notice be sent to the several churches connected with the Conference at least three months prior to the Annual Meeting of 1935, that these proposed amendments to Article IV will come before that meeting for action.

5. That section 3 of Article V be amended by striking out the first sentence and substituting therefor: "The Conference shall elect by ballot a Board of Trustees consisting of one member from each Association of churches, six members at large who shall be known for their special knowledge of financial affairs of whom one shall be chosen each even numbered year and two,—beginning with the year 1935,— each odd numbered year, the chairman and vice-chairman of the Woman's Department ex officiis and the moderator ex officio."

The amendment was adopted.

6. That Article VII of the By-laws be amended by striking out in section 1 the words "the retirement age for all Conference employees shall be seventy years," and inserting in place thereof the words "with respect to employees not members of the executive staff it shall be the policy of the Conference to retire every such employee upon his or her attaining the age of seventy years, provided, however, that this shall not affect the power of the Trustees temporarily to employ from time to time persons who have passed that age (including former members of the executive staff), whenever in particular cases the Trustees shall deem such temporary employment essential to the efficient conduct of the Conference's work."

The amendment was adopted.

7. That Article VII be further amended by striking out section 2, and by inserting in place thereof the following new sections to be designated as section 2 and section 3 respectively:

"Section 2: Ordained ministers who are members of the executive staff, shall be expected to be members of the Annuity Fund for Congregational Ministers, and the Conference shall not provide for them any other retirement annuity. Toward each annual premium in the Annuity Fund of any member of the staff the Conference shall pay each year an amount equal to the cash payment made by the ordained executive.

Section 3: Lay members of the office staff shall be expected to be, so far as practicable, members of the Retirement Fund for Lay Workers, and the Conference shall pay one-half the annual premium of such staff workers as are members of the fund. The Trustees may in their discretion grant retirement allowances to lay members of the office staff who have found it impracticable to become members of the retirement fund for lay workers.

WEDNESDAY MORNING

The session opened at 9 o'clock with a seminar: "The Christian Social Order," led by Professor Reinhold Niebuhr, New York City.

The Committee on Moral and Social Welfare presented the following resolutions:

1. That the Conference is opposed to compulsory military training in the high schools and colleges.

The resolution was adopted.

2. That the Conference deplores the world-wide increase in armaments and the sign of a new armament race among the great powers; that we especially deplore the passage of the Vinson Naval Bill; and that we urge support of the Nye resolution, S. 179, or any other similar resolution, to investigate the manufacturers of munitions and armaments.

The resolution was adopted.

3. That in this day of economic stress and strain when the coming of another child adds an almost impossible burden to many an overburdened home, the Conference goes on record as favoring the repeal of those laws which forbid the dissemination amongst mothers by doctors, hospitals and clinics, of scientific birth control information.

The resolution was adopted.

4. That gambling as an attempt to get something for nothing is detrimental to Christian character and ruinous to our civilization whether it be gambling in the stock market or gambling on any form of races.

We especially condemn House Bill 1378, which would legalize state lotteries for the purpose of providing additional revenue for the Commonwealth cities and towns.

We also condemn House Bill 17, which provides for the pari-mutuel system of betting on horse races.

We urge it as a duty upon each delegate here to get into direct communication with his or her local legislator by personal interview or by letter and express determined opposition to these two bills.

It was further voted

That a copy of this resolution be sent to Governor Joseph B. Ely and to Representative Albert F. Bigelow, Brookline.

The resolution was adopted.

5. That the Conference favors federal legislation for the outlawing of "block booking" and "blind selling" in the motion picture industry.

The resolution was adopted.

The Committee presented a resolution regarding the present evils of a re-legalized liquor traffic, which was unsatisfactory. The following resolution was adopted in its place:

6. "The present evils of a re-legalized liquor traffic are the inevitable result of repeal of prohibition. We recognize our own partial responsibility for the present deplorable situation because of our churches' failure to carry on a more comprehensive educational program regarding the physiological evils of beverage alcohol and the sociological, economic, legislative and political aspects of this traffic. We now dedicate ourselves to such a comprehensive program.

"We reaffirm our position that the only sound governmental attitude is that of refusal to approve license or to legalize the traffic. To this end we urge our people to use every opportunity to restrict, suppress and prohibit the traffic by voting against license in town, state and nation. We urge total abstinence for the individual.

"We urge that our people be not diverted from this goal by superficial propaganda regarding 'elimination of profits' or 'government sale,' or 'beer and wine as temperance drinks.' Though we recognize that our goal is not immediately attainable, we refuse, as a church, meanwhile, to endorse the program of putting the government in the business or placing the American flag over shops selling alcoholic poison for beverage use to our people."

It was voted that the foregoing resolutions adopted on the report of the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare be given to the press by the Secretary, and that copies of the same be sent to the ministers to be read in the churches.

It was voted that the resolutions read at the testimonial dinner given to the retiring president be inserted in the Minutes. The resolutions follow:

Whereas the administration of Dr. Page as president of this organization is drawing to its close,

Be it resolved that the following memorandum be made a part of the record of this meeting.

With the election of Frederick Harlan Page as president of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society a new and broader policy was planned for this institution. It is partly expressed in the change of name to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society. It was hoped that the society would become a centre of Congregational activity in Massachusetts and that its influence would extend to all the churches which might need advice and assistance in any phase of their work. It was the task of the new president to discover the methods and establish the traditions of this broader service. As we look back upon the years of his administration we are conscious that the work has been done in a spirit and with results which we all admire.

Dr. Page had peculiar qualities to fit him for this work. His faith, his appreciation of spiritual values, his devotion, and his courage were equal to carrying on the work of the society upon the highest plane. He had also a shrewd common sense, a knowledge of proportion, a sense of humor, an acquaintance with men and affairs that made him an able administrator. He could listen with patience and sympathy, but he could not easily be deceived or misled. He has been successful in constructive measures. His conception of Christian fellowship has been shown in cooperation with other denominations.

It is with pleasant memories, and affectionate regard, and deep gratitude that we look back upon his service in the high office which he has held. We also express our confident expectation that in the future as in the past he will render fine service to the church and the community.

It was voted that the resolutions adopted by the Trustees regarding Mr. Henry K. Hyde, Ware, be adopted by the Conference, and that a copy be sent to Mrs. Hyde. Following are the resolutions:

"The Conference has met with a great loss in the passing of Henry K. Hyde, who died November 18, 1933. He was elected a member of the executive committee (Trustees) in May, 1909, and to the time of his decease he gave eighteen years' service to the Board. For three years he was president of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society. He was deeply interested in home missionary work in Massachusetts.

"Mr. Hyde was a man of surpassing business ability. He gave consistently of his time and strength to the Home Missionary Society and Conference. His help in the care and investment of the funds of the Conference was invaluable. The present good condition of its investments is chiefly due to him. He served with marked ability on a number of national denominational organizations and committees.

"He was a man of the deepest integrity. Underneath his modest and gracious manner was a character of extraordinary force. He had facts and sound reason behind his judgments and when he spoke it was to carry conviction. The opinions of no one in our denomination were listened to with more respect.

"He was a remarkably fine type of what a Christian gentleman should be. We have been greatly blessed by his help, counsel and rare friendship. For him the Lord be praised. Amen."

A vote of appreciation was given to Rev. George E. Cary, the retiring chairman of the Board of Trustees.

A vote of appreciation was given Rev. J. Harold Dale for his wise and effective service as moderator.

The report of the Committee on Credentials was made by the Registrar, Rev. H. L. Bailey. It was a partial report and was accepted subject to revision and completion.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

The Conference year for 1933–4 has been a year of difficulty. It could not have been otherwise, in view of general conditions about the country. As the Atlantic Seaboard States were the last to feel the depression in full force, so its severity did not come upon our Massachusetts churches until late in December 1932. The calendar year of 1933 proved the hardest for our churches in a long period. Since January 1, 1934, there has been some improvement, but church receipts, whether for current expenses or for home and foreign missions, have remained at almost the lowest level. Financial reductions have ruled in all departments of our churches, and as yet there have been no marked evidences of a turn in the tide.

If the slight improvement in general business continues it should be felt in church receipts before the close of 1934, and there is some reason to hope that the annual church meetings of January 1935 will be more cheerful than for two years past.

Not only have ministers' salaries been cut—sometimes severely—but in all departments of church activities retrenchment has been necessary. Educational directors have been continued in their positions, if at all, at less expense. The cost of music has been reduced where possible, as has also janitor service, while printed church calendars have often been replaced by manifolding methods.

During the Conference year the Trustees have worked under a budget that was materially reduced and have been solicitous for economy. Reductions in salary expenses which had been made in 1932 have remained in full force, and there have been two less officials on the executive staff during the past year.

The decreases in appropriations to aided churches have been made by the Trustees only after the most careful consideration, and usually in concurrence with the advisory committees of the local Associations, as often going above these recommendations as cutting below them. It is due to these Association committees to say that they have in most instances taken their duties respecting recommendations to the Trustees in behalf of aided churches very seriously, and any "rubber-stamp" idea of their relationship to the Trustees has, it is to be hoped, passed away. Often these committees have met in special conference with members of the executive staff. Yet, notwithstanding these efforts for economy, the net reduction in total grants to churches is considerably less than it would have been had it not seemed absolutely necessary to extend emergency aid to a number of churches heretofore financially independent, whose resources were very badly impaired by industrial conditions. It is probable that such emergency grants will have to be continued for at least another full year in most cases.

The receipts from the churches under the apportionment system, applicable to aid for Massachusetts churches, showed a reduction of $9,882. This means that it has been necessary, as it was a year ago, to draw upon the Contingent Fund to the extent of $8,011 to balance the budget.

The total benevolent receipts under the apportionment system applicable to state, home and foreign missions has amounted to $367,025. This is a reduction of about twenty per cent as compared with last year, which is a little less than the percentage of reduction prevailing in the Congregational churches of the country.

Very naturally, it has been an exceedingly trying time for the churches. They have been tested as never before in recent years as to their missionary-mindedness. While now and then a church has taken the narrow view that it could use none of its receipts for missions so long as it was hard pressed for home expenses, we are glad to say that such an attitude was exceptional. Most of our churches have held firmly to the faith that the promotion of missions is just as vital to the welfare of the church as is preaching the gospel, education of the children, and other great functions of Christianity. It has often happened that the average percentage of money raised for missions has declined from the rate of 20% to 25% of the home expenses in normal times, to a lower percentage, but our churches generally have maintained their missionary spirit unimpaired; and a few of them have raised their apportionment in full.

It is as important as it is interesting that the churches have been very little concerned with theological issues. This seems to be due not only to financial anxieties, but perhaps in quite as large a way to the incoming flood of social and economic relationships. This tide has been increasing for the last two or three years, and it is now running very strong in our churches. Not only is the spirit of evangelism little in evidence, but also the religious educational interests of our churches are receiving less than their due share of attention.

We must not under-value the so-called social problems which are attracting such great interest from earnest-minded Christian people. They are often discussed with what may seem to be a raw radicalism to people of conservative, economic traditions; but they press upon the Christian consciousness for attention, in a great variety of concrete propositions from the abolition of war to the five-hour day. The whole tendency of the national thinking is affected by the "New Deal" and the N. R. A. in a way to make the year 1934 memorable. The extent to which enthusiasm for missions has been at least temporarily modified owing to this situation has not yet been appraised. It seems necessary to urge upon many people in our churches that the new and pressing interests in sociology and economics must not be allowed to monopolize, however great they loom upon the religious horizon.

Our generation shows increasing signs of moral uneasiness. At present its chief reliance seems to be in new legislation and in changed forms of Government. But even so, the world spirit is anxious and furtive and the underlying emotion betrays increasing ill will. Christian history shows that heretofore there has come a turning quite suddenly to religion—to Christ and his gospel. When the roots of religion are being nourished by prayer and expectancy, springtime in the soul is not far away.

FREDERICK HARLAN PAGE.

REPORT OF THE WOMAN'S DEPARTMENT

The year 1933–1934 has illustrated very clearly the scope and variety of our work. Hand, head and heart must each do its part in carrying out our program. Emphasis on worship, both public and private; enlisting younger women; linking up distinctly church work with community interests and encouraging intelligent study of current problems with reference to Christian responsibility have been some of the aims we have had in mind this year.

The Education Committee did not, from motives of economy, publish the Blue Book this year, but has put out a fine Reading List and given suggestions for programs to our Public Meetings Committee. It has tried to open windows and let in more light upon our minds and hearts. The chief tenet of its faith is that we must be students of this world and the needs of its people so long as we live in it.

Our Public Meetings Committee has given a program for the season which very pointedly illustrates the scope of our interests. We have had workers from India and Tennessee, Turkey and Dakota; youth about to enter the ministry, ministers still young and a veteran like Dr. Barton; Secretaries of Education and Missions and a great writer and lecturer like Basil Matthews, who together, have given us a picture of the struggle of world forces and the part which our work has to play in building the Kingdom. We have had song and worship and these hours have been full of help for head and heart.

Our Social Relations Committee, believing that faith without works is dead and that to neglect the neglected is a real sin against the Spirit of Jesus, under a new leader, is planning to put its program into action in every church in the State.

We women strive always to help in the local church to bear our true share of responsibility in its plans for balancing its budget, for promoting sound religious education in all parts of the church; to co-operate in all good community efforts and to encourage Christian principles of brotherhood in economic as well as social practices; to make personal religion the foundation for our living and our lives an expression of it; to take our place in District and Association activities and to realize our need of the Conference and our duty to it; to recognize our splendid National organizations and to do our part in furthering their aims and in creating a consciousness of the power which comes from such a great Christian Congregational body.

The District is the heart of our work. Through its organization the plans of the Executive Committee of the Department are turned into realities. It is here that the close relation between the State organization and the local group becomes a fact. In some Districts visitation by teams has proved very successful and the enlarging of District Boards to include a representative of the woman's organization of each church has been another way of strengthening the relation between the District officials and the local church. In every possible way there has been a real effort to make the Department more than an organization. We hope that its members have felt real friendliness and a deep sense of joy in working together and gratitude for all the awakening of mind and spirit which the task has brought.

Our young people's and children's work has been carried on through the Young People's and Children's Secretaries of the various Districts. These Secretaries have been responsible for leaders' conferences, children's rallies, the distribution of literature, the Christmas box work, and the promotion of world service in the church schools. At least twelve rallies were held for the children, and about 2,000 children were reached with a missionary message. Our great need is for work with the intermediates, and more and more these secretaries will take responsibility for this particular age. Much of the young people's work is being done through the Association Religious Education Committees, but if these women secretaries will stress children's and intermediate work they will be filling a real need.

Mrs. David E. Brown, Acting Associate Secretary of the Commission on Missions, has kept us in close touch with the work done by women of other states and through the mimeographed material, known as the Presidents' Exchange, we have been able to make many valuable suggestions to our local leaders. Under Mrs. Brown's leadership we had a splendid day and a half in Northfield for leaders in New England and adjoining states. At the Mid-Winter Meeting in Evanston there was a meeting for leaders from all over our country. At that meeting a National Committee of Women State Presidents was chosen, on which Massachusetts was represented. We had a part in the plans for the Inter-denominational Missionary Rally in October and had a fine woman's meeting at the Regional Conference at Pittsfield and at Leyden Church in Brookline in connection with the Annual Meeting of the American Board.

Miss Ruth Isabel Seabury has added to her other duties as Secretary of the American Board the responsibility for Woman's Work in the Home Department of the American Board. She has spoken many times in our state and stimulated our women tremendously.

Mrs. Carver, the Secretary of the State Woman's Department, has been indefatigable in responding to calls and has visited every part of the state during the year. She has arranged for about 1200 speaking appointments in the state. An unusually large number of home missionary families have been provided with boxes of clothing and other useful articles.

As we look back on this last year the impressions which have been etched sharpest on our memories are of great occasions and of splendid people giving out really noble thoughts. We must believe in the power and contagion and beauty of goodness, and it is our joy to encourage a type of goodness which shall be large enough, generous enough and understanding enough to enlist the sympathetic help of every woman who is looking for a better day.

FLORENCE W. GROVER.

REPORT OF THE REGISTRAR

Very seldom has the Conference met within the bounds of the Suffolk West Association, and never before in Brookline. It met in Newton in 1862, and in Boston in 1825, 1893 and 1909. Since that last meeting, when I made my first statistical report, our churches have increased their membership by more than 50,000, recording a net gain every year except for 1932. Last year's loss has been made good only partially, but having written off a smaller number for depreciation, as a corporation report would phrase it, we find ourselves out of the red with a net gain of 172. There are 226 more men and 54 fewer women on our rolls than a year ago. The total is 170,707. Some curious facts appear in this connection. The total additions for the year were 7,901, the smallest since the World War year of 1918, while death removed the largest number on record except in that same war and influenza year. On the other hand transfers by letter, both in and out, have reached low marks for 30 and 50 years respectively. But the adjoining column of removals by roll revision bulks large in comparison with the dwindling number of dismissions by letter. Is it that the churches neglect to retain contact with their absent members and eventually make a wholesale roll revision? Or do the members in these days of easy flitting cast old church contacts into the discard and deliberately make themselves deserving victims of roll revision?

Roll revision touches the statistics from another angle. The Conference asks each church to contribute toward Conference expenses an amount figured in recent years at 13 cents per member. But there are churches which complain of the heavy amount asked of them. Please note that a Congregational church cannot be taxed authoritatively, but can only be moved by appeal to its sense of denominational fellowship. This sense of fellowship frequently tends toward the vanishing point in the finance committee. And the case is aggravated if the church has a large non-resident or inactive element in its membership. It rejoices in parading its large enrolment before an unsuspecting public through the newspapers or the Year Book but it says about its pro rata share of Conference expenses that instead of 800 or 1200 members reported in the Year Book it has only 600 or 900 worth counting for taxation (so called). Therefore conscientious churches are revising their rolls, and the result is ultimately beneficial. The process is not confined to the big churches. One church of 15 members reported this year: "There are only four members living in this town; the others we have dropped as they never give us any aid." Evidently church membership doesn't mean to this generation precisely the same as to our forefathers of the 19th and earlier centuries. In our complacency over our increased breadth, let us be careful that it does not imply decreased depth.

Our roll of churches includes 622, two less than last year. The Seminary church at Andover and the French church at Boston have ceased to exist. But two new churches have already been recognized in 1934 and will have a place on next year's roll, Pines Community in Revere and East Millbury, a Worcester suburb. Seven churches are designated as inactive, and one other would be so reported if any report whatever were obtainable. At South Dennis the inactive label has been removed this year after five years during which the membership faded 31 per cent but has now begun to grow.

The Sunday school enrolment continues to shrink, and at 110,443 has reached the level of 50 years ago when our church membership numbered 90,000 instead of 170,000. Thanks to a different basis of inclusiveness, the column of Young People's societies shows an increase in membership of nearly 2,000, and the total of 30,662 is the largest in 29 years. It includes, however, much more than the old Endeavor Society stood for, such as organized classes, scouts, etc. Right here it may be said that several totals which will appear in the Year Book would be larger if three prominent churches had sent their reports from one to seven weeks earlier. The Massachusetts schedule went to New York March 30. Despite repeated requests from the registrar, 18 churches besides those called inactive failed to report when the schedule was otherwise ready for the printer. Five of them have since come to hand, one church of over 500 members getting its report in on May 18. May the registrar courteously suggest that it is possible, if church officials are inclined, to compile financial statistics for any calendar year, such as the Year Book asks for, without waiting for an annual church meeting held anywhere between January 1 and March 31. The Year Book would be far later every year if every conference registrar waited for every church to send its report. It is extremely difficult for the Massachusetts registrar to maintain a devotional spirit in Lent in view of the exasperating delays of unreported churches. At the end of February this year 167 out of 622 churches were still delaying tabulation in this state.

The financial totals are saddening as regards benevolence. Our apportionment giving fell off $96,000 from a previous discouraging total. Home expenses show retrenchment in many parishes, and the salary column shows many a pastor taking a 10 or 20 per cent cut, although frequently saving his face by not reporting the new salary. On the whole, however, the churches seem to have been as considerate as possible of their pastors' needs, so far as one may generalize from columns of cold figures.

During the conference year 20 ministerial members have been removed by death. Five were pastors; four more as pastor, one as chaplain of the U. S. Navy and one as secretary of the American Board bore the title emeritus; eight were retired and one was in business. Seven resided outside the state but retained membership and standing in local associations, and one pastor here held his standing in Vermont. A. Herbert Armes had been pastor at Carlisle, Westminster, North Middleboro and Manomet; Thomas Bruce Bitler at Rutland, Hamilton, North Weymouth, Prospect Hill in Somerville, and Northampton First; Edward R. Evans at Winchendon; Augustus H. Fuller at Mattapoisett, West Medway, Billerica, Easton and Ballard Vale; Charles L. Goodrich interim service at North Adams; Charles E. Harris at Norton, Hyannis and West Yarmouth; Lewis W. Hicks at Wellesley; John A. Johnson at Lynn and Beverly Swedish; Charles W. Loomis at West Brookfield, Ashby and Hubbardston; Orlando M. Lord at Hanover and South Natick; George W. Love at Lanesboro and West Springfield; A. Edward Martin at Turners Falls, Ludlow, Stoughton, Worcester Memorial and Phillipston; Neil McPherson at Springfield; Arthur Mercer at Seekonk; Lawrence Phelps at Gardner, Chelsea and Leominster; John A. Sherley, no local pastorate; Edward K. Rawson, navy chaplain, no pastorate; William E. Strong at Beverly, Amherst and the American Board; Augustus C. Swain at Needham, West Warren, Hardwick and Groveland; and John G. Taylor at Melrose Highlands, Arlington Heights and a year at the Seaman's church in Boston. Their span of life averaged a little less than 75 years.

We shall do well to pause two minutes more to call the roll of others once in pastoral service with us in the state who answered the last roll call in the calendar year of 1933, 18 in number. John E. Bowman at Goshen and Scotland; Nehemiah Boynton at Littleton, Haverhill and Boston; Albert B. Cristy at Berlin and Conway; William C. Curtis at Whately; George L. Hanscom at Worcester; Edwin A. Hazeltine at Granville; Herbert K. Job at North Middleboro; Ansel E. Johnson at Everett; David L. Kebbe at Southwick, Springfield, Granville, Greenwich, South Dartmouth and Cummington; David Lundquist at Waltham; Frank B. Makepeace at Gloucester and Springfield; John W. Malcolm at East Weymouth; William T. McElveen at Boston; Myron O. Patton at Newburyport and Palmer; Hervey G. Pillsbury at Chicopee Falls; William I. Sweet at Everett; Charles Wattie at West Stockbridge, and George I. Conibear at Christian churches in Fall River and Assonet.

ALLOTMENT ACCOUNT

In 1928 the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society were united in a single corporation. Previous to that time, the National Council of Congregational Churches and the Conference had paid their expenses for meetings and administration by thirteen cents collected for each church member. It seems right that the Conference part of our organization should still pay its own charges and thirteen cents per member is still asked of the churches. Eight cents of the thirteen goes to the General Council (formerly The National Council) and five cents is kept by the Conference. The collection of the five cents per member is the attempt of the Conference part of our organization to pay its own expenses and not to become a charge upon missionary funds.

BEQUESTS

Bequests to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society are used to aid weak churches and to promote the work and interests of the Conference in the State. Bequests may be made permanent funds by the donor, and the Conference restricted to the use of the income only. The practice of the Conference is to divide unrestricted legacies into three equal parts. One part is used for current work, one part is added to the Permanent Legacy Fund, the income only of which is used for general purposes; and the third part is added to a Contingent Fund, the principal of which may be drawn upon to care for special undertakings or to avoid a deficit.

If, on the other hand, a testator specifies that his entire legacy is to be expended as current income and that he does not wish it invested in whole or in part, these directions will be carefully observed.

Bequests to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society pay no Massachusetts inheritance tax.

FORM OF BEQUEST

I give to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the sum of........................Dollars.

CONDITIONAL GIFTS

The Conference receives conditional gifts, subject to annuity agreements with the donors, and encourages this method for those who wish any part of their property to be applied to our work after their death, and desire an assured income from this property for themselves, or for others whom they may designate as beneficiaries, so long as they live. Correspondence with the Treasurer concerning such annuity agreements is invited.

TRUST FUNDS

The Conference is glad to receive bequests to be held in trust for the benefit of churches. Many churches have put their trust funds in the care of the Conference. It is now administering trust funds for churches in Massachusetts to the amount of $250,000. It makes no charge for its service. If any extra expense is incurred (expense for legal service, for example) that is charged against the principal or income of the fund involved. On funds which can be combined in investment (Funds B) the Conference has earned and paid churches the past three years 5%. Funds which have to be kept separate in investment have yielded about 4.6%.

It is not an easy matter for church or parish committees, made up for the most part of persons who have had little experience in administering funds, to guard the safety of church trust funds. The Conference has exceptional facilities for keeping funds safely and investing them profitably and wisely. The Board of Trustees of the Conference, which has charge of all its funds, contains men of large ability and experience in such matters. The churches may avail themselves of the service of this ability and experience without expense.

THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF SPRINGFIELD

PRESIDENT, REV. ANDREW J. STANTON

CLERK, REV. JOHN B. LEWIS TREASURER, MR. JOHN A. DALE

In co-operation with the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, the Congregational Union of Springfield supervises the home missionary work in Springfield.

All contributions for home missionary work in Massachusetts by the churches of Springfield should be made to the Congregational Union, and will be credited on the apportionment. In accordance with the mutual agreement between the two organizations, ten per cent of the contributions for current work received by the Union is paid over to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

The Congregational Union of Springfield is incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts and may receive bequests and hold property.

THE WORCESTER CITY MISSIONARY SOCIETY

PRESIDENT, MR. EDWIN G. NORMAN
EXECUTIVE SECRETARY, REV. MYRON W. FOWELL
RECORDING SECRETARY, REV. HARRISON L. PACKARD
TREASURER, MR. EBENEZER G. SEAL

The Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, by agreement with the Worcester City Missionary Society, is responsible for the financial assistance and the supervision of home missionary churches in Worcester in their current work, while the Worcester City Missionary Society represents the fellowship of the Congregational churches of the city and is responsible for aiding churches in property matters, contributing toward the purchase and maintenance of property and the payment of building debts.

Contributions for home missions from the churches in Worcester, to be credited on the apportionment, should be sent to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society. Contributions for the local work, given in addition to the apportionment and not to be credited as a part of it, should be sent to the treasurer of the Worcester City Missionary Society.

GRANTS FROM THE MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY

1. Wherever a community is too far from a church to benefit from its privileges, the Conference encourages the establishment of regular religious services, and, if possible, the organization of a church, or a branch of a neighboring church.

2. Applications by any church for financial aid should be made by the vote of the church, and upon forms furnished by the Conference, and should have the approval of the Advisory or Missionary Committee of the local Association of Churches.

3. Churches applying for aid must show that they have met in full all financial obligations to their ministers and are doing their utmost toward self-support.

4. In granting aid the Conference will appropriate different amounts according to the necessity, importance, and prospects of each field.

5. Every church aided by the Conference must consult the President or Secretary before making arrangements for pastoral service.

6. Whenever the service of the minister or other worker, for whose support an appropriation is made, shall terminate, the appropriation shall lapse, except for special reasons satisfactory to the President.

7. The Conference advocates adequate compensation for every minister and worker.

8. The Conference favors hearty co-operation with other denominations, the avoidance of overlapping and competing work, and the consolidation or federation of churches of different denominations in over-churched communities.

REPORTS OF BOARDS AND COMMITTEES

It has been voted to omit from this volume the Reports of Boards and Committees which were printed in the Advance Reports and distributed before the meeting in Brookline. Any person desiring a copy of these Reports for filing with the Minutes may obtain it by writing to Secretary A. V. Bliss, 14 Beacon St., Boston.

STATISTICAL TABLES

EXPLANATORY

The tables which follow comprise:

1. The statistics of the churches, giving the ministers, church membership, additions, removals, Sunday schools, and the amount of benevolences and expenses. These tables, in accordance with the vote of the Conference, in 1887, are made to conform to those in the Year Book; but names in the pastoral column are changed according to the latest information before going to press.

2. The Associations of the churches, with the names of officers and the times of meeting.

3. The Ministerial Standing, giving the date of ordination of each minister, the date of membership, the residence and his "employment." "P. C." means pastor by council; "P.," pastor otherwise; "W. C." means without church; other abbreviations are self-evident. "W. C.," however, includes many who have retired from active service, and some who are in business.

4. The Ministerial Record containing lists of ordinations, installations, dismissals, and deaths.

The tables of the first part contain the names of all the Congregational churches in Massachusetts, the towns and cities being arranged alphabetically; churches in each town according to age. If the post office name of the church and the town name differ, a footnote on the page where the post office name would naturally be found will direct the reader to the town name.

Church members and families are reported as numbered January 1, 1934. Admissions and removals cover the year 1933. "Absent" are not additional to "males," "females" and "total," but included in them. "Sunday school" includes total membership of officers, teachers and scholars, January 1, 1934, or when the school is in operation (if not at that date), covering "branch schools," "mission schools" and "home departments," so far as maintained by the reporting church.

The months and days in the dates of the organization of churches are omitted. They will be found in the publications of 1873, those of churches since organized being given in the "Minutes" of each year. Also the months and days in the dates of ordination and installation of ministers are omitted. The former may be found in the lists of the local Associations which follow the tables.

"Ordained" denotes the date on which the person was originally set apart to the ministry by the "laying-on of hands." "Commenced" denotes the date of the beginning of his present pastorate.

In accordance with the recommendation of the National Council, in the Statistical Tables pastors installed are marked "i."; pastors recognized by a council called for that purpose are marked "r."; pastors duly called by their churches, but not installed or recognized by council, are not marked; "y" before a pastor's name indicates that he has a yoked (double or triple) field.

Blanks in any column of figures are never equivalent to "none," but mean "no report"; but blanks in the column of ministers do mean that the church has no pastor or acting pastor, and the blank is left for the convenience of those who note changes.

Under Sunday Schools, "c" denotes cradle roll, "h" home department, "e" both cradle roll and home department, and "b" a mission or branch school.

In the final column, under valuation of church property, an asterisk * indicates that the church has a parsonage (value included), or in a very few cases that house rent for the minister is paid in addition to the stated salary.

The condensed form in which the Year Book tables are published this year offers the reader an opportunity for personal computation, as, for example, to find the number of female members, subtract the number of male members from the total.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF MINISTERS

This list gives the names of pastors, or acting pastors, and of all Congregational ministers who are members of the Associations that guard ministerial standing.

Ministers who are not reported as having ministerial standing in this state, and who have not been installed by council, are designated by a star (*). This does NOT mean that the man has no ministerial standing.

The first column of figures gives the page on which names may be found of all in pastoral service. A blank in the first column signifies that the person is not reported as being in pastoral service in this state.

The second column of figures gives the page on which ministerial standing is recorded.

The post-office addresses as given below often differ from the places named in the tables, and are supposed to be correct in this list.

An alphabetical list of licentiates follows this list.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—IF your name is not correctly printed in the preceding tables, IF one Christian name is not given in full, IF your ordination is not correct or is not in its proper place, IF your post-office is wrong, or IF before you receive the next Year-Book your post-office is changed, or IF your name is omitted from this list, the needed change or correction should be reported at once to the Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass., Registrar of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

BY-LAWS OF THE MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY

ARTICLE I

Terminology

Whenever in these by-laws the word "Conference" is used it shall be held to refer to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

ARTICLE II

Denominational Basis

Following Congregational principles, this Conference shall under no circumstances exercise authority over churches or individuals or interfere with the government or discipline of the churches. It shall advise and counsel the churches when requested, but it is recognized that each church has the power of self-determination in all matters.

ARTICLE III

Doctrinal Basis

This Conference declares its steadfast allegiance to the faith which our fathers confessed, which, from age to age, has found its expression in the historic creeds of the Church Universal and of this Communion.

ARTICLE IV

Membership

Voting Members. Each evangelical Congregational church in this Commonwealth may annually choose two delegates (of whom, it is suggested, one shall be a layman and the other a laywoman) and these delegates, together with the pastor or pastors of each church (who shall be members ex officio), the officers of the Conference (including the members of the Board of Trustees), the committee members of the Conference, and those persons who prior to May 22, 1923, became life members of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, shall constitute the voting membership of the Conference.

Honorary Members. Delegates from corresponding bodies and persons appointed to speak before the Conference, together with all persons heretofore constituted honorary members of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, such persons as may be made honorary members by a vote of the Board of Trustees, and such other persons as the Conference may from time to time vote to admit, shall be honorary members of the Conference, with the privilege of speaking, but without vote.

ARTICLE V

Officers

1. There shall be a Moderator, one or more vice-Moderators, a Recording Secretary, a chairman and a vice-chairman of the Department of Woman's Work (See Art. VIII, sec. 2), all of whom shall be nominated by the nominating committee hereinafter provided for, and elected by ballot at each annual meeting of the Conference for a term of one year and until their respective successors are chosen.

2. The executive officers of the Conference shall be a President, a Secretary, a Treasurer, a Secretary of Missionary Education and Promotion, a Secretary of the Department of Woman's Work, a Young People's Secretary, and a Registrar. These officers shall constitute the Executive Staff. They shall be nominated by the Board of Trustees meeting in executive session, and elected by ballot at each annual meeting of the Conference for a term of one year and until their respective successors are chosen.

3. "The Conference shall elect by ballot a Board of Trustees consisting of one member from each Association of churches, six members at large who shall be known for their special knowledge of financial affairs of whom one shall be chosen each even numbered year and two,— beginning with the year 1935,— each odd numbered year, the chairman and vice-chairman of the Woman's Department ex-officiis and the Moderator ex-officio." One-third of the representatives of the Associations upon the Board shall be ministers, one-third laymen, and one-third laywomen, as nearly as may be. Nine members shall constitute a quorum. The term of office shall be four years, and no member having served a full term shall be eligible for re-election until after one year. The present Trustees shall remain in office until the expiration of their terms.

The Conference shall from time to time designate the Associations from which Trustees are to be chosen in the successive years and determine whether the Trustee to be chosen from a particular Association in any year shall be a minister, a layman, or a laywoman.

Each Association shall be notified by the Secretary of the Conference on or before September 15 when it is its turn to propose to the nominating committee a candidate for membership upon the Board, and whether such candidate should be a minister, a layman or a laywoman, and the names of such candidates shall be reported to the Secretary before April 1, of each year. The Secretary upon the receipt of these names shall communicate them to the nominating committee on or before April 10. In case any Association fails to propose a candidate the Board of Trustees shall perform this duty. This method of choosing Trustees shall commence at the close of the 1933 Conference.

At its first meeting after each annual meeting of the Conference the Board shall choose one of its members to serve as chairman for the ensuing year. Except as otherwise provided in the charter of the Conference or in these by-laws, the Board shall administer and dispose of the property of the Conference and shall manage all its business and affairs, and all officers and agents of the Conference shall act under its direction. The Board shall cause the accounts of the Treasurer to be audited at least once each year by certified public accountants selected by the Board. Without restricting the generality of the foregoing, the Board shall in particular have the following powers:

(a) To choose a Clerk, to appoint its own meetings and form its own rules of business, to appoint sub-committees and to delegate any of its powers to such committees.

(b) To appoint and, at pleasure, remove all agents of the Conference and to define their duties.

(c) To fill any vacancy in any office of the Conference (including vacancies in the membership of the Board) until the vacancy shall be filled at a succeeding meeting of the Conference.

(d) To remove any officer of the Conference (other than members of the Board) who may be guilty of disregard of his duties or of such conduct as shall be seriously prejudicial to the interests of the Conference.

(e) To direct efforts to promote missionary interest and giving among the Congregational churches of the Commonwealth.

4. The terms of all officers, save when chosen to fill vacancies, shall begin at the close of the meeting at which they are elected.

ARTICLE VI

Duties of Officers

1. The Moderator, or in his absence, one of the vice-Moderators, shall preside over all meetings of the Conference.

2. The President shall be the chief executive officer of the Conference and shall, subject to the direction of the Conference and of its Board of Trustees, have general charge of its missionary and benevolent work and of its other activities. He shall be a member ex officio of all standing committees named in the by-laws with the exception of the nominating committee. He shall be the representative of the Conference and of its Board of Trustees among all the churches (both those financially independent and those aided by the funds of the Conference) and in all denominational and interdenominational gatherings (including meetings of state Superintendents) unless representation is otherwise provided. He may seek to assist pastors and churches with fraternal counsel. He shall keep informed as to opportunities for extension work through founding new churches or strengthening old ones and shall recommend to the Conference and to the Board of Trustees measures for meeting such opportunities.

3. The Secretary shall keep the records of the Conference, except as hereinafter provided, and shall assist in its general work under the direction of the President. He shall devote himself, in particular, to the care and oversight of churches financially aided by the Conference and shall perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Board of Trustees. He shall have the custody of the records and of all bonds given by the treasurer as hereinafter provided. He shall furnish copies of the record certified under the seal of the Conference (which shall be in his keeping) to such persons as may be entitled thereto.

4. The Treasurer shall receive and hold the property of the Conference subject to the direction of the Board of Trustees and shall keep particular accounts of the Conference's funds and of the disposal thereof. He shall, under the direction of the President, assist, so far as he may be able, in the general work of the Conference and shall perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Board of Trustees. He shall make a report at each annual meeting of the Conference and shall make such other reports as the Conference or the Board of Trustees may from time to time require. He shall receive all contributions for benevolences sent to him by the churches and by individuals and shall disburse the same in accordance with the instructions of the donors. He shall give such bonds for the faithful performance of his duties as may from time to time be required by the Board of Trustees.

5. The Secretary of Missionary Education and Promotion shall have the duty of advancing the interest of the churches in the work of missions at home and abroad. He shall, under the direction of the President, assist, so far as he may be able, in the general work of the Conference.

6. The Secretary of the Department of Woman's Work shall have special charge of promoting missionary interests and all other activities among the women of the Congregational churches of the Commonwealth. She shall, under the direction of the President, assist, so far as she may be able, in the general work of the Conference.

7. The Young People's Secretary shall encourage and promote Christian living and Christian activities among the young people of the Congregational churches of the state. He, or she, shall be particularly interested in assisting each church in developing and organizing the latent Christian power of its young men and young women. He, or she, shall, under the direction of the President, assist so far as able in the general work of the Conference.

8. The Registrar shall collect and publish in connection with the annual Report of the Conference the statistics of ministers and churches and make up the official roll of the ministers and churches in accordance with the usages of the denomination. He shall present to the Conference at its annual meeting a general statistical statement of the progress of religion in the churches for the past calendar year. He shall give suitable notice to the churches of the time and place of each annual meeting, notify officers and committees of their election or appointment and fulfill such other functions as the Conference or the Board of Trustees may from time to time direct.

9. The Recording Secretary shall record the complete minutes of each annual meeting and shall transcribe and deliver the same to the Secretary. The Board of Trustees may, in their discretion, appoint a deputy to assist in the keeping of the records under the direction of the Recording Secretary.

ARTICLE VII

Retirement and Annuity

1. No person who has attained the age of 70 years or more shall be eligible for election or re-election to the Executive Staff. (This provision shall not apply to the President, now in office, until 1934, nor to the Treasurer, now in office, until 1938.) With respect to employees not members of the executive staff it shall be the policy of the Conference to retire every such employee upon his or her attaining the age of seventy years, provided, however, that this shall not affect the power of the Trustees temporarily to employ from time to time persons who have passed that age (including former members of the executive staff) whenever in particular cases the Trustees shall deem such temporary employment essential to the efficient conduct of the Conference's work.

2. Ordained ministers, who are members of the executive staff, shall be expected to be members of the Annuity Fund for Congregational Ministers, and the Conference shall not provide for them any other retirement annuity. Toward each annual premium in the Annuity Fund of any member of the staff the Conference shall pay each year an amount equal to the cash payment made by the ordained executive.

3. Lay members of the office staff shall be expected to be, so far as practicable, members of the Retirement Fund for Lay Workers, and the Conference shall pay one-half the annual premium of such staff workers as are members of the fund. The Trustees may in their discretion grant retirement allowances to lay members of the office staff who have found it impracticable to become members of the retirement fund for lay workers.

ARTICLE VIII

Department of Woman's Work

1. There shall be a Department of Woman's Work of the Conference. The object of this department shall be to enlist the earnest and systematic co-operation of women in the cause of missions, to support the special work committed by the national Home and Foreign Boards of the denomination to this Commonwealth, to help to promote the entire work of the local church and to further in every way possible the cause of Christ. The voting members of this department shall be the women members of the Conference, together with such other women as may be determined by the rules of the department. The women members of the Board of Trustees of the Conference, together with an equal number of members to be elected by the department, shall constitute the Executive Committee of the department. This Executive Committee shall organize the membership of the department in whatever manner it may deem needful for the effective carrying on of the department's work.

2. The department shall provide by its rules for the appointment of a nominating committee, which shall propose to the department the additional members of its executive committee. This nominating committee shall annually propose to the nominating committee of the Conference from among its membership a chairman and a vice-chairman of the department, who shall be ex officiis members of the Board of Trustees of the Conference.

ARTICLE IX

Meetings

1. The Conference shall hold its regular annual meeting for the choice of officers, the hearing of reports, the discussion of matters of general interest and the transaction of other business at the appointed place on the third Monday of May at 2 p.m., or at such other time in the month of May as the Board of Trustees may deem expedient.

2. Special meetings of the Conference shall be convened at such times and places as may be determined by the Board of Trustees, provided, however, that notice of any special meeting so convened shall, at least one week before the date of the meeting, be sent by mail to each of the churches connected with the Conference, posted in the general office of the Conference and printed in newspapers published in Boston, Worcester and Springfield, respectively.

3. The Moderator or, in his absence, one of the vice-Moderators or, in the absence of all of them, some member of the Board of Trustees shall call the Conference to order.

Committees

1. Immediately after the opening of the annual meeting the Moderator shall appoint:
   (a) A Committee on Credentials, to which all credentials shall be referred.
   (b) A Business Committee, the duty of which shall be to prepare and present at each session all matters of business not presented through some other committee of the Conference.
2. The following standing committees shall be elected by viva voce vote:
   (a) A Nominating Committee composed of nine members, consisting of the retiring Moderator of each annual meeting, together with eight other members, of whom at least two shall be ministers, at least two shall be women and at least two shall be laymen. Each year the Board of Trustees, meeting in executive session, shall select four persons whom they shall nominate at the annual meeting of the Conference to be elected to serve for two years. The retiring members shall not be eligible for re-election for at least one year.

   This committee shall nominate all officers and committees whose nominations are not otherwise provided for in these by-laws.

   (b) A Program Committee, of which the Registrar of the Conference and the pastor of the church which is to entertain the next annual meeting shall be members ex officiis. At each annual meeting two members shall be elected to serve for three years. This committee shall prepare the program for the next annual meeting and shall select the preacher of the annual sermon and the various speakers at each session.

   (c) A Committee on Religious Education. At each annual meeting four members shall be elected to serve for three years. The duty of the committee shall be to foster in all the churches religious and missionary education. This committee (or such other committee as the Conference may designate) shall supervise the State Committee of Congregational Young People, such supervision to be exercised in the following ways:
      (i) The character and representative basis of membership of the State Committee of Congregational Young People to be subject to the approval of this committee.

(ii) Two members of this committee to serve ex officio as members of the State Committee of Congregational Young People.

(iii) Any action taken by the State Committee of Congregational Young People to be subject to the review and approval of this committee, which shall be authorized to pay out of the amount voted to it by the Conference such a sum as it may deem advisable toward the necessary expenses of the State Committee of Congregational Young People.

(d) A Committee on Moral and Social Welfare, consisting of nine members, of whom three shall be elected at each annual meeting for a term of three years. It shall be the duty of the committee to promote interest in moral and social issues among the churches of the Conference. The committee shall be authorized to present and to support publicly such principles and measures as have been adopted by the Conference.

3. Such other committees as the Conference may vote to constitute shall be elected by viva voce vote at each annual meeting for such terms as the Conference shall determine. The Board of Trustees shall present at each annual meeting a list of the committees the appointment of which it recommends.

4. It shall be the general practice of the Conference, without making it an arbitrary rule, that at least one-third of its committee members be women.

5. The reports of all committees that are to be presented to the Conference shall be furnished to the Registrar on or before April first of each year, and shall be printed and distributed to the churches not less than two weeks before the annual meeting. These reports shall not be read to the Conference save by special order, but the Program Committee may arrange for the adequate discussion of any or all the topics presented in the reports.

ARTICLE XI

Board of Ministerial Aid

The Board of Ministerial Aid shall be the agent of the Conference in the work of aiding needy ministers and their families and shall make an annual report to the Conference. On notice of a vacancy in the membership of the Board of Ministerial Aid, the Conference shall nominate a person to fill the vacancy.

ARTICLE XII

Boston Seaman's Friend Society

The Boston Seaman's Friend Society shall be the agent of the Conference in the work of promoting the spiritual and temporal welfare of seamen and shall make an annual report to the Conference. The Conference shall annually elect five members of the Society for a term of three years each.

ARTICLE XIII

Board of Pastoral Supply

The Conference shall elect nine members to represent it on the Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply, three members to be elected each year to serve for a period of three years. The Board shall, through its Secretary, make an annual report to the Conference.

ARTICLE XIV

The seal of the Conference shall consist of two or more concentric circles, with the words "Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society" around the circumference between these circles and the words "Inc., 1808" within the inner circle.

ARTICLE XV

Special Orders

1. The place of the next annual meeting shall be recommended each year by the Business Committee and designated by vote of the Conference.
2. All matters of business presented to the Conference, except those presented through duly appointed committees of the Conference, shall be referred to the Business Committee unless referred to some other committee by special vote of the Conference.
3. All matters of business referred to the Business Committee shall be reported for action before the final adjournment of the annual meeting.
4. As far as possible, all business of the Conference shall be completed by noon of the second day of the annual meeting.

ARTICLE XVI

Rules of Order

The Rules of Order shall be those of common parliamentary usage subject to the following specifications:

(a) No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without leave of the Conference.

(b) When a question is before the Conference the Moderator shall entertain motions only as follows: — to adjourn, to table, for the previous question, to postpone to a fixed time, to commit, to amend or to postpone indefinitely; these several motions shall have precedence in the foregoing order.

ARTICLE XVII

Amendments

1. These by-laws, except Articles II, III and IV, may be amended at any regularly called meeting of the Conference by a two-thirds vote, provided the amendment was proposed at the preceding annual meeting of the Conference or is recommended by the Board of Trustees.

2. Articles II, III and IV may be amended by a two-thirds vote, but only after the proposed amendment has been submitted to the Conference in writing at the previous annual meeting and notice has been sent to the several churches connected with the Conference at least three months prior to the meeting at which action is to be taken.

3. That the Conference supports the right of the workers to unionize and to bargain collectively.
4. That the Conference approves of the ratification of a proposed amendment to the Constitution that "the Congress shall have power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under the age of eighteen years."
5. That the Conference favors joining the World Court by the United States and that we support every effort to achieve that end.
6. That the Conference petition Congress to define the terms on which the United States would enter the League of Nations to the end that our position might be clarified and our adherence made possible.
7. That the Conference supports the Nye Investigation of the Munitions Industry, that we urge the enactment of adequate legislation to take the profit out of war and preparation for war and that we recommend to our churches the study of such legislation as is proposed by the Nye Committee.
8. That the Conference protests against the holding of Naval maneuvers in the North Pacific as being provocative of misunderstanding and ill feeling, and is vigorously opposed to the increased appropriations for the army and navy.
9. That the Conference believes in freedom of conscience and that, in spite of recent Supreme Court decisions which would require the citizens to make an unqualified allegiance to the nation, we declare it to be our Christian conviction that our first allegiance is to God, urging upon our Christian brethren the religious obligation to live by the dictates of conscience.

10. That the Conference urge upon our Congregational and Christian fellowship that they cooperate actively with such groups as the Civil Liberties Union and the League for Industrial Democracy, and other like-minded groups in our communities, to protect the rights of minorities and individuals wherever their civil liberties are threatened.

Whereas, No clear and certain understanding seems to prevail as to the principles and consideration upon which many such grants are made, or should be made from the funds collected by the State Conference,
Therefore be it

Resolved: That the Hampden Association of Congregational Ministers and Churches meeting in Springfield, May 7, 1935, request the State Conference at its next session at Newburyport to create a committee to review all Conference grants, reporting their findings from time to time to the Conference Trustees and making a general and final report to the Conference not later than 1937.

TUESDAY MORNING

The session opened at 9.09 o'clock, called to order by the Moderator.

It was voted that the minutes of Monday be referred for correction to the Recording Secretary and the staff.

Wilbur E. Rowell reported for the Board of Trustees the recommendation that Rev. Frederick H. Page be made an honorary member of the Conference, and it was so voted.

Upon recommendation of the Trustees it was Voted: That at the suggestion of the Massachusetts members of the Board of Pastoral Supply the Trustees recommend to the State Conference that a committee be appointed at the meeting of the Massachusetts Conference held at Newburyport, May 20–22, 1935, consisting of both laymen and ministers, who will make a careful examination of what ought to be the future policy of the Conference with reference to the Board of Pastoral Supply, and report at the Annual Meeting in 1936.

The Conference adopted this recommendation and the nomination of members of this committee was left to the Nominating Committee.

Upon the recommendation of the Trustees, it was Voted: That the officials of the State Conference plan for a series of preaching missions in a limited number of churches of the Conference, in cooperation with the district associations, in churches which are willing to cooperate, and that a very careful checkup of results be made in order to determine whether this method of work is worthy of wide adoption in the Commonwealth. It was resolved that the Trustees of the Conference be instructed to appropriate $1,000 to aid in carrying on these missions effectively. It was resolved that the President of the Conference be authorized to appoint a committee of five to work with him and other state officials in developing this plan of work known as the "Preaching Mission" and that each Association appoint a committee to confer and work with the State Committee.

On recommendation of the Trustees, the Conference

Voted: That the allotment be maintained at 13c per member in order to provide funds for this "preaching mission."

The chairman of the Board of Trustees reported that a committee of the Trustees had interviewed ministers and laymen in the four western counties regarding a Field Secretary; he gave the report of that committee and the recommendation of the Trustees. In accordance with that recommendation, the following amendments to the By-laws were adopted by vote of more than two-thirds of the members present and voting.

Voted: That Article V, Section 2, be amended by inserting after the word "Treasurer," in the second line the words "a Field Secretary."

Voted: That Article VI, Section 3, shall be amended by striking out the second sentence thereof and inserting in its place the following: "He shall devote himself in cooperation with the Field Secretary and under the direction of the President to the care and oversight of churches financially aided by the Conference; he shall advise with and assist such other churches and their ministers as may welcome his services; and shall perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Board of Trustees or the President.

Voted: That Article VI be amended by the insertion of a new section numbered 5, and that the remaining sections of said article be re-numbered to correspond therewith. Section 5 shall be as follows:

5. The Field Secretary shall have the care and oversight of the aided churches in the territory which may from time to time be assigned to him by the Board of Trustees or the President; and he shall advise with and assist such other churches and their ministers within his territory as may welcome his services. It is intended that his field of activity shall be chiefly in the western part of the State.

It was left to the Board of Trustees to appoint a Nominating Committee to make a nomination to the Trustees for the office thus created, and it was stipulated that this Nominating Committee shall include adequate representation of the five western Associations.

Upon the recommendation of the Board of Trustees, the following resolution was adopted:

Inasmuch as the recommendation of the Appraisal Committee "that when the present Registrar shall retire the By-laws be so amended that the office of Registrar shall be combined with that of the Secretary without additional salary for the Secretary but with such additional help as may be required," was adopted by the Conference at its Annual Meeting in North Adams, be it

Resolved: That the Conference recommend to the Board of Trustees that the retiring Registrar, Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, be given temporary employment the coming year in assisting the Secretary.

Upon recommendation of the Board of Trustees, the following amendments were adopted by vote of more than two-thirds of members present and voting:

Voted: That Article V, of the By-laws, paragraph 2, be amended by striking out the words "a Young People's Secretary and a Registrar" and inserting the words "and a Young People's Secretary."

Voted: That Article VI, paragraph 8, be amended by striking out the word "Registrar" and inserting in its place the word "Secretary" and that the reading of this entire paragraph be transferred and be a continuation of paragraph 3, and that the paragraph now numbered 9, under Article VI, be numbered paragraph 8.

Voted: That Article X, section 2b, be amended by striking out the word "Registrar" and inserting in its place the word "Secretary."

Upon recommendation of the Board of Trustees, it was Voted: That the Committee on Polity and Standards for the Ministry be continued for another year.

Rev. Charles C. Merrill was given opportunity to speak at this time and give the report of the Board of Pastoral Supply.

Voted: That the Conference send its greetings by Mr. Merrill to the New Hampshire Conference, now in session.

The report of the Boston Seaman's Friend Society was presented by the Rev. Paul G. Macy, Worcester, and accepted by the Conference.

Voted: That the action taken by the Conference setting the percentages for the year 1935 be rescinded, and that in accordance with the recommendation of the Commission on Missions, the receipts for giving on the apportionment for the year 1935 be divided, unless the Treasurer be otherwise instructed by the contributing churches, as follows:

American Board	41.25%
National Home Boards	42.25%
State Work (including 1% for B.S.F.S.)	14 %
Council for Social Action	2.50%

The Conference then took up the amendments to Article IV of the By-laws, which had been presented to the annual meeting of 1934, and in accordance with the By-laws had been laid upon the table for action at this annual meeting. By a vote of more than two-thirds of the members present and voting the following amendments were adopted:

That the first sentence in the paragraph entitled "Voting Members," under Article IV be amended so that it will read as follows:

> "Each evangelical Congregational church in this Commonwealth or Christian Church that is a member of a Congregational-Christian Association of Churches in Massachusetts may annually choose," etc.

And That there be added after the last sentence of the paragraph entitled "Voting Members" the following words:

> "It is provided, however, that pastors of churches to qualify for the voting privilege shall be Congregational or Christian ministers having membership in Congregational or Congregational-Christian Associations regularly holding ministerial standing."

So that Article IV, paragraph entitled "Voting Members" will read as follows:

> "Each evangelical Congregational church in this Commonwealth or Christian church that is a member of a Congregational-Christian > Association of churches in Massachusetts may annually choose two delegates (of whom it is suggested one shall be a layman and the other a lay-woman), and these delegates, together with the pastor or pastors of each church (who shall be members ex officio) the officers of the Conference (including the members of the Board of Trustees), the committee members of the Conference and those persons who, prior to May 22, 1923, became life members of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, shall constitute the voting membership of the Conference; it is provided, however, that pastors of churches to qualify for the voting privilege shall be Congregational or Christian ministers having membership in Congregational or Congregational-Christian Associations regularly holding ministerial standing."

The Chairman of the Board of Trustees reported that the Trustees recommend the following amendment to Article IV, namely that Article IV as amended in 1935 be further amended by adding within the third parenthesis after the words "(including the members of the Board of Trustees)" the words "and any person who shall have been elected an officer emeritus."

Voted: That this amendment be laid on the table to be acted on at the next Annual Meeting and that notice be given in accordance with the By-laws.

The following memorial to the General Council of the Congregational and Christian churches, to insure the attendance of laymen at the General Council, was presented and was adopted by the Conference:

Whereas: At meetings of the General Council it has been observed with much regret that the attendance of laymen is very small and thus the Council has been deprived of the aid of laymen of varied experience in business and professional life,

Now therefore be it

Resolved: That this Conference does hereby memorialize the General Council, praying that at its next meeting it so revise its rules and method of selection of delegates as to insure an attendance of laymen equal to that of ministers.

The Business Committee recommended the following resolutions, substituted for the resolutions recommended by the Hampden Association, which were adopted:

1. That the Trustees be requested to send a statement of the principles and considerations which govern the Trustees in making grants of financial aid to missionary and educational work in the State, to the Advisory Committee of each Association of the Conference.
2. That the Trustees shall appoint a committee of five with whom any Association which feels the need for more careful scrutiny of any of the grants now being made to missionary and educational work in the State may confer.

3. That this committee shall study all grants made to educational institutions and shall determine what representation the Conference shall have in the direction of institutions so aided.

4. That this committee shall study city union plans of local city spending of missionary funds.

These resolutions were adopted by the Conference.

The President's report was presented by Rev. Ralph M. Timberlake and was accepted as read.

The Registrar's statistical report was given by Rev. Henry L. Bailey. It included the Conference necrology for the year, as usual, and also a resume of his twenty-seven years of service now ending. The report was accepted as read.

Rev. Edwin B. Robinson, Holyoke, presented the following resolutions from the Business Committee, and they were adopted by the Conference:

The Massachusetts Conference expresses its appreciation of the long and faithful services of Rev. William S. Anderson, Rev. William M. Crane and Rev. John C. Wightman, for many years Ministers-at-Large in Western Massachusetts. They have been untiring in their service to the missionary churches and to the pastors of these churches. They have fulfilled the hope which led to their appointment in increasing the religious strength of our churches and in promoting the spiritual welfare of communities that would otherwise be sadly lacking in religious opportunities. Not only in their missionary activities, but also as friends of pastors and of church members and also as leaders in religious education they have proved eminently faithful.

The Massachusetts Conference places on record its high and sincere appreciation of Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey's record as Registrar, his term having extended over a period of twenty-seven years. We believe it to have been an unparalleled service in the history of any Conference. He has been unique for his combination of native fitness for this task, of unexcelled devotion to accuracy and completeness of detail, and of unbounded enthusiasm in the collection of Conference facts and in their interpretation. His interest in the lives and careers of the ministers of Massachusetts is truly remarkable and has been of great value to the Conference.

The Laymen's Conference held in Oldtown Church recommend that the Massachusetts Congregational Conference approve a Laymen's Council to be made up of one or more representative men from each constituent church, to function under the leadership of a committee of each Association;

It is also recommended that the objectives of each Council include the fostering of a spirit of Christian fellowship among the laymen of each church, the planning for the discussion of the work and opportunities that face the laymen in church work, and the development of plans for cooperation throughout each Association;

They further recommend that the State committee seek the cooperation of the chairmen of these district Councils, in an attempt to build up a State-wide fellowship in a common task of encouraging a more purposeful and comprehensive type of activity among men and a more intelligent interest on their part in the work of our various denominational societies.

WILFRED H. CHAPIN, Chairman.

It was Voted: That the Conference approves the recommendations of the Laymen's Conference held in the Old Town Church suggesting to the Association officials that they see to it that each Association has a Laymen's Council.

WEDNESDAY MORNING

The meeting was called to order by temporary Moderator Rev. J. Harold Dale at 9 o'clock.

"Education for a Christian Social Order" — Miss Ellen M. Lane presiding.

Seven minute messages on "What Is Being Done in the Churches" were presented by the following ministers:

Rev. Paul S. McElroy, Manchester
Rev. Alfred Schmalz, Belmont
Rev. Harold E. Martin, Foxboro
Rev. Paul B. Van Horn, Worcester
Rev. Leon Earl Grubaugh, Adams
Rev. A. William Loos, Waltham

This was followed by a discussion period.

The following resolution was passed by the Conference:

Resolved: That this Conference express its appreciation of the timely and powerful declaration of William Cardinal O'Connell against the bill recently pending in the Massachusetts legislature to establish a State lottery, and of the efforts of all others to that end, and its satisfaction that the bill has been defeated.

Rev. E. B. Robinson presented the following resolutions as prepared by the Business Committee:

The Massachusetts Conference expresses its appreciation of the thoughtful and valuable services of the retiring Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Judge Wilbur E. Rowell.

The Massachusetts Conference expresses its appreciation of our retiring Moderator, Frank L. Boyden, his noble character and great service to Christian education having formed a rich background for our meetings.

The Conference learns with regret of the painful illness of Rev. Charles S. Holton of the First Church in Newbury, which has prevented his expected participation in the program of the Conference and forbids even his presence. The Conference extends to Mr. Holton its sincere sympathy with him in his illness and realizes his disappointment at being unable to continue the tercentenary celebration of his church in connection with the meeting of the Conference, and prays for speedy return to health and strength.

The following resolution on the alcohol problem presented by the Business Committee was adopted:

The steadily increasing social, economic and moral evils of a re-legalized liquor traffic are the inevitable result of the repeal of prohibition. The curse against which our churches had struggled for more than a century is today made even more insidious by the added power of the press, movie and radio to urge the use of beverage alcohol upon our people and to extend the traffic with apparently an utter abandon of concern for the common welfare.

We recognize our own partial responsibility for the present deplorable situation because of our churches' failure to carry on a more comprehensive educational program regarding the physiological evils of beverage alcohol and the sociological, economic, legislative and political aspects of this traffic. We now dedicate ourselves to such a comprehensive program.

We urge total abstinence for the individual.

We reaffirm our position that the only sound governmental attitude is that of refusal to approve, license or to legalize the traffic. To this end we urge our people to use every opportunity to restrict, suppress and prohibit the traffic by voting against license in town, state and nation.

We urge that our people be not diverted from this goal by superficial propaganda regarding "elimination of profits" or "government sale," or "beer and wine as temperance drinks." Though we recognize that our goal is not immediately attainable, we refuse, as a church, meanwhile, to to endorse the program of putting the government in the business or placing the American flag over shops selling alcoholic poison for beverage use to our people.

We declare that the traffic while it exists in any form, exists in spite of our protest and not with our approval.

We maintain that even worse than the sale of alcoholic beverages in violation of law is the traffic in liquor carried on with the approval and sanction of law.

THE PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Mr. Moderator, Members of the Conference and Friends:

It is my pleasant duty to present a report of some observations of my first year as your executive officer.

Let me at once express my gratitude for the cordial spirit shown to me by Ministers, Churches and Associations. They recognized my primary need of becoming acquainted with Massachusetts Congregationalism, and they have been most gracious with invitations, to both Mrs. Timberlake and myself, to meet with the members of our Fellowship, — from Berkshire South to Essex North, and from Northfield to the Cape. We have met in this way the parsonage folk of practically every Association, and I have enjoyed the privilege of addressing many a supper-meeting, of counselling with officers, groups, — and of preaching practically every Sunday in at least one, and some days in two or three pulpits.

While it is a delight to be your representative on these varied occasions, the real value lies in the fact that the Conference has achieved a high place in the affection and regard of our people since its reorganization and incorporation, — due to the leadership of Dr. Page, and to the earlier basis of interest and loyalty laid by John Walker and Dr. Emrich, as Secretaries of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society.

Speaking of officers groups I must mention the valuable contribution made this year by Secretary Bliss, along with the discharge of his many other duties, as the representative of the Conference in the promotional program known as the "Church Officers' Visitation." This work has had great educational value for the Visitors, for our laymen and for some ministers. These visits varied in their success largely according to the care that was exercised in preparing for them. We have learned much in the technique of setting them up, and hope to use them to great advantage another year.

Mr. Bliss further reports that the Larger Parish at Rochester and Lakeville is exceedingly happy and effective. A new Larger Parish is in the offing in Western Massachusetts and we hope will come to light this autumn. All the Protestant churches on Cape Cod came together a few weeks ago and discussed frankly the problem of overchurching and the next steps to take. Our Minister-at-Large for Cape Cod, Reverend J. B. Lyman, is very enthusiastic about the prospects of closer union in the near future among all the Protestant churches on the Cape. The Oxford Group Movement is making a conspicuous difference for good in changed lives and changed communities on Cape Cod.

Regarding the condition of our work, mention should be made of the fine morale of the ministers. They are a goodly fellowship, — in cooperative effort, in ethical standards and religious fervor. I would pay tribute to their faithful pastoral service. In most parishes where a minister is devotedly fulfilling the role of shepherd of his flock and giving himself in unselfish service, the sheep are hearing his voice and following him. Not only is the church attendance good, but the relationship between the people and the pastor is a delight to see.

Yet, due to the difficult times and to limited resources, some pastors are sorely tried, and not a few are virtually tired. I use that word advisedly, for, though they are carrying on with courage and high resolve, they are truly "weary in well doing," and while they and their churches manifest an admirable spirit of patience and consideration, "a change would be as good as a rest." If only our Congregational polity could provide for these pastors some means of relocation, with ease and without embarrassment, they would find a new lease of life and preach a revitalized message. Here is a serious problem deserving the immediate concern of the Conference, — for it is a matter of policy requiring the cooperation of the churches.

In a number of communities, — where in years gone by, with a desire to preempt certain localities for Congregationalism, we expanded too widely, — today there is a critical need of consolidation. We regret to report, for instance, the dissolution of North Church, Springfield. That course seemed to be inevitable. With members scattered throughout the city and the suburban communities, a continuing committee of deacons is gradually transferring the membership to the church of each individual's choice. The property has been given to the Conference. We would not advocate this exact course to other churches that are in a similar precarious situation, but there are many instances where some form of Union or Federation or a Collegiate relationship is very desirable. Many pastors should definitely adopt a program of education for their people in tolerance and fraternity, to the end that they may be free from bigotry, social pride, and an over-emphasis of non-essentials in forms and opinions, which attitudes are all too prevalent and are hindering cooperative effort.

If the Conference is to fulfill its obligation of assisting pastors and churches, this work should be done largely through the District Associations. Here are groups of churches, with natural affiliations, organized to promote fellowship. The Conference Trustees, being the direct representatives of the Associations, should become vital links of reciprocal information and service. The Conference Committees, corresponding in function to the Committees of the Associations, have a responsibility to furnish the latter with materials and suggestions for the better discharge of their duties. The Conference office might well be a clearing-house of ideas for Association programs, — correlating and passing on the best items originating in the various districts. In line with this procedure, the Trustees have published in the May issue of the News Letter a Model Constitution for Associations. This we commend to your careful study, and for it we invite your constructive criticism.

In order that the Moderators and Scribes of the Associations present at this Conference may have an opportunity of freely discussing some of their common interests and problems, they have been invited to meet together for lunch at 12.30 today at the Chapel. This special arrangement has been made possible by the kindness of our gracious host, so it is to be hoped that every Association will have a complete representation present.

As a result of the Laymen's Conference introduced by the Trustees in connection with this meeting, there might well develop in each Association a corresponding work for Laymen. The purpose is to build up the interest of the Layman in his own church and Association. There is no intention of setting up a separate laymen's organization to be a rival of the church, but we do want to promote a program that shall arouse their enthusiasm for the whole work of the denomination.

Of particular interest to the five western Associations is the recommendation which the Trustees are presenting, that a Field Secretary shall be appointed to serve the churches of that area. This move is the result of the report of the Appraisal Committee in 1933 and of the mandate of the Conference that year. Due credit must be given, however, to the present Board and its Chairman, for the thoroughness and care with which the details have been worked out. With the success of this venture we may expect that a more intensive service will follow for the churches of other Associations.

With the inauguration of this new Secretary reference should be made to the necessary discontinuance of the services of the County Missionaries in Berkshire, Hampshire and Franklin. Rev. William M. Crane, the successor of the first Missionary, Silas P. Cook, will devote his time to the management of his School at Morningface, Richmond. Rev. John C. Wightman is considering a co-pastorate in a Larger Parish in Franklin County. Reverend William S. Anderson resigned as Missionary last winter owing to ill health, but has since accepted a call to the pastorate of Robbins Memorial Church, Greenfield. Let me read a few lines from Dr. Emrich in the 106th Annual Report, May 17, 1905:

"The Rev. S. P. Cook, with Rev. W. S. Anderson, during last summer carried on the tent work in parts of Franklin and Berkshire Counties. Great good was accomplished.

"At the request of the ministers of Berkshire County, the Executive Committee have appointed Rev. W. S. Anderson as General Missionary for Berkshire and Franklin Counties.

"We need at least two more general workers who can give their entire time to supplementing the work of pastors in winning men to Christ."

The faithful, effective work of these men should not go unrecognized and I want to suggest that the Conference go on record, through the proper committee, in a resolution of appreciation of this Evangelistic Ministry now closing.

In every Association there is a Committee which passes upon the applications for grants to aided churches. The Trustees expect these Committees to be much more than "rubber stamps." They look to these neighbors for a comprehensive yet sympathetic study of the propriety of each application, so that justice may be done to the Church and also to the Conference. The Trustees published in a recent News Letter a statement of their Policy in Granting Aid to Churches. This statement ought to be studied by the Grant Committees of the Associations, and by the pastors and officials of the Aided Churches.

Let me refer to the work of the two women on the Staff. Mrs. Carver has had a very busy year performing the exacting and varied tasks which are her responsibility:

First as Secretary of the Woman's Department, — attending to the details in connection with all phases of woman's work, such as committee meetings, public meetings, interviews in regard to programs, etc.; arranging for parsonage boxes, — 81 families having been supplied last year with boxes valued at $6,482.30, and 367 boxes valued at $5,647.26 having been sent to schools and hospitals. Then as head of the Speakers' Bureau she arranged 1,000 appointments for missionaries from home and foreign fields, as well as secretaries of national societies. Each appointment has meant from three to six interviews or letters. Third, in charge of Project Work, making out lists for our twenty-one Associations and six hundred Churches, and supplying literature on all phases of missionary work.

The Young People's Secretary, Mrs. Manley F. Allbright, is developing the State Young People's Committee in the art of leadership, by placing on them the responsibility for the work with our young people throughout the State. At present they have organized Young People's Council's in ten Associations. These Councils are responsible for conducting conferences and retreats for the young people of the churches. Seventeen such conferences were held during the year, and the Secretary herself has spoken fifty-eight times before young peoples' groups, mother-and-daughter banquets, and teachers' meetings, about our Young People's Work.

Mrs. Allbright has assisted the President by acting as the managing editor of the Pilgrim State News Letter. The work of publishing this periodical was further lightened by the assistance of an Advisory Editorial Board. Our hearty thanks are due the four persons who served on this Board this past year: Mrs. E. V. Grabill, Rev. Randolph S. Merrill, Rev. Robert M. Bartlett and Rev. John Harold Dale. We are anxious to place this paper in the hands of representative lay-folk in all the churches, and would welcome the names of such to put upon the mailing list.

With the last issue of the News Letter a pastoral leaflet was sent to all ministers. By an appropriation from the Trustees we were able to offer to furnish this leaflet in quantity for parish use. We have been greatly encouraged in this venture by the number of requests that have been received. Now we would like to know how it is received by the people. If its use gives more meaning to pastoral calling, we shall be constrained to publish a second edition, and perhaps later a second leaflet.

Let me say in closing that my introduction to the intricate duties of the presidency,—my education in office routine, the readjustment of life-long pastoral habits to the technique of an executive position,—this whole process of initiation has been greatly facilitated by the cordial helpfulness of every member of a loyal staff and office force, by the patience and responsiveness of the Board of Trustees, by the fraternal attitude and cooperation of friends, old and new, among the laymen and ministers of the State, and especially by the counsel and ever-willing assistance of Dr. Page, who has thereby continued, as President Emeritus, to give invaluable service to the Conference.

REPORT OF THE REGISTRAR

The Conference has not often met in this corner of the state. It convened in Lawrence in 1921, in Haverhill in 1911, in Andover in 1901, and in Newburyport in 1889, 46 years ago. Then there were 557 churches on our roll, 17 appearing for the first time. Since then 54 have disappeared by merger, resignation or evaporation. Meanwhile 130 churches have been added, of which 119 are with us now, making a total of 622, of which at least half a dozen are in a comatose condition. This total of 622 is the same as last year with two added and two removed. East Millbury and Pines Community in Revere are added, while Union in Haverhill has disintegrated and the North Parish Community of Haverhill has resigned after sampling Congregational fellowship for two years. The North Church of Springfield, after a notable career of nearly a century, has attended its own funeral obsequies, but, though officially dead, some of its limbs are still in motion and its name is not removed this year.

When we last met in Newburyport there were two Baptists, two Presbyterians and six Methodists in our Massachusetts pulpits, one of the Methodists being now a Congregationalist of 44 years' standing and the senior member of Essex South Association. This year's roll shows 29 Methodists, 21 Baptists and eight others in our pulpits, of whom 18 are there by virtue of local federation arrangements. Four other weak churches are supplied by Baptist or Methodist pastors from neighboring towns.

In 1889 our church enrolment was 100,000, now 170,000; then the percentage of men in the membership was 31.4; today it is 36.9. The men have increased 99 per cent, the women 72. For four years in succession the number of women has been decreasing; there are 629 fewer than last year, while the men have gained 196, the difference of 433 representing the total shrinkage, the exact total being 170,274. Death removed 2,160, a few less than last year but otherwise the largest number in 16 years. One must go back 52 years to find fewer members taking letters to other churches; they just move away, the church loses sight of them, and finally roll revision counts them out; 4,165 this year.

Sunday school enrolment continues to drop. The loss is 2,700, and the total of 107,752 is the smallest in 51 years. Young peoples' societies, thanks to a different classification, show a membership of 31,291, statistically the largest in 30 years. This total is open to suspicion of duplicating names when a girl scout and a mission band member and a Sunday school organized class member and a Christian Endeavorer, all under one hat, count for four in the census. Not since 1900 have so few adult baptisms been reported as 1,352; and infant baptisms are the fewest since 1921, numbering 3,307.

A new column in the forthcoming Year Book will record the average attendance at the principal church service, whether morning or evening. One clerk, judging Easter the principal church service, gave the figures for that day. The average for the state, as reported by 391 churches, is 113. This column utilizes space hitherto used for the salary column. The churches are still asked to report the salary confidentially to the Registrar, to allow him to report the total and the average for the state. Some pastors and some other officials are reluctant to impart any financial statistics, but so far as reported from over 500 single or double parishes, the average salary is $2,046, a drop of $22 from the year before. The aggregate of parish expenses is some $60,000 more than last year, but at $2,653,000 it is only two thirds of what we were spending five years ago. In this connection let me quote from one report. The annual questionnaire asks the names of various church officials, including paid assistants but excluding the choir and the sexton. Under the heading "all paid assistants" one clerk replied, "The janitor gave his services."

Of our missionary gifts I have only a tale of approximately 12 per cent shrinkage in contributions to the state work, the American Board and the home boards. Unbudgeted gifts are up $5,000, but our total apportionment giving is $344,264, a drop of $36,046. Our giving to others outside our denominational family also shows a decrease of $7,500 which is less than six per cent of last year's total of $130,000.

Our obituary list, so far as has come to my knowledge, contains 20 names, three of them belonging to the year before. All were members of our local Associations, Suffolk West losing five, Hampshire four, and nine others a total of eleven. Five were pastors and two others had recently been forced from their pulpits by ill health culminating in their early death. Two were emeritus pastors, two veterans of the Madura mission of the American Board, one was a college professor and eight were retired, seven of them averaging two months less than 80 years of age. Only three were born in this state, the others coming from eight other states and five foreign regions. Fourteen died here, two in Maine, the others in Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Mexico and India. Albert E. Beaumont was pastor at Marlboro; George M. Butler at Dedham after service at New Bedford and Medford; William R. Campbell had been in Roxbury since 1881, the last six years as senior or honorary pastor; John S. Chandler, born in India and serving the American Board during a long life, went back recently to spend his last few months there. Charles H. Chapin held pastorates in New Salem and Phillipston, and died in the 19th year of his service on Norwich Hill in Huntington. Edward P. Drew had been pastor at Roxbury, Worcester and Auburndale. Almon J. Dyer was 40 years at Upton, North Brookfield, Sharon and Oxford. J. Buckley Glasgow was briefly at Lynnfield and Stoneham; his search for health led through Carolina and ended in New Mexico at the age of 37. Edward C. Haynes had an early pastorate on Chester Hill. Winfield S. Holland served at Westboro, Adams and Braintree, resigning with the hand of death upon him. Edward P. Holton was a younger colleague of Chandler in India, living here in retirement. George H. Hubbard was pastor at Plainville, Norton, Enfield and Haverhill, with several interim ministries. William W. Jordan was 27 years at Clinton. Herbert A. Jump was forced by fatal illness out of Union church, Boston. Robert H. Life, associate pastor three years in Northampton died in service at Haydenville after 30 years. Arthur R. MacDougall held short pastorates in Ludlow, Saugus and Fall River. William H. McBride served at Halifax, Taunton, Chesterfield and Saxonville. Willard Scott's only local pastorate was at Piedmont, Worcester. Frank R. Shipman served 20 years in Andover and came back later for another year and then emeritus rank. Francis H. Viets had but one pastorate here, 11 years at Boxboro, then 19 years at Waltham waiting for the one clear call.

Seventeen other men, at some time on the Conference roll as pastors but later holding their standing elsewhere, are listed as having passed on in the calendar year of 1934 or earlier but not recorded till '34: Richard H. Bosworth at Springfield; Ambrose C. DeLapp at North Middleboro and Woburn; Maurice J. Duncklee at Saxonville; Henry S. Ives at Westhampton and Whately; Everett D. Francis at Ludlow Center; Frank E. Jenkins at Charlton and Palmer; George F. Kenngott, 20 years at Lowell; Ellsworth G. Lancaster at Ashby; Alexander B. MacLeod at Millis and Leicester; Thomas M. Owen at Seekonk; Charles A. Perry at East Taunton; Cyrus Richardson, interim service at Everett and West Medford; George G. Ross at Huntington; Frank A. Sanborn at Gloucester, West Boxford, Manomet, Nantucket and Conway; James A. Solandt at Rutland; Charles E. Stowe at Bridgewater; and Joseph W. Strout at Cummington and Rehoboth.

(Note. Too late for inclusion in the above list the Registrar learned of the death in April of John A. MacColl, pastor 13 years in New Bedford and briefly at Wareham and Hubbardston. Carlyle Summerbell died the day this report was delivered.)

In closing my official connection with the Conference, under compulsion of the age of retirement, may I have time for a brief resumé of my service? So far as I can discover, four registrars in other states have held office longer than I; but these four men in 150 years have done a little more than twice as much official work as the Massachusetts registrar has done in 27 years. John M. Comstock of Vermont has completed his 44th year and is still going strong, but he has only 200 churches to tabulate. Henry A.

Miner served Wisconsin 30 years, but his field at best comprised 267 churches. James Deane of New York never had 300 churches in his 37 official years; and William H. Moore of Connecticut in 39 years had a maximum of 325. Massachusetts has 622 churches to be circularized, exhorted, tabulated and showered with various other postal matter from the registrar, aside from that which emanates from the Boston office. Besides the 550 men, more or less, in our pulpits, there are anywhere from 200 to 300 other men who hold their ministerial standing in Massachusetts associations. They live in every state except six east of the Mississippi, and in six beyond the river, and in a dozen foreign countries in Canada, South America, Europe, Asia, Africa, and the isles of the sea. All these the registrar has to tabulate year by year. He has the co-operation of the scribes of the local associations; but as they change frequently in some districts, and the office goes to one of the newest comers who knows none but resident members and is not unduly inquisitive about non-residents, they often look to the registrar for data concerning their own members. A few weeks ago one of these junior scribes, eager for exactness in his records, appealed to the registrar for information concerning six names on his association roll. The registrar sent him the dates of their deaths. ranging back through nearly a dozen years.

Qualified by natural bent, long experience and a generous quantity of statistical files, your registrar is able to satisfy the thirst for knowledge on petition of conference and association officials, ministers and laymen and newspaper reporters in this and other states. His telephone bell rings many times a week, and the postman seldom fails to bring communications to answer which requires mental and manual labor. At his right elbow is a revolving book case with a file of 75 years of Congregational Year Books and alumni catalogues of many colleges and seminaries. At his left elbow is a filing cabinet. One drawer holds a classified card catalogue of Congregational ministers in our pulpits and our associations, licentiates, ministers of other denominations, and records of ordinations, installations and deaths. Another drawer holds a historical card catalogue of nearly 1,100 Congregational churches in Massachusetts in three centuries, each card listing also the pastoral succession with dates. Half a dozen other drawers contain a list of the many thousands of ministers with their dates of birth and death, and the dates when they marched up the pulpit steps of these 1,100 churches and then marched down again. The Conference may sometime wish to purchase this material when put into manuscript form for publication. Our roll of churches is in a state of flux. Within my term of office 48 new Congregational and 19 Christian churches have been added to our roll and 50 have disappeared by merger, dissolution or withdrawal.

The most obvious task of the registrar is the compilation of annual statistics for the Year Book. To secure reports from 622 churches it is necessary first to send out 622 bunches of first class postal matter the middle of December. By January 15, the tentative time limit set by the national office, about 28 per cent of the replies have come in. By the end of the month 60 per cent have come. Then second notices are sent, and after a third notice word may come back that no blanks have been received. Of course anything is possible or impossible under a Democratic postmaster general, but church clerks were just as careless in Republican days. Some churches fail to respond after the registrar has written a full half dozen times to clerk or pastor or both. When the reports arrive they must be scrutinized and edited. Clerks are hazy or careless about pastor's name or essential dates or ministerial standing. Many of them cannot or do not balance the membership figures with those of the year before. Some report other items "same as last year," but digging out last year's report, that also says, "same as last year."

After the available statistics have been duly tabulated in the familiar Year Book format, a fair copy is made for the printer and sent to New York and thence to Dayton. Then the registrar separates the reports into associational groups and tabulates a third time so that scribes may report to their spring meetings. And all the totals of all these association totals must agree with the Year Book totals.

The registrar is expected to furnish the national office not only these statistics but alphabetical lists of ministers, paid assistants, licentiates, ministers of other denominations, church clerks, ordinations, deaths and other items. Later he must be a proof reader not only for his share in the Year Book but also for our State Minutes. These duties comprise the major part but not the whole of the work which has devolved upon the registrar, and which now, by your vote of 1933 is to be piled on the shoulders of Secretary Bliss, in addition to his full-time office and field work. I transfer it reluctantly for I love the work and relish the remuneration, and I appreciate the friendliness with which you have received my service through the years.

AUDITORS' REPORT

Rev. Ralph M. Timberlake, President,
Massachusetts Congregational Conference and
Missionary Society,
Boston, Massachusetts.

Sir: — We have audited the accounts of the Treasurer of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society and of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, Trustee, for the year ending March 31, 1935, and we hereby certify that income receivable from invested funds has been duly accounted for; that all other income shown by the books of the Society has been duly accounted for; that all payments have been properly vouched; that the securities representing the invested funds have been produced to us; that the cash in banks has been verified, and that, in our opinion, the accompanying financial statements correctly exhibit the condition of the funds in the hands of the Society as at the close of business on March 31, 1935, and the Treasurer's transactions during the year ending at that date.

Respectfully submitted,
PATTERSON, TEELE & DENNIS.

May 15, 1935.

ALLOTMENT ACCOUNT

In 1928 the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society were united in a single corporation. Previous to that time, the National Council of Congregational Churches and the Conference had paid their expenses for meetings and administration by thirteen cents collected for each church member. It seems right that the Conference part of our organization should still pay its own charges and thirteen cents per member is still asked of the churches. Seven cents of the thirteen goes to the General Council (formerly The National Council) and six cents is kept by the Conference. The collection of the six cents per member is the attempt of the Conference part of our organization to pay its own expenses and not to become a charge upon missionary funds.

BEQUESTS

Bequests to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society are used to aid weak churches and to promote the work and interests of the Conference in the State. Bequests may be made permanent funds by the donor, and the Conference restricted to the use of the income only. The practice of the Conference is to divide unrestricted legacies into three equal parts. One part is used for current work, one part is added to the Permanent Legacy Fund, the income only of which is used for general purposes; and the third part is added to a Contingent Fund, the principal of which may be drawn upon to care for special undertakings or to avoid a deficit.

If, on the other hand, a testator specifies that his entire legacy is to be expended as current income and that he does not wish it invested in whole or in part, these directions will be carefully observed.

Bequests to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society pay no Massachusetts inheritance tax.

FORM OF BEQUEST

I give to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the sum of........................Dollars.

CONDITIONAL GIFTS

The Conference receives conditional gifts, subject to annuity agreements with the donors, and encourages this method for those who wish any part of their property to be applied to our work after their death, and desire an assured income from this property for themselves, or for others whom they may designate as beneficiaries, so long as they live. Correspondence with the Treasurer concerning such annuity agreements is invited.

TRUST FUNDS

The Conference is glad to receive bequests to be held in trust for the benefit of churches. Many churches have put their trust funds in the care of the Conference. It is now administering trust funds for churches in Massachusetts to the amount of $250,000. It makes no charge for its service. If any extra expense is incurred (expense for legal service, for example) that is charged against the principal or income of the fund involved. On funds which can be combined in investment (Funds B) the Conference has earned and paid churches the past three years 5%. Funds which have to be kept separate in investment have yielded about 4.6%.

It is not an easy matter for church or parish committees, made up for the most part of persons who have had little experience in administering funds, to guard the safety of church trust funds. The Conference has exceptional facilities for keeping funds safely and investing them profitably and wisely. The Board of Trustees of the Conference, which has charge of all its funds, contains men of large ability and experience in such matters. The churches may avail themselves of the service of this ability and experience without expense.

THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF SPRINGFIELD

PRESIDENT, REV. JOHN B. LEWIS

CLERK, MRS. ELMER T. OTTING

TREASURER, MR. JOHN A. DALE

In co-operation with the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, the Congregational Union of Springfield supervises the home missionary work in Springfield.

All contributions for home missionary work in Massachusetts by the churches of Springfield should be made to the Congregational Union, and will be credited on the apportionment. In accordance with the mutual agreement between the two organizations, ten per cent of the contributions for current work received by the Union is paid over to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

The Congregational Union of Springfield is incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts and may receive bequests and hold property.

THE WORCESTER CITY MISSIONARY SOCIETY

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY, REV. MYRON W. FOWELL
RECORDING SECRETARY, REV. HARRISON L. PACKARD
TREASURER, MR. EBENEZER G. SEAL

The Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, by agreement with the Worcester City Missionary Society, is responsible for the financial assistance and the supervision of home missionary churches in Worcester in their current work, while the Worcester City Missionary Society represents the fellowship of the Congregational churches of the city and is responsible for aiding churches in property matters, contributing toward the purchase and maintenance of property and the payment of building debts.

Contributions for home missions from the churches in Worcester, to be credited on the apportionment, should be sent to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society. Contributions for the local work, given in addition to the apportionment and not to be credited as a part of it, should be sent to the treasurer of the Worcester City Missionary Society.

GRANTS FROM THE MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY

1. Wherever a community is too far from a church to benefit from its privileges, the Conference encourages the establishment of regular religious services, and, if possible, the organization of a church, or a branch of a neighboring church.

2. Applications by any church for financial aid should be made by the vote of the church, and upon forms furnished by the Conference, and should have the approval of the Advisory or Missionary Committee of the local Association of Churches.

3. Churches applying for aid must show that they have met in full all financial obligations to their ministers and are doing their utmost toward self-support.

4. In granting aid the Conference will appropriate different amounts according to the necessity, importance, and prospects of each field.

5. Every church aided by the Conference must consult the President or Secretary before making arrangements for pastoral service.

6. Whenever the service of the minister or other worker, for whose support an appropriation is made, shall terminate, the appropriation shall lapse, except for special reasons satisfactory to the President.

7. The Conference advocates adequate compensation for every minister and worker.

8. The Conference favors hearty co-operation with other denominations, the avoidance of overlapping and competing work, and the consolidation or federation of churches of different denominations in over-churched communities.

STATISTICAL TABLES

EXPLANATORY

The tables which follow comprise:

1. The statistics of the churches, giving the ministers, church membership, additions, removals, Sunday schools, and the amount of benevolences and expenses. These tables, in accordance with the vote of the Conference, in 1887, are made to conform to those in the Year Book; but names in the pastoral column are changed according to the latest information before going to press.
2. The Associations of the churches, with the names of officers and the times of meeting.
3. The Ministerial Standing, giving the date of ordination of each minister, the date of membership, the residence and his "employment." "P. C." means pastor by council; "P.," pastor otherwise; "W. C." means without church; other abbreviations are self-evident. "W. C.," however, includes many who have retired from active service, and some who are in business.
4. The Ministerial Record containing lists of ordinations, installations, dismissals, and deaths.

The tables of the first part contain the names of all the Congregational churches in Massachusetts, the towns and cities being arranged alphabetically; churches in each town according to age. If the post office name of the church and the town name differ, a footnote on the page where the post office name would naturally be found will direct the reader to the town name.

Church members and families are reported as numbered January 1, 1935. Admissions and removals cover the year 1934. "Absent" are not additional to "males," "females" and "total," but included in them. "Sunday school" includes total membership of officers, teachers and scholars, January 1, 1935, or when the school is in operation (if not at that date), covering "branch schools," "mission schools" and "home departments," so far as maintained by the reporting church.

The months and days in the dates of the organization of churches are omitted. They will be found in the publications of 1873, those of churches since organized being given in the "Minutes" of each year. Also the months and days in the dates of ordination and installation of ministers are omitted. The former may be found in the lists of the local Associations which follow the tables.

"Ordained" denotes the date on which the person was originally set apart to the ministry by the "laying-on of hands." "Commenced" denotes the date of the beginning of his present pastorate.

In accordance with the recommendation of the National Council, in the Statistical Tables pastors installed are marked "i."; pastors recognized by a council called for that purpose are marked "r."; pastors duly called by their churches, but not installed or recognized by council, are not marked; "y" before a pastor's name indicates that he has a yoked (double or triple) field.

Blanks in any column of figures are never equivalent to "none," but mean "no report"; but blanks in the column of ministers do mean that the church has no pastor or acting pastor, and the blank is left for the convenience of those who note changes.

Under Sunday Schools, "c" denotes cradle roll, "h" home department, "e" both cradle roll and home department, and "b" a mission or branch school.

In the final column, under valuation of church property, an asterisk * indicates that the church has a parsonage (value included), or in a very few cases that house rent for the minister is paid in addition to the stated salary.

The condensed form in which the Year Book tables are published this year offers the reader an opportunity for personal computation, as, for example, to find the number of female members, subtract the number of male members from the total.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF MINISTERS

This list gives the names of pastors, or acting pastors, and of all Congregational ministers who are members of the Associations that guard ministerial standing.

Ministers who are not reported as having ministerial standing in this state, and who have not been installed by council, are designated by a star (*). This does NOT mean that the man has no ministerial standing.

The first column of figures gives the page on which names may be found of all in pastoral service. A blank in the first column signifies that the person is not reported as being in pastoral service in this state.

The second column of figures gives the page on which ministerial standing is recorded.

The post-office addresses as given below often differ from the places named in the tables, and are supposed to be correct in this list.

An alphabetical list of licentiates follows this list.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—IF your name is not correctly printed in the preceding tables, IF one Christian name is not given in full, IF your ordination is not correct or is not in its proper place, IF your post-office is wrong, or IF before you receive the next Year-Book your post-office is changed, or IF your name is omitted from this list, the needed change or correction should be reported at once to the Rev. Alfred V. Bliss, Secretary of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

BY-LAWS OF THE MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY

ARTICLE I

Terminology

Whenever in these by-laws the word "Conference" is used it shall be held to refer to the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society.

ARTICLE II

Denominational Basis

Following Congregational principles, this Conference shall under no circumstances exercise authority over churches or individuals or interfere with the government or discipline of the churches. It shall advise and counsel the churches when requested, but it is recognized that each church has the power of self-determination in all matters.

ARTICLE III

Doctrinal Basis

This Conference declares its steadfast allegiance to the faith which our fathers confessed, which, from age to age, has found its expression in the historic creeds of the Church Universal and of this Communion.

ARTICLE IV

Membership

Voting Members. Each evangelical Congregational church in this Commonwealth or Christian church that is a member of a Congregational-Christian Association of churches in Massachusetts may annually choose two delegates (of whom it is suggested one shall be a layman and the other a laywoman), and these delegates, together with the pastor or pastors of each church (who shall be members ex officio) the officers of the Conference (including the members of the Board of Trustees), the committee members of the Conference and those persons who, prior to May 22, 1923, became life members of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, shall constitute the voting membership of the Conference; it is provided, however, that pastors of churches to qualify for the voting privilege shall be Congregational or Christian ministers having membership in Congregational or Congregational-Christian Associations regularly holding ministerial standing.

Honorary Members. Delegates from corresponding bodies and persons appointed to speak before the Conference, together with all persons heretofore constituted honorary members of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, such persons as may be made honorary members by a vote of the Board of Trustees, and such other persons as the Conference may from time to time vote to admit, shall be honorary members of the Conference, with the privilege of speaking, but without vote.

ARTICLE V

Officers

1. There shall be a Moderator, one or more vice-Moderators, a Recording Secretary, a chairman and a vice-chairman of the Department of Woman's Work (See Art. VIII, sec. 2), all of whom shall be nominated by the nominating committee hereinafter provided for, and elected by ballot at each annual meeting of the Conference for a term of one year and until their respective successors are chosen.

2. The executive officers of the Conference shall be a President, a Secretary, a Treasurer, a Field Secretary, a Secretary of Missionary Education and Promotion, a Secretary of the Department of Woman's Work and a Young People's Secretary. These officers shall constitute the Executive Staff. They shall be nominated by the Board of Trustees meeting in executive session, and elected by ballot at each annual meeting of the Conference for a term of one year and until their respective successors are chosen.

3. "The Conference shall elect by ballot a Board of Trustees consisting of one member from each Association of churches, six members at large who shall be known for their special knowledge of financial affairs of whom one shall be chosen each even numbered year and two,— beginning with the year 1935,— each odd numbered year, the chairman and vice-chairman of the Woman's Department ex-officiis and the Moderator ex-officio." One-third of the representatives of the Associations upon the Board shall be ministers, one-third laymen, and one-third laywomen, as nearly as may be. Nine members shall constitute a quorum. The term of office shall be four years, and no member having served a full term shall be eligible for re-election until after one year. The present Trustees shall remain in office until the expiration of their terms.

The Conference shall from time to time designate the Associations from which Trustees are to be chosen in the successive years and determine whether the Trustee to be chosen from a particular Association in any year shall be a minister, a layman, or a laywoman.

Each Association shall be notified by the Secretary of the Conference on or before September 15 when it is its turn to propose to the nominating committee a candidate for membership upon the Board, and whether such candidate should be a minister, a layman or a laywoman, and the names of such candidates shall be reported to the Secretary before April 1, of each year. The Secretary upon the receipt of these names shall communicate them to the nominating committee on or before April 10. In case any Association fails to propose a candidate the Board of Trustees shall perform this duty. This method of choosing Trustees shall commence at the close of the 1933 Conference.

At its first meeting after each annual meeting of the Conference the Board shall choose one of its members to serve as chairman for the ensuing year. Except as otherwise provided in the charter of the Conference or in these by-laws, the Board shall administer and dispose of the property of the Conference and shall manage all its business and affairs, and all officers and agents of the Conference shall act under its direction. The Board shall cause the accounts of the Treasurer to be audited at least once each year by certified public accountants selected by the Board. Without restricting the generality of the foregoing, the Board shall in particular have the following powers:

(a) To choose a Clerk, to appoint its own meetings and form its own rules of business, to appoint sub-committees and to delegate any of its powers to such committees.

(b) To appoint and, at pleasure, remove all agents of the Conference and to define their duties.

(c) To fill any vacancy in any office of the Conference (including vacancies in the membership of the Board) until the vacancy shall be filled at a succeeding meeting of the Conference.

(d) To remove any officer of the Conference (other than members of the Board) who may be guilty of disregard of his duties or of such conduct as shall be seriously prejudicial to the interests of the Conference.

(e) To direct efforts to promote missionary interest and giving among the Congregational churches of the Commonwealth.

4. The terms of all officers, save when chosen to fill vacancies, shall begin at the close of the meeting at which they are elected.

Duties of Officers

1. The Moderator, or in his absence, one of the vice-Moderators, shall preside over all meetings of the Conference.

2. The President shall be the chief executive officer of the Conference and shall, subject to the direction of the Conference and of its Board of Trustees, have general charge of its missionary and benevolent work and of its other activities. He shall be a member ex officio of all standing committees named in the by-laws with the exception of the nominating committee. He shall be the representative of the Conference and of its Board of Trustees among all the churches (both those financially independent and those aided by the funds of the Conference) and in all denominational and interdenominational gatherings (including meetings of state Superintendents) unless representation is otherwise provided. He may seek to assist pastors and churches with fraternal counsel. He shall keep informed as to opportunities for extension work through founding new churches or strengthening old ones and shall recommend to the Conference and to the Board of Trustees measures for meeting such opportunities.

3. The Secretary shall keep the records of the Conference, except as hereinafter provided, and shall assist in its general work under the direction of the President. He shall devote himself in cooperation with the Field Secretary and under the direction of the President to care and oversight of churches financially aided by the Conference; he shall advise with and assist such other churches and their ministers as may welcome his services; and shall perform such others duties as may be assigned to him by the Board of Trustees or the President. He shall have the custody of the records and of all bonds given by the treasurer as hereinafter provided. He shall furnish copies of the record certified under the seal of the Conference (which shall be in his keeping) to such persons as may be entitled thereto.

The Secretary shall collect and publish in connection with the annual Report of the Conference the statistics of ministers and churches and make up the official roll of the ministers and churches in accordance with the usages of the denomination. He shall present to the Conference at its annual meeting a general statistical statement of the progress of religion in the churches for the past calendar year. He shall give suitable notice to the churches of the time and place of each annual meeting, notify officers and committees of their election or appointment and fulfill such other functions as the Conference or the Board of Trustees may from time to time direct.

4. The Treasurer shall receive and hold the property of the Conference subject to the direction of the Board of Trustees and shall keep particular accounts of the Conference's funds and of the disposal thereof. He shall, under the direction of the President, assist, so far as he may be able, in the general work of the Conference and shall perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Board of Trustees. He shall make a report at each annual meeting of the Conference and shall make such other reports as the Conference or the Board of Trustees may from time to time require. He shall receive all contributions for benevolences sent to him by the churches and by individuals and shall disburse the same in accordance with the instructions of the donors.
